ARIFF REVISION N EXTRA SESSION

sident Hints to Congress- en Not to Believe That and Railroad Question Are Abandoned by Him.

EMBERS AWAIT SPEECH.

oosevelt Not Disappointed Regarding Issues He Brought Up That Demand Long Consideration.

BY RAYMOND.

Washington, D. C., March 1.—[Special.]—Within the last week or two President Roosevelt has openly hinted to a number of congressmen who called at the White house that they must not take it for granted that the matter of tariff revision has been abandoned in any way as an administration policy. On the contrary, he has intimated broadly that tariff revision and railroad rate regulation probably will be included in the call for an extra session to be held not later than [illegible].

This point of view is entirely satisfactory to a great many members of congress, because they have realized all along that no matter what cause may be assigned for calling congress together in special session, the members cannot be restrained from taking action on any policy which appears to have the popular approval. For this reason senators and representatives are now preparing to go home for a long recess with the express idea of consulting their constituents on these two subjects in particular.

Inaugural Address Will Be Guide.

If there should happen to be anything in the president's inaugural address next Saturday of stirring character it would convince them all the more that congress must take up seriously and have well in hand before the end of this year a comprehensive bill revising the Dingley tariff on strict protection lines, and another taking in the whole subject of railroad regulation, including rates, bills of lading, the classification of private car lines and terminal roads, including, in all probability, pipe lines and tank cars for carrying oil.

With the adjournment of the Fifty-eighth congress only a matter of a few hours, president Roosevelt is by no means disappointed with regard to the main issues he himself has brought before the country. He realized from the outset as a matter of course that he had not asked congress to do trivial things, but he had suggested widespread reforms which necessarily could be enacted into law only after a careful consideration and long delay.

The house of representatives passed the railroad bill nearly a year ago, and it has not been enacted into a law yet, and the probability is it will not be at this session of congress. Other legislation, not involving any great general principle, has hung fire in congress for months and years, and the country is perhaps not so badly off on account of the delay.

Railroad Action Was Not Expected.

From the day the president sent in his message at the opening of congress in December until now, with adjournment in sight, no one has expected any action on the railroad question. The president knew then that both houses of congress were hostile to his point of view.

Backed up by strong public sentiment he won over the house of representatives and has a decent ambition to do the same thing in the case of the senate, peaceably and in order. He must look upon the progress made in the direction of railroad legislation as a distinct personal triumph. The subject was scarcely discussed in congress when the message came in, and but few representatives or senators betrayed any great interest in it or acquaintance with the details of railroad management.

Since then the country has become aroused and the rate bill has passed the house and the senate committee has been prodded out of its usual lethargy to a point where the railroad interests themselves have introduced a resolution providing for an investigation during the summer and a report at the next meeting of congress, whether special or regular.

It is believed by those who have talked with the president that he hopes to set on foot a similar powerful public sentiment in the direction of the revision of the tariff. The opposition of highly protected industries in the Atlantic seaboard is nowhere near as strong as the railroad opposition to the rate bill.

Tariff revision was more or less discussed during the last campaign, and it is generally admitted that while the people have not actually demanded action, they had expected it, believing the republicans in their own way and at the best time would surely remove the inequalities of the tariff without disturbing in any way the general principles on which it was constructed.

Twofold Tariff Opposition.

The opposition to tariff revision in congress has been twofold among the republicans. That is to say, there is a comparatively small contingent of representatives and senators who come from districts which benefit from an abnormally high protective tariff. These include practically all of the Pennsylvania men, some from New York, about half of those from New England, and others from Ohio and the far west, where wool and other heavily protected industries are especially influential.

As a matter of course, representing personal interests of influential constituents, they will oppose the tariff revision, root and branch, on the theory that any attempt to amend the tariff surely will result in disturbing particularly the advantageous rates which have been so profitable to certain interests in their own community.

Oppose Revision for Policy.

There is another class of republicans who oppose revision, not so much as a matter of principle but exclusively on the score of policy. They admit, freely there are inequalities in the tariff, that certain items probably are unfair, that some rates should be raised and others lowered. They take the ground, however, that a disturbance to business would be more disastrous than the benefits that would be gained by removing some of the inconsistencies of the tariff as it stands.

In this class probably would be found men like Speaker Cannon. They are not radical protectionists, and they are not tied up with any particular interests. They do shrink from tariff revision of any kind for fear it would be made a political issue and per-

RUSSIANS FIGHT LOSING BATTLE.

Kouropatkin's Center Army Seems to Be Crumbling Under Shock of Oyama's Fierce Attacks.

BULLETIN.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, March 2, 3 a. m.—The Times' Russian correspondent telegraphs that he hears a war council will be held at St. Petersburg March 5 to decide whether Gen. Kouropatkin shall be recalled. He adds that Grand Duke Nicholas and Gen. Dragomiroff, the hero of the Russo-Turkish war, are mentioned as possible successors.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, March 2, 1:30 a. m.—The entire center of Gen. Kouropatkin's army seems to be in imminent danger of collapse.

The Russians have been defeated at the railroad bridge across the Shakhe river after an all night battle, in which the losses on both both sides were enormous.

The Japanese opened fire on Putiloff (Lone Tree hill) with siege howitzers yesterday afternoon. The hill, which is the key to Gen. Kouropatkin's center position, soon presented the appearance of an erupting volcano, being nearly hidden by clouds of dust and smoke. The artillery is busy along the whole front, a distance of eight miles. It is rumored that a division on the extreme Japanese right is marching northward.

Although it is not admitted at the war office, the general impression in military circles is that Gen. Kouropatkin may be forced to withdraw. Not only is Gen. Kuroki threatening his communications, but the redoubts at Putiloff and Novgorod hills, and even the hills themselves, keys to the position of the Russian center, appear to be crumbling away under the impact of terrible eleven inch shells, such as leveled the fortifications of Port Arthur and rendered the fortress untenable. No troops will be able to retain the position long if the bombardment continues.

RUSSIANS LOSE THE BRIDGE.

RUSSIAN ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Huan Mountain, March 1.—After an all night battle the Russian forces, which seized the railroad bridge across the Shakhe river, retired, after having destroyed the Japanese fortifications at the further end of the bridge and thrown the Japanese forces there into consternation. The Japanese losses were heavy.

The attack on the bridge began at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening. Under cover of a heavy bombardment by field, siege, and mortar batteries, Russian chasseurs dashed forward and crossed the bridge, which was illuminated by Japanese searchlights, drove back the defenders, and occupied the further end of the bridge. There the chasseurs threw up many entrenchments, and soon drove the Japanese from their defenses at the head of the bridge.

An hour later other chasseurs rushed across the bridge and seized and fortified a thicket opposite Lamuting, overcoming a number of wolf holes and wire entanglements, and blew up the Japanese redoubts.

The artillery meanwhile kept up the bombardment, and succeeded by midnight in demolishing the Japanese searchlight.

Battle in the Darkness.

Then a stubborn fight in the darkness began, the gloom being but slightly dispelled by the pale light of the stars and the reflection from fires kindled by the explosion of shells. The Japanese brought up their quick fire guns and forced the Russians to abandon the thicket, from which position the Japanese proceeded to bombard the regiments holding the head of the bridge.

The fight was desperate and at close quarters. The Japanese rushed up heavy columns of reinforcements and charged repeatedly across the river, strewing the ice with the bodies of their dead. At dawn the Russians retired across the river, carrying their wounded, but leaving 100 dead behind.

The Russians are exultant over the losses inflicted upon the Japanese in this rally, and are eager to renew the fight.

RETREAT THIRTEEN MILES.

OUBENEPUSA, Feb. 28, via Mukden, March 1.—One of the coldest and most cheerless operations of the winter's warfare in Manchuria was the thirteen mile retreat of the Tsinkhetchen division the night of Feb. 26 from Da pass to Oubenepusa. All day Gen. Renenkampff's soldiers, wearied by a week of continual fighting and disheartened by the abandonment of Tsinkhetchen, had flung off attack after attack by overwhelming numbers of Japanese in order to cover the withdrawal of supplies which had been accumulated in large warehouses at Solun.

This village is eight miles in the rear, and at the head of a horse car line, which was constructed from the base at Mukden in order to provision the advanced positions on the left flank. It is five miles north of the village of Oubenepusa, where the road from Gao pass to the eastward joins the main Tsinkhetchen-Fuchun highway.

Unable to Hold Out.

At 6 o'clock on the evening of Feb. 26 the commander of the battalion on the Gao pass road sent word that he was unable longer to hold out against the Japanese advancing in that direction, but the commander of the division was determined to hold on until the last wagon should have left Solun. Word was received at 9 o'clock that the withdrawal had been safely effected, and then the dreary retreat began. The wind was high, the cold bitter, and snow was falling heavily.

Weary and supperless, the soldiers scarcely could see their file leaders. Every minute the rattle of musketry on the Gao pass road became louder and the bursting of shrapnel occasionally illuminated the heights to the eastward. It became evident to every man of the command plodding through the deepening snow that the danger of being cut off was imminent. Only the coolness and courage of the commander averted disaster.

Retreat Is Well Timed.

The retreat was so timed that the rear guard reached Oubenepusa just in time. The force retreating on the easterly road had been driven in on the village, and the forces, uniting, fixed bayonets, turned about, and

NEW QUADRANGLE AT U. OF C.

Great Plan for Dormitories and Recitation Buildings.

EXPENSE 5 TO 10 MILLIONS.

It Is Announced That English Living System Will Be Followed.

A movement which will include the erection of a dozen buildings, and the expenditure of between $5,000,000 and $10,000,000 before it is completed, was announced yesterday at the University of Chicago.

A new quadrangle of buildings, which will cover almost as much space as does the entire institution at present and which will be for the use of the students of the junior colleges, is to be built on ground space owned by the university and lying between Ellis and Drexel avenues and Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth streets—west of the present campus.

The plan, which was announced by Dean George E. Vincent at the junior chapel yesterday morning, is the most extensive ever considered by the university. When it is completed the university will have the largest capacity for housing students of any university in the world.

Purposes of the Plan.

There are two objects in beginning plans thus early. The rapid growth in the enrollment of the institution has served as a warning of the future. At present not one-third of the students can be accommodated with rooms on the campus. All the dormitories are filled every quarter, and a majority of the students live in boarding houses or in fraternity houses. Additional dormitories are regarded as a prime necessity.

The other idea suggests, in a measure, the Anglicising of the university—not as to scholarship, but as to the manner of living at Cambridge and Oxford. The dormitories are to be divided into sections, the students of one department of the college living together in one section. The professors and their assistants who have not residences of their own are to be installed in the buildings devoted to the students in their departments, and are to act as heads of those several buildings. In addition to the dormitories there will be recitation buildings.

Plan Made by Dr. Harper.

The plan, like nearly all the others that have developed since the founding of the university, owes its inception to President Harper. It is the second step, branching out from the nucleus formed by the present university, toward what the president intends shall be the first institution of learning in the world. The first step was that begun in the school of education, which lies in the square bounded by Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth streets and Monroe and Kimbark avenues. The buildings in this block have been erected during the last two years, and that scheme is now more than half completed.

The complete plans for the university which President Harper has formed never have been made public. That other buildings will have to follow to complete his plans is certain. The university now owns the greater part of the land lying between Fifty-seventh and Fifty-ninth streets and Cottage Grove avenue and the Illinois Central tracks.

"The amount of money necessary to carry out the plans," said one of the faculty members, "has not been estimated closely. Of course, it will be enormous, but we hope in time it will be forthcoming."

OUT OF WORK; DRINKS ACID.

Alexander Peake, Losing Employment Through Slack's Failure, Attempts Suicide.

A former employé of Charles H. Slack, the Randolph street grocer who recently went into bankruptcy, tried to kill himself last night. He was Alexander Peake, who since Slack's was closed has been unable to find work.

Peake entered the Auditorium pharmacy, bought a bottle of carbolic acid, and then ordered an ice cream soda. While the clerk was not looking he poured the acid into the soda and swallowed some of it. The clerk, seeing he was in pain, dashed the glass from his hand.

Peake will recover.

Practically All Females of Spanish Village Likely to Be Sentenced for Sedition.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

MADRID, March 1.—One hundred and fifty-nine women, residing at Villacancas, have been arraigned for sedition and robbery. The public prosecutor demands that each be sentenced to ten years' imprisonment. If the prisoners are convicted, the village virtually will be without women, as the accused comprise almost all the females living there.

MARSHALL FIELD IS HURT.

Merchant Falls on Ice and Fractures an Ankle Bone.

CANNOT WALK FOR A MONTH.

Will Go South and Remain Until He Has Recovered.

Marshall Field is confined at his residence, 1905 Prairie avenue, with a broken leg. The injury consists of a fracture of one of the small bones of the ankle. It was received in a fall on an icy walk.

So well was the news of his misfortune shielded from the public that not many of Mr. Field's near neighbors were able to explain until yesterday why he had not left his residence this week or why Dr. Frank Billings had called so frequently at the house.

After his dinner Mr. Field left his residence on Sunday to walk to the house of his brother-in-law, Henry Dibblee, 1922 Calumet avenue. He had not gone a block when he slipped on a coating of thin ice and fell heavily to the walk. The only injury he sustained was a fracture of one of the small bones of the ankle.

Physician Makes Examination.

Suffering great pain, Mr. Field had difficulty in retracing his steps to his residence. On reaching there a surgeon was summoned and the broken bone was set. Next day Mr. Field's ankle was examined by means of the X-ray and it was found no damage beyond the one fracture had been done. His leg was put in a plaster cast, however, and Mr. Field will be deprived of its use for a month.

Will Go South Soon.

Early next week he will leave in a private car for the south, where he will remain until he has recovered.

"Mr. Field is getting along nicely," was the report made in response to an inquiry at his residence. "The fracture is not at all serious—merely a small bone of the ankle. Yes, Mr. Field expects to leave for the south next week—Monday or Tuesday, perhaps."

Marshall Field Jr. also gave assurances that his father's injury was only slight. Today Mr. Field Jr. will leave with his son, Marshall III., for Lakewood, N. J., where the latter, it is hoped, will recuperate rapidly from his serious illness. Mrs. Field will remain to care for her two other children, both of whom are ill with the measles.

IS MRS. STANFORD VICTIM OF PLOT?

Dies in Honolulu, Asserting She Has Been Poisoned, and Physician Says by Strychnine.

FOUND IN CONVULSIONS.

Attempt on Life Is Declared to Have Been Made in California Earlier in This Year.

HONOLULU, March 1.—Mrs. Jane Lathrop Stanford has been the victim of a diabolical poison plot which compassed her death finally late last night, or a delusion that she was beset by such a plot was so strong that it possessed all the hideous features of reality.

She came here from California on her way to the orient like a fugitive from those mysterious foes. She lived here apparently in terror lest their efforts to kill her succeed and she died with that one thought in her final words of accusation:

"I have been poisoned. This is the second time they have tried it."

Physician Says Strychnine.

The circumstances of her death have convinced the attending physician, Dr. Humphris, that she died of the immediate effects of an overdose of strychnine combined in bicarbonate of soda, which she took shortly before the convulsions that ended her life. This belief is yet to be definitely determined by chemical analysis, which will not be completed before tomorrow morning. It is warranted, however, by all the symptoms that attended her case.

Mrs. Stanford was well during the day and in the afternoon took a drive over the Pali road accompanied by her secretary and her maid. When she returned to the Moana hotel she seemed cheerful, and went immediately to the dining room.

She ate only soup at luncheon, and spent the evening on the verandas of the hotel being in good spirits.

Guest Aroused; Calls Doctor.

The philanthropist retired early, and was taken ill at 11 o'clock. The first person to see her after she became ill was a Mr. Hewish, a guest at the hotel.

"I retired shortly before 11 o'clock, and soon fell asleep," he said. "My room is next to that occupied by Mrs. Stanford. I had not been asleep long when I was awakened by hearing a groan, and then another. I opened the door of my room and saw Mrs. Stanford standing in the doorway of her room. She threw up her arms as if suffering great pain, and said:

"'O, I am so ill. Get me a doctor; get me a doctor.'

"I ran to the elevator and summoned Dr. Humphris, who was a guest of the hotel. Mrs. Stanford at that time did not seem to be extremely weak."

"Poisoned," She Tells Physician.

Dr. Humphris made the following statement:

"When I was called in I found Mrs. Stanford in convulsions and applied the quickest remedies, but it was not possible to save her life. Mrs. Stanford said to me:

"'Doctor, I have been poisoned.'

"Mrs. Stanford's condition seemed to indicate strychnine poisoning. Between convulsions her mind was unusually active, and she said:

"'This is the second time they have tried it. They tried it last January, and I came here to avoid them.'

"She died in a few minutes. Her last words were:

"'This is a horrible death to die.'

Sure Strychnine Was Used.

"I tasted the contents of a bottle I found in the room," continued Dr. Humphris. "Before making an analysis, I am unable to swear that it contained strychnine, but I am perfectly positive that it does contain strychnine."

Soon after Mrs. Stanford became ill, her secretary, Miss Berner, and her maid, May Wilson, entered the room. Miss Berner said:

"Mrs. Stanford and I went to a picnic yesterday, and were planning to go today to Haleiwa, a suburban resort. Our luncheon yesterday consisted of the ordinary cold dishes prepared at the Hoana hotel, and there was nothing in it of the canned variety. Mrs. Stanford ate heartily. She expressed great enjoyment in her trip and said she felt well.

"We returned to the hotel at 4 o'clock, and Mrs. Stanford retired to her room for a rest. Later she dressed for dinner. When the soup was served she said that would be sufficient, as she was not hungry.

"We then went back to the veranda where Mrs. Stanford planned the trip to Haleiwa for today. She then said she would retire early so as to be refreshed for the trip. At 8:30 Mrs. Stanford sent for her maid, Miss Wilson, whom she had recently employed.

Given Bicarbonate of Soda.

"She then said to me:

"'I shall retire and take my medicine; please get it for me.'

"I got a teaspoonful of bicarbonate of soda, one purgative tablet, and a bottle of mineral water. Mrs. Stanford forgot to take the medicine and lay down and slept. As soon as she awoke she took the medicine and again retired.

"Mrs. Stanford soon afterward was seized with convulsions which threw her out of bed. The maid and myself came in answer to her call, as did also a guest from a near by room. She said:

"'I am poisoned.'

"The convulsions continued in spite of the efforts of the physician.

Drug from San Francisco?

"The bottle of bicarbonate of soda was purchased by me at Adelaide a few years ago, but I think it had been refilled for Mrs. Stanford at San Francisco. I don't know by what druggist."

The bottle containing the bicarbonate of soda bears the label of Charles Fells & Co., 60 King William street, Adelaide, Australia.

Mrs. Henry Highton of San Francisco, a guest at the hotel, declared Mrs. Stanford shortly after her arrival here on Feb. 21, said:

"The reason I left San Francisco was because an attempt had been made on my life—an attempt to poison me—and enough poison was used to kill twenty persons."

"Mrs. Stanford seemed to be greatly affected," said Mrs. Highton. "I soon set to disabuse her mind of the idea, as I felt it might be only a delusion, but Mrs. St-talked so rationally about the attempt on her life that I do not now hold the belief that it was a mere fancy of hers.

"I was uneasy after this talk with Mrs. Stanford, and wrote to mutual friends in San Francisco regarding the matter. They told me they feared such attempts had been made, no names, however, being mentioned."

Coroner's Jury Is Impaneled.

In accordance with the local law a coroner's jury was summoned immediately after the death and viewed the body in the hotel at 8:30 o'clock this morning. The members of this jury were W. C. Peacock, proprietor, and J. R. Hertsche, manager of the hotel; T. A. Hays, H. Jeffrey, and J. W. Harvey, guests; and E. S. Cunha, who lives near the hotel.

Dr. Humphris appointed former Judge Stanley, who is a guest at the hotel, to look after the interests of Mrs. Stanford's estate temporarily, and then cabled to Prof. David Starr Jordan, president of the Leland Stanford Jr. university, asking for instructions. President Jordan replied approving the action of Dr. Humphris and requesting Judge Stanley to act.

Examine Contents of Stomach.

The body later was taken to an undertaking establishment, where an autopsy was performed this afternoon. The physician who conducted the autopsy says the cause of death was tetanus of the respiratory organs, but that he cannot state how the tetanus was brought about until after an examination of the contents of the stomach.

No inquest will be held until High Sheriff Henry receives the report of the chemists. This report will probably be received tomorrow. The police are making an investigation.

It is reported tonight that R. A. Duncan, the territorial food commissioner and chemical analyst, has found strychnine in the bottle of bicarbonate of soda. No report of such finding has yet been made, and other chemists have been called in for consultation.

The house of representatives of the territorial legislature adopted a resolution of sympathy and adjourned in honor of the memory of Mrs. Stanford.

Previous Attempt on Jan. 14.

San Francisco, Cal., March 1.—[Special.]—The news of the death of Mrs. Stanford in Honolulu, said to have been caused by strychnine in bicarbonate of soda, amazed San Francisco and has drawn fresh attention to the report of the attempted poisoning by the same deadly drug at Mrs. Stanford's residence on Nob hill on Jan. 14.

All the relatives of Mrs. Stanford here at the time discredited the story of the attempted poisoning and ascribed her illness to the bad condition of mineral water which she drank, but Mrs. Stanford herself was positive some one had tried to kill her.

Strychnine in Mineral Water.

The best story of this mystery is told by Elisabeth Richmond, Mrs. Stanford's maid, who was discharged after the chemists' analysis showed strychnine was in the bottle of mineral water. She told the following story of the case, which is the only detailed account that ever has been given:

"I am an English woman in Mrs. Stanford's service. I occupied the position of maid. I was employed by Mrs. Stanford a year ago last May, a little while before Dr. Lieber Newton left Stanford university. I traveled with the rest of the Stanford party, and on our return from abroad we went directly to the Stanford residence in California street after coming from the east.

"On Saturday, Jan. 14, at 9 o'clock in the evening Mrs. Stanford called me hastily into her bedroom and said:

"'Richmond, there seems to be something wrong with this water. Will you taste it and see what is the matter with it?'

Water Has Bitter Taste.

"I tasted it and found it extremely bitter. It seemed to have a strong taste of quinine or bitter almonds. Mrs. Stanford already had vomited what she had taken before calling me. She seemed greatly agitated, and asked me what she would better do.

"I suggested an emetic of warm water and salt and at once gave her four or five glasses of it. All of this she threw off as soon as she had taken it, and then she asked me if I thought she had got it all out of her stomach. She still complained of a bitter taste in her mouth.

"She suggested I tell Miss Berner what had happened. I went to Miss Berner's room and found her in bed. I told her how bitter the water was and all the circumstances. Miss Berner came downstairs. She put her finger into the water, tasted it, and then cried:

"'Why, yes, it is bitter; it tastes likes salts.'

Poison Put in During Day.

"She thought perhaps the bottle was in the same condition that it was when it was taken from the case, but I remembered seeing the same sort of bottle on the drinking stand between 10 and 11 o'clock that morning. A glass of the contents had been drawn from it. It occurred to me that she might have drank something from that bottle, but she declared the water she tasted in the morning had been all right.

"After talking it over Mrs. Stanford suggested it would be well to ask a chemist what the water contained. They told me at a drug store an analysis would take from twelve hours to a week. I went back to the house to inquire about it, and telephoned Sunday morning to the store to have the water analyzed and a report sent at once. On Tuesday I telephoned again to ask about the matter, but the report was not ready. That same day the chemists said they had the report, and I directed that it be sent at once to my mistress. They did not send it until Thursday morning.

Mrs. Stanford Learns of Poison.

"I handed the mail to Miss Berner, and, noticing a letter from the druggist, Mrs. Stanford asked Miss Berner to read it. Miss Berner read the report, which stated the water had contained strychnine. Mrs. Stanford threw up her hands and exclaimed:

"'O, God, I did not think any one wished to hurt me. What would it benefit any one?'

"Then she grew calmer, but seemed much troubled. She declared we were to say nothing about it to any one. Then I left the room, for I thought Mrs. Stanford, Miss Berner, and Mrs. Lathrop, who was there at the time, might want to talk it over. After a little I went back and suggested to Mrs. Stanford that she ought to have the affair investigated. Mrs. Stanford replied:

"'Yes; we intend to investigate it. I am going to have detectives engaged right away.'

Maid Is Under Suspicion.

"I said I was glad and left the room. Mr. Lathrop was in the house at the time and he was informed. As Mrs. Stanford had not been well for a week, presumably suffering from a cold, Mr. Lathrop already had telephoned for Dr. Hoericke. He came and saw Mrs. Stanford, though I do not know what was said at the time. The doctor came both Saturday morning and Saturday evening.

"During the week I had told Mrs. Stanford I wanted to leave on account of my health, but if I had known of the poison I certainly would have said nothing. None of us suspected that.

"The first feeling I had of suspicion was when Mrs. Stanford had the house maid sleep in my room instead of myself. I was put out by having others doing my duty toward Mrs. Stanford. Then Mrs. Stanford went to San José and expected to return on the 27th.

"On the 26th Mr. Lathrop, Mrs. Stanford's brother, paid me my wages and said I could go to my home in Palo Alto, as Mrs. Stanford had engaged another maid. After reaching Palo Alto I was questioned several times by detectives and told all I knew. I was watched by detectives. I think the poisoned water undoubtedly was part of an attempt to murder Mrs. Stanford."

Detectives Believe in Plot.

An official of the Morse detective agency, who investigated the first attempt by poison on the life of Mrs. Stanford, stated there was some foundation for the belief that an attempt had been made to poison her before her departure for Honolulu. Beyond that statement, however, he would give no particulars.

Leland Stanford Jr. university was closed today. The body of Mrs. Stanford will be returned from Honolulu on the first steamer. Until its arrival it is probable the university will remain closed. The funeral will take place from the Stanford Memorial church and the burial will be in the Stanford mausoleum on the campus.

Philanthropist Who Died in Honolulu After Declaring She Had Been Poisoned

tions of the Southern Pacific in respect to the memory of Mrs. Stanford.

GIFTS MORE THAN $33,000,000.

"Make Other People Happy" Motto of Woman Who Sacrificed All to a University.

Mrs. Leland Stanford was left an estate estimated at from $30,000,000 to $40,000,000. Under her husband's will she was in sole management of the great property.

With her husband she spent more than $37,000,000 in building and supporting the Leland Stanford Jr. university at Palo Alto, Cal., as a memorial to her son. Her life was insured for more than $1,000,000 for the benefit of the university.

This was her belief:

"The greatest blessing that millions can bring is the power to make other people happy."

Mrs. Stanford's maiden name was Jane Lathrop. She was born in Albany, N. Y., eighty years ago. While she was yet a girl she met Leland Stanford, who then was a struggling young lawyer at Port Washington, Wis., and after their marriage she went there with him to live.

Their residence in Wisconsin was of brief duration. All they possessed was destroyed by fire, and when the young lawyer looked about him on the ruins he determined to go to the Pacific coast and start a new life. The wife did not join him for three years. When she arrived at Sacramento she found her husband awaiting her in the simple wooden house he had prepared for her.

In spite of disappointments and reverses Mr. Stanford rose rapidly, and by 1861 he was not only rich but he had won political distinction as well, for he was governor of the state.

Son Dies; Parents' Hearts Broken.

It was not until after they had been married eighteen years that a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Stanford. This was the Leland Jr. for whom the great university was named. To educate this son and to make of him a noble citizen father and mother gave themselves up without reserve. He promised to become a great scholar. As a lad he was intensely interested in mathematics and in the science of archæology, and to help him along the family went abroad.

At Florence, in Italy, young Leland was stricken with fever and after a brief illness he died at the age of 17, in 1885. Almost immediately the parents began plans for the memorial university.

"It will cost $10,000,000," said President Dwight of Yale when they consulted him.

"We had expected to spend $25,000,000," they replied, and the building began at their country place, Palo Alto. During the years which preceded Senator Stanford's death they lavished $20,000,000 on their son's memorial, and a great joy came to the old man in his latest days when he sat in a carriage and saw the opening of the school. It was the happiest achievement in all his stirring, successful career.

But when the will was opened a new and heavy burden fell upon the devoted widow and mother. She was named sole executrix, with instructions to pay $2,500,000 more to the university, but the panic of 1893 had set in. Banks were breaking, stocks were tumbling, loans were impossible.

The Stanford fortunes were in jeopardy. The university itself trembled on the verge of ruin, and to make matters worse the government of the United States began suit for $15,000,000 against the estate, declaring it was liable for the government bonds which the Pacific Railroad company had failed to pay.

Mrs. Stanford, throwing herself into the whirl of affairs, became familiar with every detail. The professors at the university were without their salaries. Even the servants were unpaid. The closing of that vast institution was imminent, but Mrs. Stanford strained every nerve to avert the catastrophe.

Sacrifices All Her Wealth.

Her town house with its enormous expense was closed. Horses and carriages were sold. Houses and land were mortgaged or placed upon the market. The immense wheat farms at Gridley were reduced to a paying basis. She opened the wineries at Vina, and sent thousands of gallons of wine and brandy to foreign lands. Palo Alto was robbed of its choicest racing stock.

Her jewels, a noted and priceless collection, were sent to the markets of Europe, and at last a day came when Mrs. Stanford sat in her drawing room without a cent in the world, and with only two wageless servants to wait upon her.

Every effort was made to hurry a decision. The case was fought from court to court. The months rolled into the years, and at last victory was obtained. On March 9, 1896, the courts decided in favor of Mrs. Stanford, and May 8 she handed $2,500,000 over to the university trustees.

Meanwhile Mrs. Stanford had become a financier and the times were mending. In one year she studied, schemed, and manipulated so that she made $1,000,000 clear profit upon her stocks. Her whole soul was bound up in the university. All other considerations seemed trivial.

On Dec. 2, 1898, she obtained the court's permission to distribute the estate. To her previous gifts of $20,000,000 she added $11,000,000. Afterward she deeded over her San Francisco mansion to be an academy of history, economics, and social science. She also gave $100,000 for an orphan asylum in Albany, a memorial to her father and mother.

Every rug, chair, vase, table, and picture in her estate now belongs to the university. She had an allowance of $12,000 a year, but owned nothing.

MORE PRAYERS FOR MAYOR

SIXTY PHILADELPHIA PREACHERS TO KEEP AFTER WEAVER.

Monster Meeting of Men, Women, and Children Is Planned for City Hall Square, Where, on Their Knees, They Will Supplicate That Mayor Throw Off Yoke of Machine—Committee Seeks Evidence to Impeach City's Head, Who Is Defiant.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 1.—[Special.]—Sixty ministers, at a meeting tonight, decided to keep after Mayor Weaver unceasingly until they obtained positive evidence of his moral regeneration.

They determined to gather every man of their calling throughout the city, and with all men, women, and children who would join them, to march to the city hall, spread out upon the immense square in front, and sing hymns and pray upon their knees in the streets. In one voice they will call upon the mayor to throw off the yoke of the machine and purify the city of vice.

The date for this unique gathering has not yet been announced. The preparations will be as secret as possible, because it is feared the mayor might seek to prevent the demonstration. It will be some time after next Sunday. On that day hundreds of ministers will pray in their own churches for the mayor and the city.

Ministers "Slip the Bit."

The city party and the reformers who were behind the first action of the ministers are now doing all they can to prevent any further demonstrations, but the ministers have slipped the bit and are going ahead on their own account.

The Rev. Dr. Joseph F. Allen, who has been one of the prime movers in the agitation, explained today what the ministers hope to do. He said circulars would be sent to every home in the city, and that all would be asked to join in the march against the city hall.

"It will not be a score of people praying in a church," he said. "It will not be a meeting where ministers silently bow their heads and murmur silently their supplications to give the mayor grit enough to shake off the shackles that bind him to sin and vice. It will be a multitude crying for justice and honesty. If prayers for aid will do no good, then the mayor shall know what it is to hear prayers of censure go up from hundreds of throats.

May Impeach the Mayor.

"Sinful John, they have called him, and the concourse of people shall show they want no man of this kind for the highest office in their gift."

Meanwhile the committee of eight, chosen to investigate the conditions in the tenderloin of the city and, if necessary, impeach the mayor, is proceeding with its work. Counsel has been engaged and all the evidence is being gathered into proper shape. The courts will be appealed to for impeachment and then the council may be asked to appoint a jury to try the mayor.

The mayor, however, has assumed a grimly defiant attitude. He rides to the city hall each morning behind a spanking pair of big sorrel horses, a gift at Christmas from one of the politicians who are pushing him on. Ministers are aware of the identity of the giver, a contractor boss, and it has acted like a red flag in the face of a bull.

WARNER MAY BE SENATOR; CAUCUS MEETS IN MISSOURI.

Republicans Get Together in an Effort to End the Deadlock—Fourteen Ballots Are Taken.

Jefferson City, Mo., March 1.—A caucus of republican members was held tonight in an effort to settle the senatorial deadlock. On the fourteenth and last ballot to select a candidate the vote stood:

William Warner of Kansas City	39
Dyer	8
Pettijohn	1

At the start Hadley, Bothwell, and McKinley also were candidates, but they dropped out. Forty-seven votes were required for a nomination, but the Kerens men and some of the Niedringhaus leaders did not vote.

Mr. Niedringhaus tonight issued a statement, saying:

"If the republican members of the legislature now voting for any person other than R. C. Kerens for United States senator will unite upon some feasible plan, whereby a senator can be elected, you will have no trouble with me."

Considerable doubt is expressed as to whether the deadlock can be broken along lines already suggested. This, it is said, is the last effort that will be made to end the deadlock.

Beats Wife to Death with Chair.

Hull, Ia., March 1.—William Vanderwilt, a wealthy farmer living near Sioux Center, this afternoon beat his wife to death with a chair. Brooding over her ill health caused him to become insane. He escaped on a horse, but was captured by neighbors. The woman left five children.

WOLCOTT IS DEAD IN MONTE CARLO.

Former Colorado Senator's End Is Due to Rheumatism of the Heart of Long Standing.

ILLNESS KEPT A SECRET.

Secretary in Denver Withholds News on Account of Political Crisis.

Denver, Colo., March 1.—The news of the death of Former United States Senator Edward O. Wolcott at Monte Carlo was received here tonight at the Brown Palace hotel.

Private Secretary Chisholm received a cablegram this morning that former Senator Wolcott was low, but on account of critical political conditions Chisholm considered it inadvisable to make the news public. The cablegram this evening announces that Senator Wolcott died of rheumatism of the heart, which had kept him out of Colorado.

By the death of Former Senator E. O. Wolcott the governorship contest which is to be decided tomorrow by the legislature may be changed. The republicans who have been opposed to seating Peabody are headed by Frank Frewen, a Wolcott lieutenant, and when Frewen heard of the death of his leader tonight he was overcome and said:

"It's all off now."

May Not Affect Fight.

He could not be induced to say whether this referred to the governorship contest, but it is generally believed it does not, as the Wolcott men have many grievances, besides being loyal to the memory of their chief.

Wolcott's last command was never to yield to Peabody, and it is believed his following will obey, even after his death, although the hope of reward will be held out to induce them to yield.

Edward Oliver Wolcott was born in Longmeadow, Mass., March 26, 1848. He served for a few months as private in the One Hundred and Fiftieth regiment of Ohio volunteers in 1864. He entered Yale college in 1866, but was not graduated. He was graduated from Harvard Law school in 1871 and removed to Colorado. He was elected to the United States senate as a republican to succeed Thomas M. Bowen, republican, and took his seat March 4, 1889. He was reelected in 1895. His term of service expired March 3, 1901.

After his arrival in Black Hawk, Colo., in 1871 he took up the practice of law. While awaiting his clients he took up newspaper work and edited the Miner.

Shows Ability Early.

His ability soon began to be recognized, and on the admission of Colorado into the union he was elected prosecuting attorney for five counties. A mountain of accumulated business lay before him, but he set to work to clear the docket, after which he resigned the office.

Desiring a wider field for his energies he moved to Denver, and soon after was appointed attorney for the Denver and Rio Grande railroad.

In 1880 his name was before the state convention for congressman, but he was not nominated.

Gains by His Tact.

His tact, shrewdness, and ability enabled him to gain many advantages for his constituents, so much so that his colleagues came to know that with Senator Wolcott there was only one "paramount issue," and that was the advancement of Colorado. The republican party has often recognized his ability, a fact that was evidenced by his appointment on many important committees.

In August, 1902, Senator Wolcott quit Colorado forever. He closed out all his interests, declaring he would remain most of the time thereafter on the water, and this he has done.

Secret of Withdrawal.

The secret of Wolcott's withdrawal is the rise of a democratic power, which made anti-corporation laws the chief planks in the platform. When Henry R. Wolcott was nominated for governor on a straight platform and was defeated, he felt there was no gratitude in the hearts of the masses. Following this came the affront to the senator, whose reelection was made impossible by a democratic-populist combine, which would not admit the consideration of a capitalist for any office.

The former senator had millions tied up in hundreds of corporations and he was responsible for most of the enterprises of Denver. His wealth was estimated at many millions.

BOTH SIDES CLAIM VICTORY IN COLORADO GOVERNOR FIGHT

Fourteen Republicans Sign Report Favoring Peabody and Nine Democrats Report for Adams.

Denver, Colo., March 1.—[Special.]—Adams and Peabody both assert they will be seated by the legislature tomorrow when the report of the contest committee will be received.

Democrats are freely charging tonight that $5,000 is being offered for the necessary votes in the legislature to seat Peabody.

Tonight the committee is divided, as follows:

Fourteen for seating Peabody, nine for seating Adams, and one for declaring Lieut.-Gov. McDonald governor.

Republicans took a poll of the legislature today, and say it proved Peabody will be seated. Democrats also took a poll and assert Adams will remain governor.

After a long executive session of the gubernatorial contest committee this afternoon a report was signed, the majority favoring James H. Peabody.

The democrats also signed a report in favor of continuing Gov. Alva Adams in the office.

Five republican members, including Chairman William H. Griffith, refused to sign either report.

Senator Alexander, one of the republicans who refused to sign the Peabody report, made a hard fight during the afternoon for the rejection of the claims of both, and for the seating of Lieut. Gov. Jesse McDonald. He found no supporters for this plan in the committee, but he may bring it up before the joint assembly as a compromise measure.

His argument was that there is no doubt of the election of Mr. McDonald, while there is doubt as to whether Adams or Peabody was elected lawfully.

Tomorrow the house and senate will meet in joint session and receive the reports of the committee.

ELOPING PREACHER IS CAUGHT.

Third Escapade of the Rev. J. F. Cordova with Choir Member Halted in Washington, D. C.

Washington, D. C., March 1.—[Special.]—The third elopement of the Rev. J. F. Cordova with his former choir member, Miss Julia Browne, received a rude termination tonight in the arrest of Cordova by the Washington police.

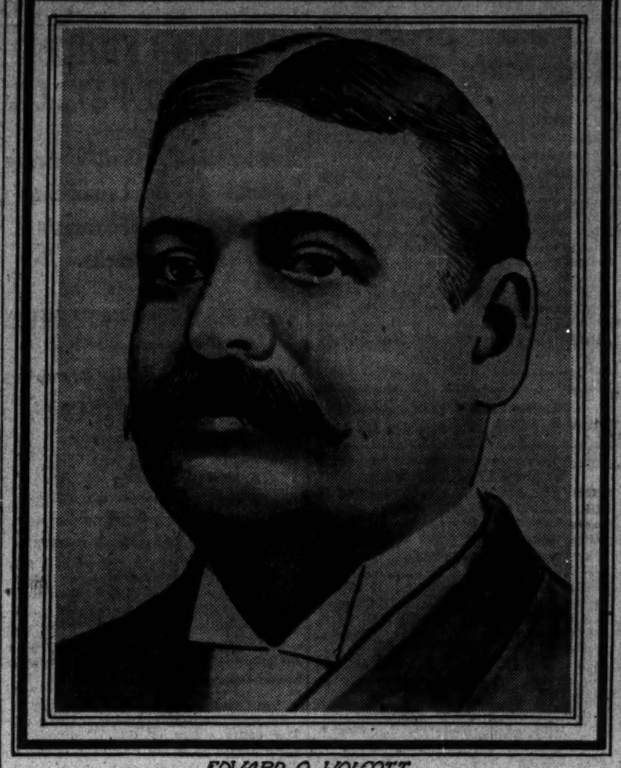

Cordova is being held for the New Brunswick [N. J.] authorities as a fugitive from justice, and it is probable the same charge will be placed against the woman.

The eloping preacher was arrested as he stepped into a store to make a purchase. He refuses to discuss his escapade.

Former Senator, Who Is Dead in Europe.

EDWARD O. WOLCOTT.

Ex-Senator Wolcott, who died at Monte Carlo yesterday, abandoned Colorado, disposing of his interests in industries employing 25,000 persons, because he felt the people of the state had not treated him fairly in electing a democratic legislature and thus defeating him for reelection. He had great wealth, and was the head and front of every enterprise started in Denver. When leaving Colorado he wrote to his sister that he would spend most of the remainder of his life on the water.

OIL RECEIVER IS ASKED.

PROCEEDINGS BEGUN AGAINST KANSAS BRANCH OF TRUST.

Attorney General of State Declares No Statement of Solvency of Company Has Been Filed and the Charter Fees Have Not Been Paid by Corporation—Many Railroads Are Named Also in the Bill as Parties to the Suit.

Topeka, Kas., March 1.—Attorney General Coleman of the state of Kansas today filed suit in the Supreme court asking that a receiver be appointed for the Prairie Oil and Gas company, the Kansas branch of the Standard Oil company, on account of alleged violation of the state laws.

The writ was made returnable on March 10, and the answer to the application will be made on March 30. The papers will be served in Wyandotte county, because of the supposition that the interests of the company are centered there.

All the railroad companies in the state, with the exception of the Santa Fé, are made parties to the suit. In addition, action is brought against the transcontinental freight bureau, the western trunk line committee, and the southwestern traffic committee. All these concerns are alleged to have entered into an agreement with the Standard Oil company to make rates which are discriminative on oil and by-products.

The petition says no report has been made to the state as to the solvency of the Standard, and that no charter fee has been paid the state. In this contention is where the attorney general thinks he has a strong case against the Standard, as the Kansas law governing corporations is explicit in the matter of requiring financial statements and charter fees.

In addition the attorney general alleges that the capital stock of the Standard, being $120,000,000, more than $24,000 should have been paid to the Kansas school fund. This has not been paid. The annual income of the Standard in Kansas is given as $1,000,000.

The house today by a vote of 82 to 18 passed the anti-discrimination bill. This is the last of half a dozen anti-trust measures which have been pending in the legislature this winter, and its passage by the house completes the anti-trust crusade which has been on since the beginning of the session.

The bill prohibits producers or distributers from discriminating between different sections, communities, or cities of this state, by selling its commodity at a lower rate in one section, community, or city, or any portion thereof, than is charged for such commodity in another section, after equalising the cost of delivery. It provides a penalty of a fine of $1,000 for each and every violation.

The maximum freight law, recently passed by the legislature, went into effect today. The new schedules under the law will in some instances cut the old ones in half.

Anti-Trust Suit Against Santa Fe.

Sedan, Kas., March 1.—Suit was filed in the District court of Chautauqua county, Kas., today against the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé railway, charging violations of the anti-trust laws. The suit is backed by the Kansas Oil Producers' association.

The railroad is charged with violating the anti-trust law of Kansas by combining with other corporations to regulate freight rates in restraint of trade and otherwise disregarding the intent of the law.

Wisconsin Joins the Fight.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 1.—[Special.]—Railroad freight rate discrimination in favor of the Standard Oil trust is charged by the independent oil dealers of Wisconsin, and in line with the fight in Kansas, Wisconsin oil shippers are preparing material which will be presented to the interstate commerce commission and called to the attention of the United States district attorney in Milwaukee.

The only tangible grievance at present is comprised in freight rates, but it is alleged by dealers as a second count that the Standard Oil company is receiving rebates.

"The people of Kansas and other states who are making fights on the Standard Oil company are justified in their warfare," says W. D. Halsted, an independent refiner.

BEER HELPS END STRIKE.

LATHERS AND EMPLOYERS FRATERNIZE IN SALOON.

Nearly Forty Contractors Meet Union Leaders "Socially" and Sign Agreement—Report That 1,100 Coatmakers Have Gone Out Cheers the Garment Workers — Sheet Metal Men Threaten to Make Chicago an "Open Town."

The "social" strike has become popular among labor organizations. It was tried yesterday by the lathers' union and every one pronounced it, over tall glasses of beer, a great success.

The scene took place in a saloon at 104 Randolph street, where 350 striking lathers fraternized with forty of their employers, slapped the bosses good naturedly on the back, exchanged jokes and drinks, discussed the weather and politics, and ended by going back to work just as if no such thing as a strike ever had been mentioned.

Business Agent J. E. Toale of the lathers' union entered the barroom at 9 o'clock in the morning. He was accompanied by a dozen or more unionists. Toale said that inasmuch as "he had a strike on his hands" he would have a drink. Then he sat down with his companions to read the morning papers.

Employers Get a Warm Greeting.

Half an hour later David Hewitt and Daniel Curran, lathing employers, walked into the saloon. Both said as "they had a strike on their hands" they also would drink. Then they saw Toale and his friends.

Warm greetings and handshakes were exchanged all around. Etiquette on both sides was perfect. A striker sprang a joke about the weather. An employer came back with one about the street cars. Good fellowship quickly was established despite the quality of the jokes, which were poor.

Over the beer the employers and the striking lathers "got their heads together." Both the contractors and the men agreed they should have the same pay as last year—$4 and $3.50 a day. Then the employers and the business agent affixed their names to an agreement.

From time to time during the day groups of strikers and employers entered the saloon. In each instance the program was the same. The men met, smoked, drank, and talked in a "social" way and parted in friendly spirits. Upstairs, in a hall on the third floor, a blackboard recorded the names of the contractors who had signed the agreements. As fast as additions were made to the list a "strike" was called off.

By night nearly forty contractors had signed and the "strike" had dwindled into insignificance. Only members of the Lathing Employers' association still held out. They were not accorded the "social" hand by the strikers.

Coatmakers Encourage Strikers.

Reports that 1,100 coatmakers had joined the strike of the garment workers cheered the men and women who have been locked in a struggle against twenty-nine wholesale tailoring firms. Secretary M. J. Isaacs and members of the Wholesale Tailors' association denied that any of the employés had quit. A meeting of the coatmakers has been called for this morning at 10 o'clock.

Sheet metal workers threaten to fight the Sheet Metal Contractors' association with the "open town" if the employers carry out their announced intention of insisting on the "open shop." Committees from the union and the employers will confer today on a new agreement to take the place of the one expiring on April 1. The "open town" weapon was explained to consist of the abrogation of existing contracts by which the workers are bound to use only material manufactured in Chicago. They propose to throw the market open to the whole country.

MAN GOES TO PRISON TO KILL.

Indiana Convict Hopes to Meet Slayer of His Wife at Michigan City Penitentiary.

South Bend, Ind., March 1.—[Special.]—John Wilhelm of Marion county, who was sent to the Michigan City prison today to serve a sentence for stealing, confided to a comrade that he wished to go to the Michigan City prison to avenge the death of his wife by killing her slayer, who is serving a life sentence there.

Mrs. Wilhelm several years ago was murdered near Indianapolis by Bill Mallady of Indianapolis, who was sent to prison for life.

Wilhelm says he stole in the hope he would get near enough to Mallady in prison to strangle him.

A new building cannot pay for itself in a month, and is not expected to.

If you build a new factory you figure out that in the course of time it will pay for itself and prove a profitable investment. After a month or a year has elapsed you do not go around with a long face because that factory has not paid for itself. It is the same with advertising.

The result of intelligent advertising is an edifice of public patronage, founded upon the solid rock of satisfaction, and growing more valuable and profitable year after year.

Such an edifice cannot be built in a day, nor will it pay for itself in a month.

The leading American advertisers advertise constantly in the leading American weekly magazine, THE SATURDAY EVENING POST. By using this publication you will build wisely and well. You will reach 800,000 homes or 4,000,000 people 52 times a year. The patronage of a small proportion of this great army of readers would keep your factory running night and day.

EDNA MAY FALLS IN FAINT

ACTRESS DROPS TO STAGE FLOOR WHILE SINGING IN ILLINOIS.

Theater Audience and Company Alike Startled When Star Suddenly Becomes Unconscious and Reels—She Lies for Several Moments Like One Dead, Before Being Carried to the Wings—Later Is Revived and Finishes Performance.

Miss Edna May fainted and fell to the floor while singing in the full glare of the footlights during the second act of "The School Girl" at the Illinois theater last night.

The actress had just responded to an encore for the song "My Little Canoe," in which she had the accompaniment of the full chorus. She had tripped back upon the stage lightly, smiling her acknowledgment of the applause and apparently showing no evidence whatever of a threatened breakdown. After singing a line or two she suddenly hesitated, moved forward a step, and, then, turning, fell supine to the floor.

For a moment all those on the stage shared the astonishment of the audience; then members of the company moved forward, and, picking up the unconscious actress, bore her off the stage just before the curtain was lowered.

Man Faints in Sympathy.

It was a dramatic scene, and for a few moments the big audience was stunned. One sympathetic man in the balcony was so affected that he lost consciousness and fell forward, not reviving until a glass of water had been brought. This side show was known to but few of the auditors, however, who were concerned chiefly over the cause of the incident that had so suddenly interrupted the play.

A physician was summoned hastily behind the scenes, but before his arrival Miss May had recovered consciousness. After a wait of five minutes, the curtain rose, and, without any explanation or statement to the audience, the trend of the play was resumed. The next number, a humorous song by Messrs. Blakeley, Wright, and Leslie, ordinarily is one of the "hits" of the play, but it fell more or less flat because of the anxiety of the audience concerning the condition of the star.

Greeted with Great Applause.

When she finally appeared, a few minutes later, there was a big burst of applause. Miss May filled her part during the remainder of the performance, but was visibly weak.

No explanation of her attack was given by those connected with the theater beyond the fact that she merely had fainted.

"She suffered no injury at all from the fall and we do not known what caused it. She has never been similarly affected before," said the manager of the company.

PLEA IN BEHALF OF SLAV WORKMEN

Remarkable Convention in St. Petersburg Demands Release of Imprisoned.

ONE DAY OF FREE SPEECH.

Still Deliberating as to Granting People Voice in State Affairs.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 1.—The People's palace here was the scene of a remarkable convention today when workingmen representing 160 factories of this city met for the first time in their lives with freedom of speech and assembly guaranteed them. These workingmen are 220 primary electors who on March 3 will select fifty of their number as members of the mixed economic commission of which M. Schidlovski is president.

The convention unanimously adopted a resolution to refuse to participate in proceedings on March 3 unless the government orders the release of the workmen who have been arrested since Jan. 22, that the members of the commission be given absolute freedom of speech and immunity from arrest on account of the expression of opinions, and the proceedings of the commission be published uncensored.

Prior to meeting in the People's palace the delegates representing seven groups met in seven different halls and for four hours discussed the situation. The meetings everywhere were marked by orderliness and the absence of incendiary speeches. Outsiders who were present were struck by the intelligent grasp of the subject displayed by the workmen and the quiet demeanor and respectable appearance of the workmen.

Parliamentary Methods Lacking.

The mass convention began at 4 p. m. A chairman and vice chairman were elected, but throughout the meeting the proceedings were marked by primitiveness and ignorance of methods of conducting a meeting not unnatural under the circumstances.

One of the earliest speakers, a wheelwright, moved the assembly to great enthusiasm when he insisted that before proceeding to elect representatives to the commission they must insist upon the liberation of over 3,000 workingmen who have been arrested since Sunday, Jan. 22, in connection with the strike movement. The speaker said these men were treated by the government as criminals and it was the duty of the meeting to stand by their comrades. No one knew, he said, what would become of these men who were under arrest. The meeting must demand full liberty of person, full liberty of speech, liberty of domicile, and immunity from punishment for anything that may be said by representatives.

Continuing, the speaker demanded liberty of the press to publish reports of the commission. The same rights, he said, must be accorded to workingmen in the provinces. They must have an answer, with M. Schidlovski's assent, before proceeding to the election of delegates to the commission.

Demands Are Carried.

These demands were recorded by the secretary of the Schidlovski commission, who was present, and then drafted as a resolution and unanimously carried. The resolution concludes with the statement that unless the demands are granted by 2 p. m. of March 3 they will refuse to elect fifty representatives, and that if granted acceptance of the conditions is to be placarded on the factory walls.

The president of the convention reviewed with remarkable lucidity the position of the Petersburg workmen. He said they must have the right to strike, which is the most important weapon of the proletariat. Under the present laws workmen are powerless. He described American, English, and German trades unions, and contrasted them with the conditions in Russia. He pictured men begging on their knees for means to support their starving families, and said that if they had money and the right to organize they would be strong, whereas with famished families and without organization their hearts failed them. The speaker demanded the abolition of the Russian passport system, whereby, he said, men practically were reduced to slavery. He pointed out that out of his earnings of $.25 per week a workman is forced to pay $.87 annually for a passport.

Religious Issue Causes Stir.

The president referred to the necessity for freedom of religion. This reference caused considerable ferment, and for half an hour the hall was a babel of confusion. A number of men rushed to the platform and protested. They said they were not there to discuss religion. These found much opposition from the audience. It was impossible for the chairman to do anything, as he was entirely ignorant of rules of procedure, and allowed every one to talk at once; but as the business of the meeting was really over adjournment was secured and the delegates filed out of the hall, still disputing over the religious phase of their demands.

Notwithstanding the difficulty arising from the ignorance of methods of parliamentary procedure, the convention plainly showed that representative Russian workmen are able to intelligently discuss public affairs.

Czar Is Still Undecided.

The great and overshadowing question for Russians, that of granting the people a voice in the government, remains undecided at Tsarskoe Selo. Emperor Nicholas has not yet given the final word. By a process of elimination, however, two propositions have been definitely rejected, the first a constitutional monarchical régime based upon western models, with a parliament to frame laws and control the budget; and the second the convening of the zemsky sobor. The former proposition has been rejected on the ground that Russia is not yet ripe for constitutional government, and the second because the zemsky sobor is now an anachronism.

In substance, the proposition which the emperor is now considering with the council of ministers is the establishment of a consultative assembly, based on direct class representation to sit in a consultative capacity and propose laws—in other words, adopting the form while retaining the essence of autocracy.

The majority of the ministers have joined in expressing the opinion to his majesty that such a measure, coupled with the reforms enunciated in the manifesto of Dec. 12, 1904, guaranteeing equality before the law, responsibility of officials, and practical freedom of the press, will met the present situation.

Plan Would Be Temporary.

All, however, recognize, and so advise his majesty, that such a solution can be only temporary. An assembly of this kind would be an anomaly in the Russian government and must soon give way to a regular parliamentary body. This fact is equally recognized by the liberals, whom the proposed plan would not satisfy, but who are convinced that this would be a forward step.

M. Witte, president of the committee of ministers, whose position is not yet clearly defined, but who is understood to hold that the country is not yet prepared for a constitution, is said to have told the emperor bluntly that no retreat is possible after a step once has been taken.

RUSSIANS FIGHT LOSING BATTLE.

In utter darkness drove the Japanese back two miles.

On Feb. 27 the Japanese renewed the attack, but the Russians repulsed repeated assaults. Today (Feb. 28) there was desperate fighting, but the Japanese have succeeded in retaining possession of the village.

The Japanese fought with fanatical bravery, making several night attacks and charging under cover of darkness and a fierce snow storm almost up to the muzzles of the Russian batteries, which met them with canister and grape.

DRIVING IN RUSSIAN RIGHT.

GEN. OKU'S HEADQUARTERS, Feb. 28, via Fusan, March 1.—The Japanese left wing is driving back the Russian outposts.

The Japanese have occupied a line from Shatzemun, two miles west of the Hun river, in a northwest direction to Kalita, on the east bank of the Liao river.

A heavy bombardment along the entire line west of the railroad is in progress night and day.

FIGHTING ALONG THE SHAKHE.

TOKIO, March 1.—The headquarters of the Japanese army on the Shakhe river, telegraphing yesterday, says:

"The enemy's batteries at Tungyou mountain and the northern height of Tangchiatun commenced bombarding at 4 o'clock today. We did not reply.

"Monday night the enemy's field guns at Shupangtai and heavy guns at Wenhengpao concentrated their fire on our outposts in the vicinity of the railroad bridge. At 1 in the morning, five companies of infantry advanced on either side of the railroad, and surrounded our outposts. Finally, part of the enemy charged into our trenches and engaged in a fierce hand to hand fight. Our outposts had repulsed the enemy entirely at 3 in the morning. The enemy left sixty dead, some prisoners, and some spoils.

STOESSEL TO SEE CZAR TODAY.

Defender of Port Arthur, Who Arrives in St. Petersburg, Will Report at Tsarskoe Selo.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 1.—Gen. Stoessel, who arrived in St. Petersburg today, has been summoned to Tsarskoe Selo to report to the emperor tomorrow. When the train steamed into the depot many hundreds of people, especially women, crowded on the platform. War Minister Sakharoff and Admiral Zilotti, in behalf of the admiralty, welcomed Gen. Stoessel, who was loudly cheered and presented with flowers.

Behind the general came Mrs. Stoessel leaning on the arm of a military officer. She looked to be even more bronzed than her husband, and smiled happily at the warm welcome accorded him. It was remarked that the general's hair had turned white.

The absence of military and naval officers from the reception platform was noticeable. Only a few military men and no naval officers excepting Admiral Zilotti were present. Altogether the general's welcome was by no means in the nature of a popular demonstration and lacked genuine enthusiasm.

CROWN PRINCE IS FOR UNION.

Gustaf Upholds the Bond of Government Between Norway and Sweden.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

CHRISTIANIA, March 1.—The international crisis, which caused the resignation today of the Norwegian ministry, headed by Prof. Hagerup, was induced by a message sent by Gustaf, the prince regent, to the committee of the storthing, which is considering the relations between Sweden and Norway. The message contained the following:

"In these critical days I feel it necessary to urge members of the committee to keep the welfare of Norway, and that only, ever before their eyes. Upon that depends, in my opinion, the union with Sweden. I, therefore, lay upon you the strongest injunction not to take any action which may lead to rupture between the two countries."

The prince regent pointed out that the crown never opposed Norway in having a separate consular service, but desired a foreign policy so directed as to maintain a union. He called attention to the great danger involved in the disruption of the union, and advised that negotiations with Sweden on broader lines than hitherto be adopted.

P. C. Michelsen and J. M. Schoening, who resigned as minister of finance and councilor of state, may be summoned to form a new cabinet. Michelsen and Schoening resigned because their colleagues would not agree to the immediate establishment of a separate Norwegian consular system.

PARIS, March 1.—At a meeting held today the Automobile club's Coupe Internationale gained precedence over the French Grand Prix. This means that the cup race will be run this year and the Grand Prix not till 1908. The committee decided to give patronage to only one big road race annually. Also, beginning in 1908, French auto makers will be invited to an annual competition in one big race—namely: the Grand Prix, which will become an international open race.

NOTES FROM FOREIGN LANDS.

CONSTANTINOPLE—The present insurrection in Yeman province, Arabia, appears to put in the shade all previous revolts. In the south the towns of Aab and Hidjeh, the latter containing 2,000 troops with four guns, are surrounded and on the point of capitulating. The object of the insurrection is believed to be the creation of an autonomous Arab state.

PARIS—The marriage of Baron Edouard de Rothschild and Germaine Halphen took place at the Jewish temple here. Premier Rouvier, the ambassadors of Germany and Italy, the ministers of Brazil, and the heads of the great financial houses attended.

LONDON—Hugo Baring of New York was married in London to Lady Magheramorne, sister of the earl of Shaftesbury, who gave the bride away. Hugo Baring is a representative of the New York house of the London banking firm of Baring Bros.

CAPITAL WAITS FOR GREAT DAY.

Snow Storm Causes Trouble for Decorators at Work in Pennsylvania Avenue.

INDIANS IN WASHINGTON.

Cowboys There, Too, and the President Will Greet Them After Inauguration.

Washington, D. C., March 1.—[Special.]—Washington today experienced the fourteenth snow storm of the winter, to the consternation of the weather bureau, which had been hopeful for good weather for the rest of inauguration week, and to the disgust and discouragement of the inaugural committee, persons who have erected open stands from which the parade may be seen, and the thousands of others to whom bad atmospheric conditions mean the loss of money or pleasure during the inaugural festivities.

The weather bureau is making no predictions for Saturday. Four years ago its chief issued a special weather bulletin on the night of March 3, in which he said he staked his reputation as a prognosticator that on the morrow Washington would have the most perfect day in the history of presidential inaugurations.

Weather Man Dodges Forecast.

The weather bureau chief's reputation was knocked higher than Gilderoy's kite, for a fierce, cold downfall of rain began at daybreak and continued throughout the day, ruining street decorations, drenching paraders, and bringing heavy loss to stand owners and speculators in seats. Naturally, the weather bureau is not taking any chances this year.

Snow began to come down along about the time most of Washington eats its breakfast. There was a cessation in the storm at 2 o'clock this afternoon, but after a while the flakes resumed their downward course and kept at it for a couple of hours longer. The streets are full of slush, but a big force of white wings is at work trying to clear it all away before it has a chance to freeze.

Most of the sidewalks were shoveled clear by nightfall, so that thousands of visitors in town managed to get about with little discomfort. While the storm was at its height work was suspended on many stands along the line of the parade, and those engaged in decorating the outside of buildings found it undesirable to continue the hanging of the perishable stuff which they were using.

Beautify Pennsylvania Avenue.

The big force of persons who are turning into a bower of beauty that stretch of Pennsylvania avenue which runs from the White house to the state, war, and navy departments building kept right at their work. They have barely time enough to get everything in shape for this most attractive feature of the inaugural ceremonies. Coated with white, they worked like beavers, putting up plaster statues of heroic size, twining garlands of laurel around bamboo poles, and hammering away at mysterious frameworks that will blossom forth like the rose when the decorators are through with them.

This space is to be called the court of history. Fronting its south center is the president's stand, big enough apparently, but containing not half as much space as would be required to accommodate all those who have requested or demanded seats upon it. A comparatively tiny projecting space in the center of this stand will be occupied by the president during the grand review. On each side of this along the curb, heroic size statues of American pioneers are being put in place. These come from the St. Louis fair.

Sioux Indians Are Disowned.

A band of Sioux Indians in war paint, blankets, and feathers has come to town to participate in the inaugural parade, to the indignation of the Indian bureau, which swears it will not do anything to help the red men, because they are here without permission. The official Indian contingent in the parade will consist of only six chiefs, each representing a prominent tribe. These chiefs are Old Geronimo, the Apache terror of twenty years ago; Quautach Parker of the Commanches, American Horse of the Brule Sioux, Little Plume of the Blackfeet, Buckskin Charlie of the Utes, and Hollow Horn of the Rosebud Sioux.

Directly behind these old chieftains, each of whom represents a nation once at war with this country and subdued only at a great loss of life, will be 350 students of the Carlisle Indian school. The former will be clad in their native regalia of feathers, blankets, and paint. The latter will be clad in the regular uniform of the United States calvary, but will be dismounted. With the students will be a fifty piece band, each member of which is a full blooded Indian and student at Carlisle. This will contrast the old Indians of the war path and the educated, manly Indians of today.

Cowboys There in Force.

Capt. Seth Bullock, an old friend and frontier companion of Theodore Roosevelt, arranged with the president today for a special review and handshake for the contingent of real cowpunchers who will participate in the inaugural parade. This will take place immediately after the grand review. Capt Seth and his cowboys will drop out of line when they have passed the reviewing stand and will ride into the White house grounds. The reception will be held under the portico of the mansion. Each of the cowboys will be presented to the president by Capt. Bullock and will shake hands without dismounting.

In their conference today, which is said to have taken place over the telephone, Capt. Seth told the president that all the wild west contingent want to "grip fins" with Mr. Roosevelt, and also wanted to have him see their horses.

"Gun Play" Incident Recalled.

There will be some interesting reunions on the White house porch when the cow punchers are received. In going over the list of Capt. Bullock's company the president recognized several names and narrated certain incidents in his ranching days that these names recalled.

One of the cowboys, whose name the president and Bullock have refused to divulge, believes that a little affair which he had with Mr. Roosevelt away out west twenty odd years ago had a marked influence on the president's career. This affair was in the "gun play" line, and if the aforesaid cowboy, now a middle aged person of calm and judicial demeanor, had hit the human mark at which he aimed, Theodore Roosevelt never might have been president of the United States.

Jim Dahlman of Kearney, Neb., will be Capt. Bullock's first lieutenant in the rope throwing delegation from the west. Mr. Dahlman has been and is Mr. Bryan's personal political manager. In the national campaign of 1900 he had charge of the train on which Mr. Bryan toured the country, and at the democratic convention at St. Louis last July, Mr. Dahlman was regarded as the official mouthpiece of the "peerless leader."

Bryan Man to Greet President.

Knowing something of Mr. Dahlman's closeness to Mr. Bryan, the president learned with surprise and pleasure today that Dahlman would ride in the inaugural parade in order to express his high personal admiration for Mr. Roosevelt. Mr. Dahlman was a cow puncher in the good old days when shooting up the town and some of its unappreciated citizens was fashionable in the wild and woolly regions of the country.

There is another member of Capt. Bullock's contingent whom the president is anxious to meet. He was a Missouri democrat, who carried his democracy with him out to the Black Hills district. There he ran across Theodore Roosevelt Jr. a couple of years ago, and they hunted together and became good friends. This intimate association with a member of the Roosevelt family caused the former Missourian to abandon his partisan leanings temporarily, and on the last election day he went to his voting precinct to exercise his right of suffrage in behalf of the republican candidate for president.

Pistol Used in Election.

The ballot which was given him did not contain the name of Theodore Roosevelt, so the Missourian wrote "Roosevelt" on the sheet and put it in the ballot box. Late in the day he mentioned the incident to some friends at an army post and was told his ballot was defective and would be cast out. The Missourian went back to his voting place and told the judges he reckoned he'd stay to see the ballot counted.

This was irregular and illegal, but the Missourian had a few notches on his pistol and was permitted to remain. When the ballot he had cast was reached it was challenged as defective, but upon representations of a pointed character by him who had made it so, the judges decided to count it. The president has heard the story and the Missourian was assured a cordial welcome when he rides to the front porch of the White house.

Filipino Scouts to Attend.

Cincinnati, O., March 1.—The battalion of Filipino scouts that has been stationed at Fort Thomas left today for Washington to attend the inauguration of President Roosevelt. There are 277 of them. Each soldier was in full field equipment with blankets, carbines, machete, and canteen.

EXODUS TO CAPITAL BEGINS.

Trains Carry Extra Cars and Today Organizations Which Go as Clubs Will Start for the East.

Chicago and Illinois will be well represented at the inauguration at Washington on Saturday. Already the exodus to the capital has begun.

Trains bound east carried extra coaches yesterday to provide for those who wanted to get in early and avoid the rush. Today organizations which will go as clubs will have their special cars and trains. The Hamilton club special leaves over the Baltimore and Ohio this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The club will arrive at Washington Friday afternoon. It will be led by E. C. Wetton, who has had charge of the arrangements for the trip.

The Appomattox club, an organization of colored men, will leave today at noon.

The Flambeau club of Minneapolis passed through Chicago yesterday.

Cowboys Arrive on Their Way to Attend the Inauguration.

"HOORAYING FOR THEIR PAL."

Some one said something about Roosevelt in the Union station yesterday morning at 11 o'clock. It wasn't much, but it was something—something Tobe Bud Driscoll of Spearfish, S. D., didn't like. For two minutes it was leg against leg, and the two from the Blackhills country were faster than the pair from South Halsted street. When Tobe Bud's grip fastened on the collar of the "derby-decked dudelet" the latter expected to be shot. He was glad when his face was washed with Canal street mud instead of perforated by bullets.

This incident happened sixty-five seconds, by the station clock, after Seth Bullock's cow punchers arrived in Chicago over the Burlington on their way to Washington to attend the inaugural "roundup" of "Teddy" Roosevelt. After Tobe had been cheered by the "outfit" the punchers limbered up by playing leap frog in the street. They were met at the station by "Bob" Carr, a Deadwood editor and "poet of the Black Hills."

The Deadwood delegation, with W. J. McLaughlin in charge, was escorted through the downtown district, and left at 1 o'clock for Washington. Soon after the cowboys arrived a delegation of Montana rangers and Sioux Indians reached Chicago on their way to the capital.

ELGIN PEOPLE WILL FIGHT DISPOSAL OF LIGHT PLANT.

Citizens Denounce Transfer of City Electric Equipment at Massmeeting Attended by 1,000 of the Voters.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Elgin, Ill., March 1.—[Special.]—At a massmeeting held in Dubois' opera house 1,000 citizens protested the action of the city council in turning over to the Elgin, Aurora and Southern Traction company the municipal lighting plant owned and operated by the city since 1889. In the speeches corruption was insinuated and resolutions were adopted to take legal steps to render null and void the objectionable ordinance.

Following is a part of the resolutions passed at tonight's meeting unanimously:

"Whereas, The methods employed in the passage of this ordinance, the spirit of unfairness in the short notice, and the manner of calling the special meeting, the fact that it had not been before the city council prior thereto, nor referred by it to any committee, the secret conference with the traction company officials, the evident intention of keeping the people in the dark upon so vital a question as the disposal of public property, the refusal to allow the people any voice in so important a matter, and the haste in rushing the measure through the council without due or decent consideration, for closing all further debate by the farcical motion for an immediate reconsideration, are each and all intolerable to the American spirit of fair play and a square deal;

"Be it, resolved, That we appeal to all citizens and the entire force of Elgin to unite in demanding the complete restoration of their rightful and lawful ownership of the valuable property and franchise now about to be wrested from them under the guise of a contract."

After adopting the resolutions a committee of citizens was appointed to take steps to render the ordinance void, and also a committee to raise funds to prosecute the work.

QUITS CABINET OF LAURIER.

Plan to Endow Catholic Schools in Canada with Public Funds Drives One Minister Out.

Ottawa, Ont., March 1.—[Special.]—Clifford Sefton, minister of the interior in Sir Wilfrid Laurier's cabinet, resigned today, declaring he could not support the educational clause in the autonomy bill for the two new northwestern states, which practically endows separate schools for Catholics in the northwest.

In the house of commons today Col. Sam Hughes warned the government against coercing the northwest and predicting that the people would have recourse to arms, war, and dire disaster rather than submit to the tyranny the prime minister proposes in his bill.

Baptists Oppose Measure.

Winnipeg, Man., March 1.—The Baptist convention of Manitoba and the Northwest Territories telegraphed a strong protest against the government's proposed educational clause in the autonomy bills to Sir Wilfrid Laurier today. It says:

"The bill is an invasion of provincial rights. In matters of education, every province should be free to legislate for itself. It is a violation of principles conscientiously entertained by the Baptists, principles of equal rights and the principle of separation of the church and state."

There is growing indignation here among American residents and settlers at Sir Wilfrid's characterization of the United States public schools as hotbeds of immorality and nurseries of crime.

ACCEPT CHANGE IN CHURCH BILL.

French Ministers in Accord with Modified Measure Prohibiting Religious Processions.

PARIS, March 1.—The council of ministers has decided to accept the proposed change in the bill providing for the separation of church and state, whereby religious processions hereafter will be strictly prohibited. It also has been decided not to accept the proposition whereby pensions accorded to the aged clergy were to be cut off after the separation.

TEACHERS' UNION IS REPUDIATED.

School Trustees Decide to Fight Bills Which Federation Champions.

REVENUE LOSS IS FEARED.

President Mark in Letter Asserts New Tax Law May Work Out Badly.

By a unanimous vote the board of education last night practically repudiated all acts of the Chicago Teachers' federation and urged that the children of Chicago should not be made to suffer on account of its "indiscretions." The denunciation was made official by a vote approving in toto a letter from President Clayton Mark, in which he called to the attention of the trustees the necessity of taking active steps to prevent the passage by the state legislature of two pending revenue bills.

In his letter President Mark declared that in the discussion of the revenue problem for the city and schools during the last few months he became aware that there was a feeling entertained by some persons that the board of education spends too much money or receives more than its equitable portion of the taxes collected.

"These impressions I attribute in a measure to a constant agitation of a part of the school employés for increased salaries," declared Mr. Mark. "Within the last few months one organization voted in favor of a proposition to increase the maximum salaries 50 per cent."

President Mark referred to the action of the Teachers' federation in urging an increase from $1,000 to $1,500 in the maximum salary paid to teachers.

Explains Tax Distribution.

In his letter President Mark asserted that under the bill pending, which provides that the city shall receive out of the 5 per cent gross levied under the Juul law not less than 1.80 and the county not less than .60, the schools would be contributing to the two corporate bodies $7 per cent of the entire increase, or, in round figures, $781,000. He declared, further, that if the 1.80 allowed the city was to be exclusive of the bonded indebtedness the schools would lose $1,625,000.

President Mark said the enactment of this bill would put the revenues required for educational and school building purposes in competition with the estimates made for the fire department, police department, street department, and other general purposes.

Fears Loss of Revenue.

"In this competition," he said, "the schools would suffer severely. Members of the city council are not, under present methods of school administration, in close touch or conversant with the requirements and the needs of the schools.

"The passage of either one of these bills will decrease the school revenues all the way from 12½ to 40 per cent. If the citizens will be satisfied with the same kind of service in the public schools that they receive in the street cleaning and other departments of municipal service, brought about by inadequate funds, then they should approve the passage of either of these bills. In this event they may be obliged, as in the matter of street cleaning, to take up contributions from public spirited citizens to carry on the work.

In concluding President Mark asked the appointment of a committee to start a campaign to defeat the bills and the preparation of a pamphlet for wide distribution "showing the school revenues and expenditures for the last year and the details of such expenditures." The board approved Mr. Mark's recommendation. The pamphlet will contain the schedule of salaries paid to principals and teachers in Chicago and other cities.

Board Proposes Bills.

The school board's special committee on new legislation reported two bills for presentation to the general assembly. The measure which provided for the division and expenditure of the building fund for the purpose of preventing the board from drawing on the educational fund for other than educational purposes was unanimously approved. Action on the other bill proposed was deferred for two weeks. One of its features is a provision fixing the term of office for the superintendent at five years after a probationary period of one year. He is to be removable only for cause and after trial by the board. The right to speak at board meetings, but not to vote, is given him. The measure also provides for the legalization of the present merit system of the board.

ACTRESS WEDS INDIANA MAN WITH $20,000,000 FORTUNE.

Marion Winchester, an American Dancer, Married in Paris to Daniel G. Reid, Organizer of Tinplate Trust.

New York, March 1.—[Special.]—Marion Winchester, a beautiful American dancer, will become the mistress of a $20,000,000 fortune by her marriage to Daniel G. Reid of Indiana, organizer of the tin plate trust and director in more than a dozen of the largest corporations in the country. The announcement of their marriage, which took place in Paris recently, reached New York today from London, where Mr. and Mrs. Reid now are.

This is the second wife Reid has taken from behind the footlights. Miss Winchester was a popular member of the New York Theater company, under the management of Klaw & Bros.

Reid, who is a widower, met Clarisse Agnew at the old Hoyt theater ten years ago, fell in love with her, and married her. She died a short time ago.

DAVIS AND FUNK IN "SPIRIT" WAR.

Ex-Medium Who Makes Light of Mrs. Pepper's Powers, Is 'Called' by Her Champion.

CHALLENGE IS ACCEPTED.

May Give Public Seance in Which Scoffer Must Duplicate the Woman's Performances.

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE, New York, March 1.

War of Mediums Declared by Funk and Davis.

The gage of battle has been thrown down and accepted in a big fight between the medium smashers and the medium supporters of Brooklyn. Dr. Funk, on behalf of his "phenom," Mrs. May Pepper, has challenged W. S. Davis, an ex-medium, to test his powers of jugglery. Davis has accepted on condition that straight Queensberry rules govern.

He makes no stipulation as to the ringside weight, forfeit, or side bets. He wants only a clean break and no hitting in the clinches. Dr. Isaac Funk, who has been getting his name into the newspapers considerably of late in connection with Mrs. Pepper, made public a letter tonight in which he said:

"W. S. Davis announces he is an ex-medium, and that if given a chance he will duplicate through fake methods all that Mrs. Pepper does, and then will explain the process. This, if sincere, is a move in the right direction."

"As to Davis' challenge, I will agree to pay all the expenses for the hall in which he may give such a public demonstration on the single condition that he practically will duplicate the tests made last Sunday evening in the presence of a committee, say of seven, who shall determine the arrangements and pass judgment of success or failure of the tests. Three of this committee will be selected by Davis and three by Judge Dailey, if he is willing, and these six to agree upon a seventh."

A copy of Dr. Funk's challenge was conveyed at once to Mr. Davis.

"Accept that challenge? You bet I accept it. I want to work under fair conditions, though," said Davis. "Mrs. Pepper works before her friends.

"Now, I'll make this counter challenge to Dr. Funk. If he will bring Mrs. Pepper to any place—a public hall, for example—or his own home—and will have present a crowd, comprising both my friends and hers, I will agree to duplicate any feat which she may perform at that time and place.

"Dr. Funk asks me to reproduce not what he saw her do but what he thinks he saw her do. Here is Mrs. Pepper's chance. This is the time for her, if she has any occult power, to prove it. Just a fair and even break between us. That is all I ask."

Pope's Nephew Learns He Is Jilted.

Like one who had been moved to exclaim "Stung," Count Charles de Cini learned on his arrival at quarantine this morning that Miss Elizabeth Howe, heiress to $10,000,000, to whom he was engaged, had married less than twenty-four hours before.

The unverified report from Miss Howe's home in Allegheny stated Count de Cini had received an intimation that his suit was lost unless he reached this country before the heiress could marry Frank P. Sproul, the sweetheart of her childhood.

Count de Cini got the newspapers at quarantine announcing the marriage of Miss Howe. As soon as the ship docked he hurried ashore, jumped into a cab, and, whispering instructions to the driver, whisked away.

Life in Peril; Threatens to Kill Coachman.

Dr. James A. Ferguson of Highbridge, the Bronx, who is the visiting surgeon of the Fordham hospital, told the Highbridge station police tonight that his life has been in danger for more than a year from the man who had been his coachman. The doctor said his wife is losing her health from worry and he himself is afraid to go out at night.

"If the police don't arrest this fellow I'll shoot him within thirty-six hours," said the doctor. "I simply can't stand the strain of it any longer."

About a year ago, he said, the man he had hired as a coachman abused and neglected two valuable horses and he discharged him in pretty strong language. A month later he got an anonymous letter. He was told in it he might expect to get a bullet any time he stepped into the street. Three times since his house has been broken into.

"I believe the fellow is living right here in Highbridge," said Dr. Ferguson. "I think I know where he can be found. If you people don't get hold of him I will hire a private detective to locate him and then I'll shoot him."

Gambler's Home May Become Tailor Shop.

The sale of the premises at 8 West Forty-seventh street, formerly owned by Richard Canfield, the gambler, to a woman who purposes to establish a tailoring establishment thereon has aroused the residents of that aristocratic neighborhood. There is fear upon the part of the residents that their polite vision will be assailed by flaunting signs bearing the words "robes," "modiste," or possibly plain "tailor."

4 West Forty-seventh street is owned by Perry Belmont. On the same block are Charles Stewart Smith, Mr. Trowbridge, banker, and Charles T. Cook. On West Forty-eighth street live W. A. Flagg, L. Boardman, C. B. Alexander, W. Rhinelander, ex-Judge Gildersleeve, and R. L. Stevens.

Epidemic of Spinal Meningitis Causes Alarm.

The advisory board of the health department adopted a resolution today empowering Dr. Darlington to ask the board for an estimate of funds for a commission to investigate cerebro spinal meningitis. The health department has been unable to check the spread of the disease and admits it knows little about it further than that it is caused by a germ. The increase of the disease has been enormous. Five years ago it was hardly to be found in the city. In 1903 there were but 271 fatal cases, while in 1904 there were 1,211. In January, 1904, there were but twenty-five deaths from the disease, while in January, 1905, there were 167. In February, 1904, there were twenty-six deaths, while in February, 1905, there were 149. In some parts of the city the disease has become almost an epidemic.

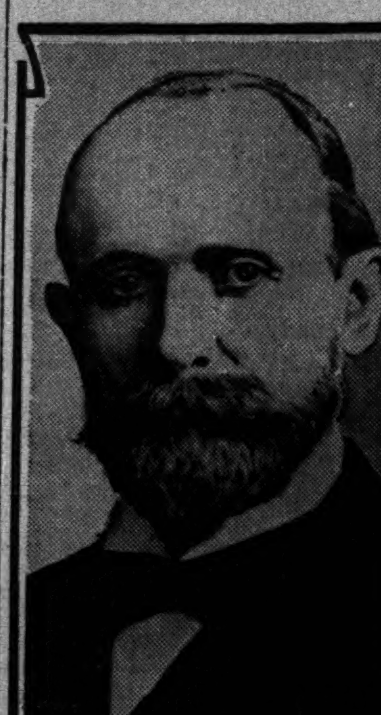

Home to Tell of Escape from Shipwreck.

Capt. J. A. Minot of the steam dredge Texas, which foundered at sea with a loss of twenty-two lives, was brought here today on the steamer Rotterdam from Rotterdam. The other survivors of the Texas were landed at Waterford several weeks ago, having been rescued by the brigantine Mercedes after a terrible experience with hunger, thirst, and cold in an open boat.

The Texas, which was bound from Dantzic to Galveston, foundered at midnight on Christmas eve. Two of its boats were launched, but one of them was swamped. This boat, containing the chief officer and twenty-one men, sank immediately, and all its occupants were drowned.

In the second boat the survivors drifted fourteen days, the last six of which they were absolutely without food or water. One of the men died from exposure, another became insane, and the remaining twelve were on the verge of hysteria when help came to them. When taken on board the Mercedes one of the survivors said that they had just drawn lots to decide which one should be killed to furnish food for his fellows. A little later they were transferred to the steamship Zeno and landed at Waterford, Ireland.

Lieutenant Who Deserts Dowie.

CHARLES J BARNARD

MYSTERY IN ZION CITY.

DOWIEITES PUZZLED BY DEACON BARNARD'S DEFECTION.

Absence of a Definite Announcement from General Overseer of Cause for the Withdrawal of General Financial Manager Gives Rise to Many Conjectures—First Impression That the Second in Command Was Discharged Is Dissipated at Rally.

The residents of Zion City were stirred yesterday as never before by the news of Deacon Charles J. Barnard's retirement as general financial manager of the Christian Catholic church. It was first made known Tuesday night, and with no announcement from Dr. John Alexander Dowie, who is in the City of Mexico, as to the cause, many conjectures were given rise to. The rumor of Zion's approaching dissolution was revived.

The first impression given out by officers of the church was that General Overseer Dowie had discharged the man who had grown into a position of importance second only to that held by himself. This was removed last night at the midweek rally meeting in the Shiloh tabernacle. Nearly 1,000 persons attended, awaiting an announcement.

Speicher "Doesn't Know Reason."

At first the resignation of Deacon Barnard only was hinted at. At last it was openly referred to by the overseer in charge, John C. Speicher. Taking the topic of "Selfishness" and referring repeatedly to the nobility of a man "sticking to his work until it is done," the overseer said:

"Did not the general financial manager go out of Zion?"

"Yes," replied his auditors in chorus.

"Do you think this is going to break up Zion?"

A storm of "Nos" was the response.

"What did he go for?" continued the overseer. "I am going to tell you. I don't know."

Laughter greeted this.

"Deacon Barnard is a gentleman. He still is a member of the church. There is no charge against his integrity."

Declares Barnard Was "Tired."

"I wish he had not gone," continued the overseer, allowing his last statement to sink in. "I have tried to get him to return, but he knows best. He grew tired before the work was done; that was all. He has gone under shelter of easier times."

At this moment the hour of prayer, 9 o'clock, sounded. When heads were raised again the overseer chouted, "Are you all going to stick or will you get tired, too?"

A chorus of "No, no! We will stick," was returned.

Overseer H. B. Bracefield of the educational institutions then spoke. "Barnard had no right to shirk the responsibilities as he had done in resigning," he said.

Inspector General Sloan was called for and responded.

"Lots of people do not know what to do when it comes to open fight," he said. "I hate this kind.

"O, God!" he exclaimed, "make the man restless and bring him back home. You can't find out why he quit. My prayer is that God will make him repent and become more useful. No man in all Zion has done more effective work, and no one had more important work. His equal never has come to my notice; but this work is not going to stop."

Refer to "Financial Integrity."

The sole aim of the meeting appeared to be to pacify the aroused people. Financial integrity often was referred to.

"I believe in the financial integrity of Zion. I believe in the financial integrity of the first apostle, who has not a dishonest hair in his beard," said Overseer Speicher after the meeting.

A rumor of a message to be read from Dr. Dowie caused excitement during the day, but officials said he is not yet ready to announce the real reason for Barnard's action.

"Supposing there had been a difficulty over the books which could be fixed up, would it be proper to make the details public?" said Deacon Newcomb.

The most plausible reason for the resignation, given by a high official, was that Barnard disapproved of Dr. Dowie's policy in building up a new Zion in Mexico.

Another theory given was Dowie's dislike of Barnard's action in getting $100,000 by a mortgage on Waukegan dock property.

Hint at a Personal Difference.

A deep personal difference between Dowie and his assistant was hinted at in connection with the trouble over Roy Barnard, son of the deacon, who was expelled from Zion a few months ago. The case was pleaded before Dowie by Deacon Barnard, and the general overseer was obdurate.

Barnard is the third of the leaders to quit Zion within the last three months. First to go was Barnard's private secretary, Deacon Charles J. Westwood of Evanston. The next was Deacon C. C. Ellis of Zion college. After Westwood was expelled Ellis took a vacation and handed in his resignation as he went to the train.

TRUE BILLS IN IROQUOIS CASE?

Grand Jury, It Is Said, Has Finished Investigation and May Have Voted Indictments.

The grand jury took no further evidence in the Iroquois theater cases yesterday, and it was reported that the matter was a closed incident, although State's Attorney Healy would not discuss it.

It was rumored persistently that new indictments have been voted against Will J. Davis, formerly senior manager of the ill fated theater, for involuntary manslaughter, and George Williams, building commissioner, and William Laughlin, deputy building inspector, for neglect of duty.

The inquisitors, it was said, had decided to return no bills against Thomas A. Noonan and James E. Cummings, treasurer and stage carpenter, respectively, but no definite statement was made.

TUMULT IN A CONVENTION

M'CABE GANG TRIES TO PREVENT PROCEEDINGS.

Police Finally Enforce Semblance of Order and Twentieth Ward Republicans Renominate Ald. Patterson by Vote of 108 to 4—"Indignation" Meeting Called by Followers of "Honest John" Results in Indorsement of the Winning Candidate.

Ald. James C. Patterson was renominated last night despite desperate efforts of followers of "Honest John" McCabe to break up the republican convention of the Twentieth ward. An "indignation meeting" called by McCabe followers in another hall resulted in a vote of indorsement for Patterson.

At the regular ward convention held on Feb. 15 it was announced that out of thirteen primary districts Ald. Patterson had carried eleven. That meeting was adjourned subject to call after the alderman had expressed a desire for a short campaign.

McCabe Crowd Causes Confusion.

The convention reassembled last evening at 756 West Madison street. When Chairman Benjamin F. Richolson tried to call the delegates to order he was greeted with catcalls and shouts from McCabe followers who had crowded into the hall. When the secretary started to read the minutes of the meeting of Feb. 15 a McCabe man advanced to the platform and seized the book, demanding that the proceedings be adjourned.

In the tumult that followed Chairman Richolson appealed to the policeman detailed in the hall, but with no result, the man in uniform apparently sympathizing with the McCabe element.

Telephone messages were sent to several police stations asking for help, and after a time a detail of police arrived under instructions to preserve order. Under conditions of semi-disorder the minutes were recovered and read and the ballot taken. It resulted 108 for Patterson to 4 for McCabe. McCabe originally had several more votes, but the delegates declared they would not stand by a man who resorted to such tactics.

"Indignation" Meeting Fails.

The "indignation meeting" had been called at 1010 West Harrison street for 8 o'clock, which was also the hour of the convention. The call said the meeting would be for "free expression and discussion of the conduct pursued in bringing in and voting repeaters from river wards in a desperate effort to thwart the will of the people of the neighborhood, who had selected delegates pledged to the nomination of John R. McCabe for alderman.

A handful of McCabe men and 200 Patterson men appeared in the hall. Discouraged, the McCabe supporters turned out the lights and said the meeting was adjourned. The Patterson men assembled in the street in front of the hall, chose A. W. Wellington chairman and A. W. Rogers secretary. Resolutions indorsing Mr. Patterson were passed with a shout.

Later in the evening there was a series of meetings of McCabe men in the saloons of the neighborhood. The largest gathering chose Frank J. Suite for chairman and appointed a committee headed by E. D. Powell to undertake to contest the nomination of Mr. Patterson.

SMALL, LOUD VOICED TWINS STIR UP "CHILDLESS" FLATS.

George W. Dickerson, 213 Chicago Avenue, Wants a Policeman to Hear Wailings of the Little Gurneys.

Because twins came last Friday to cheer the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gurney there is trouble in the flat building at 213 Chicago avenue. George W. Dickerson, a restaurant keeper at 174 State street, who occupies adjoining apartments, complained to the police yesterday that the little Gurneys persisted in crying nights and kept him from sleeping. Dickerson wanted a policeman to visit him and listen to the wailing.

Dickerson asserted that all the tenants moved in with the agreement that no "young" children were to be allowed in the flat building. For a time the Gurney and Dickerson families were warm friends, but the arrival of the strong lunged twins made trouble.

"One rests while the other cries, and sometimes they cry duets," complained Dickerson. "Then the parents sing to quiet them."

The problem proved a knotty one for Chief O'Neill. Admitting an agreement that no young children should be permitted in the flats, would the arrival of the twins after their parents already were tenants constitute a violation?

"Anyway, it is none of my business," said the chief.

STARTS HIS PUPILS SMOKING.

Prof. Starr of University of Chicago Experimenting with New Substitute for Tobacco.

A new substitute for tobacco has been introduced at the University of Chicago by Prof. Starr of the department of anthropology.

The professor has been experimenting with members of his class and has kept the result a secret. The tobacco substitute is known, however, to be some kind of dried plant brought from Mexico.

It is reported the substitute has a strange effect upon the eyes of the smoker, making him unable to see what is going on around him.

"There is nothing harmful about the weed," said Prof. Starr. "It has unusual effects, which I do not wish to have made public until I have completed my experiments."

STRANGE GIRL DECOYS CHILD.

Loretto Kirnen, 5 Years Old, Stopped on Way to Kindergarten and Led Away.

While on her way to a kindergarten school yesterday morning Loretto Kirnen, aged 5 years old, 3819 Wabash avenue, was met by an older girl, who decoyed her to the west side. There the stranger wrote a note which Loretto says contained the words, "Give me $5 and I'll pay you back this afternoon," sealed it, and sent the child with instructions to give it to the "lady in the store."

The storekeeper called a policeman, who took the little girl to the Desplaines street station.

Search was made for the older girl, who disappeared as soon as she sent the child into the store, but she could not be found.

MURDERER'S BODY TAKEN EAST.

Brother and Cousin of Policeman Herman Leave Chicago in Evening for Drayton, Ontario.

The body of Policeman Daniel C. Herman, who killed Miss Minnie C. Mulveil and then committed suicide on Monday, was taken to Drayton, Ont., where his parents live, last night.

Jeremiah Herman, a brother, and George M. Cox, a cousin, came to Chicago from Detroit in the afternoon and took the body.

The funeral services for Miss Mulveil will be held at 10 o'clock this morning in St. James' Roman Catholic church, and the burial will be at Calvary. Her will, which, it is said, provides for contributions to charitable work, will be opened after the services.

NEW WAR AGAINST COCAINE.

State Pharmacy Board Tries "Second Offense" Provision of Law, Beginning with Louis Re.

Marking a new development in the crusade to check the sale of cocaine, the state board of pharmacy yesterday began suit for $5,000 against Louis Re, proprietor of the National Drug company, 430 Dearborn street. The suit is under the statute governing "second offenses" against the pharmacy law.

PUTS GREENBERG OUT OF BUSINESS.

North Town Democratic Convention Denounces the Notorious Constable.

MEETS IN BRAND'S HALL.

City Sealer Quinn, in Charge, Has Ticket Making Left to Committee.

Constable Louis Greenberg, the notorious, will not be renominated by the democrats. James Aloysius Quinn, city sealer, attended to that last evening. Greenberg's only hope of a further license to serve writs after his own peculiar way is to get the republican nomination, and that chance is too slight to consider.

The north town democratic convention met in Brand's hall at 8 o'clock. Mr. Quinn was there, as were 138 delegates. As to practical results, the delegates might as well have staid away as long as Mr. Quinn remained. He detained them only fifteen minutes, however.

"I am directed by the county central committee to call this convention to order," said Mr. Quinn, "and nominations for temporary chairman and secretary are now in order."

"Move that James A. Quinn be chairman and James Callahan secretary—all in favor say aye—the ayes have it," responded William Timlin, and the city sealer was master of the situation.

Quinn Made Permanent Chairman.

"I move a committee of three on permanent organization be appointed by the chair," went on Mr. Timlin, and as soon as Chairman Quinn could put this he declared it carried and Mr. Timlin was named as chairman of the committee. It took just long enough to walk to the rear of the hall to frame a resolution that the temporary organization be made permanent and Mr. Timlin so announced.

"Put the motion yourself," said Mr. Quinn with becoming modesty, which Mr. Timlin did and told the convention Mr. Quinn was the permanent chairman.

"Resolutions are in order," was the chairman's next announcement, and one was sent in authorizing him to name a committee of three to select candidates for constable.

"Are there any objections?" he asked. None was heard and then Mr. Quinn ordered a roll call. In fact he had a roll call on every proposition afterwards submitted, including the motion to adjourn. Mr. Quinn is nothing if not parliamentary, especially when he is sure of the majority back of him.

Greenberg Formally Denounced.

After William Quinn, brother of the chairman, and E. B. Capes and Herman Bowler, two friends on whom he always can depend, had been named as the nominating committee, Mr. Quinn innocently asked: "Are there any other resolutions?" and Secretary Callahan suddenly found the following, which rumor credits with having been dictated by Mr. Quinn himself:

Whereas, For the last eight years one Louis Greenberg, who, by his dastardly actions, has won for himself the unenviable title of "Notorious Louis Greenberg," has been holding the office of constable from said town; and,

Whereas, The said Louis Greenberg has by his administration of said office and by his utter disregard for the law in the performance of his duties brought the said office into disrepute; and,

Whereas, The said Louis Greenberg has earned for himself an unsavory reputation for his cruel and illegal treatment of defendants, particularly women and children, and his unlawful attacks and seizures of property contrary to all law, thereby working unlimited hardships on the poor members of this community and wantonly submitting litigants to shameful and criminal treatment; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the delegates to the North Town convention, do hereby denounce the conduct of said Louis Greenberg as criminal in its nature, not justified by law, and not to be tolerated in any civilized community; and declare that men of his type should not receive any consideration at the hands of any democratic convention, and that we therefore further refuse the nomination of constable of the North Town to said Louis Greenberg.

Adopted Unanimously.

"I want to say the passage of this resolution is going to help the entire democratic ticket," remarked Mr. Quinn. "Call the roll." It was passed unanimously and then the chairman informed the other anxious aspirants for constabulary honors they would have a square deal and the ward committeemen would be all consulted before the committee made up the list.

"I am told," remarked Mr. Quinn afterwards, "that Greenberg offered $5,000 for the nomination. They say he made $42,000 during the last four years. I'll promise, however, he can't buy that committee, especially after the passage of those resolutions."

Greenberg had incited the other constables to attempt to control the meeting by saying they were to be refused nominations as well as himself. This was the reason for Mr. Quinn's precautions in organizing it.

HUMMEL WILL HANDLE FUNDS.

City Treasurer Is Designated as Custodian of Money Contributed to Democratic Cause.

Ernst Hummel, city treasurer, has been designated as the custodian of the funds to be collected for the democratic campaign. The executive committee announced yesterday he expects only voluntary contributions to the cause, but it is not understood there is any penalty if he should go out on a collecting tour and gather in what odd change his friends may have forgotten to send in. Mr. Hummel is a brewer, and the brewing interesets are expected to do something to help along the Dunne campaign.

The democrats are planning a series of ward meetings between now and registration day, the larger gatherings to be held afterwards. The first will be held in the Thirty-fourth ward, Dewey hall, Twelfth street and Fortieth avenue, tonight. William F. Dillon is to preside, and all the candidates on the city ticket except Judge Dunne will be there.

A West Side German-American Nonpartisan Dunne club was organized yesterday. August Pfaff is president and Charles Bickard secretary.

WANT NO TRACTION AID.

REPUBLICANS REPLY TO INSINUATIONS OF OPPONENTS.

Harry Gordon Selfridge, Organizer of Business Men's Harlan Committee, Announces That No Campaign Contributions Will Be Accepted from the Street Railways or Other Public Utility Corporations—Mayoralty Candidate Will Speak Tonight.

In reply to the insinuations of the democrats that traction money will be found behind the republican canvass in the city campaign, Harry Gordon Selfridge, organizer of the business men's auxiliary Harlan committee, declared yesterday that no campaign contributions would be accepted from the street railways or other public utility corporations.

The indications are that the ethics of campaign contributions is likely to play a part in the municipal election somewhat reminiscent of the Cortelyou incident in the national contest. The democrats, at least, would have it so, according to the developments of yesterday. Chairman Frank Wenter of Judge Dunne's campaign committee would make Mr. Selfridge the Cortelyou of the situation.

"When the republicans make the statement that they are not going to accept money from the corporations," he said, "it is contradictory, to say the least, to appoint a man at the head of their fund raising committee who is so closely identified with some of the traction magnates."

Chairman Wenter connects Mr. Selfridge with the traction magnates through his former association with Marshall Field.

Selfridge Outlines the Situation.

"In the raising of campaign funds," said Mr. Selfridge, when told of Mr. Wenter's remarks, "the business men's committee will follow the instructions of the executive committee of the central republican organization. But I am authorized, however, to say that no contributions will be solicited or accepted from the traction companies or other public utility concerns or from any persons exclusively identified with those interests. The republicans intend to conduct this campaign on lines which cannot be questioned by the most critical."

Mr. Selfridge spent the day rounding up the citizens who have volunteered to act on the committee. As soon as he has talked with all of them a meeting will be called for the purpose of organization, after which other names will be added until the limit of 150 is reached. The headquarters probably will be in the First National Bank building.

Harlan Is to Speak Tonight.

The speaking campaign will be inaugurated tonight by Mr. Harlan at the North Side Turner hall, in his own ward. Here he will make an extended reply to the position assumed on immediate municipal ownership by the democratic convention.

The executive committee of the central organization met and called a meeting of the entire county committee for Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Beside the committeemen there will be present all of the presidents and secretaries of the ward clubs. The purpose of the meeting is to present to the active workers Mr. Harlan and his colleagues on the ticket. The plans for the appearances of the candidates in the wards will be discussed.

Deneen Will Be a Star Speaker.

Chairman Reddick announced plenty of speakers in sight for the campaign from the stump. Gov. Deneen is promised as the star of the last week of the contest. No outside speakers are to be invited on account of the strictly local nature of the issues, and the governor is to be asked to speak not as chief executive of the state but as a Chicagoan. Congressmen Foss, Boutell, and Mann and Ald. Bennett, Foreman, and Eidmann will be other stars on the bills.

BIG ALLIANCE OF FARMERS PLANNED BY CHICAGO MAN.

Union of Middle West Agriculturists Greater than Old Grange Movement Started in Iowa by H. H. Carr.

Des Moines, Ia., March 1.—[Special.]—H. H. Carr of the Chicago board of trade has launched a big organization for farmers. He proposes to organize the states of the middle west by school districts, townships, and counties.

The scheme is to have the farmers sell their grain and live stock direct to the Chicago market and also to unite the farmers in fighting the beef trust, the railroads, and for political purposes. The first step was taken at Somers, Ia., where a branch was started with W. H. Latspeich as president and T. F. Moore as secretary.

The promoters of the movement promise it will be more far reaching than the old grange movement. It is said that the organizations will aid in fighting the Standard Oil trust by agreeing to use only the oil furnished by independent concerns.

SAYS HIS WIFE "HELD HANDS" DURING A GAME OF CARDS.

Joseph F. Crider, One of the Players, Makes Allegation in Defending Suit for Separate Maintenance.

Charges that his wife "held hands" under the table with a man while they were playing cards were made yesterday by Joseph F. Crider, assistant superintendent of the Racine Boat company, in defending a suit for separate maintenance begun by Mrs. Rose M. Crider in Judge Brentano's court. The witness was in the game.

Mrs. Crider told of having her head bumped against the floor by her husband and said that once one of her children found a shirtwaist button and Crider said "his girl" had lost it. He kept it for a souvenir.

The Criders' six children, all girls, were in the courtroom during the hearing.

Dr. Kollscher Is Denied Divorce.—Judge Kavanagh refused to grant a divorce to Dr. Gustave Kollscher, who lives at the Chicago Beach hotel. His wife, Mrs. Elisa Gruber Kollscher, who lives in Vienna, filed a cross bill charging that her husband had squandered her dowry of $21,000 on the races. She had obtained a decree of separate maintenance in Austria and the court decided this disposed of the charge of desertion. The alimony question will be argued next Tuesday.

Orders Inventory of "Heirlooms."—Judge Brentano ordered that an inventory be taken of the "heirlooms" claimed by Mrs. Edith R. Charter, the divorced wife of James A. Charter, and the property is to remain at the Chicago Beach hotel until the court decides as to its disposition.

CASH SHORT: MAN ARRESTED.

John J. Mayberry, Local Manager for Equitable Marine and Fire Insurance Company, Accused.

"Careless mixing" of his private funds with those of the Equitable Marine and Fire Insurance company is assigned by John J. Mayberry, recently Chicago manager for the company, as the principal cause leading up to his arrest on Tuesday on the charge of embezzlement.

"There appears to be a shortage," said Mayberry at his residence, 5051 Forrestville avenue, yesterday. "I'm sure I can't tell how it happened. I live within my means, I do not gamble—either with cards or in bucket shops.

"The books are jumbled," he added, "but there is nothing criminal in my actions."

"Mayberry is talking nonsense," said J. E. Paden, attorney for the company. "His books have been gone over carefully, and they show a shortage of nearly $6,000."

PRIMARY BILL TO PASS TODAY

Republicans Beat Democrats at Every Turn and Put in Their Substitute.

DENOUNCED BY RIVALS.

Dougherty Takes a Rap at Judge Carter and Says People's Will Is Thwarted.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., March 1.—[Special.]—Unless something unforeseen happens, the house will pass the primary law bill tomorrow morning. With skillful maneuvering on the part of the republican leaders the amended bill was substituted for the original this morning and sent to third reading.

The democrats, endeavoring to substitute a bill providing for plurality nominations, were given a roll call and beaten. In every attempt they made to secure amendments to the bill agreed on in the republican caucus they were defeated, and the republican majority worked easily and smoothly.

Raps Judge Carter Severely.

The debate over the measure was neither exceedingly heated nor exceedingly long, but it will be remembered because of one sentence in the speech of Representative Dougherty, the democratic member selected to offer the democratic substitute and defend it oratorically.

Dougherty took up the recent referendum vote of the people in favor of direct primaries and the statement of Judge Carter still more recently before the house committee that the people did not know exactly what they were voting for when they declared in favor of direct primaries.

"Then comes Carter," said Dougherty, "and with one fell swoop of his jaw declares 600,000 voters of Illinois are imbeciles, and appointed the state legislature their custodian without bond."

Republicans Stick to Plans.

Neither Dougherty's eloquent protests nor the parliamentary tactics of other democrats had any effect on the republicans. They had their plans and they stuck to them, not even replying to the arguments of democrats who opposed the bill, alleging it to be a "boss" measure. It would have been easy to retort that the democratic proposition was the real boss measure.

Representative Rinaker called up the original bill on first reading, and the clerk took three-quarters of an hour in getting through it. As soon as it had been read Rinaker offered the amended bill as a substitute and the clerk started to read it, another three-quarters of an hour being occupied generally by the members in reading papers. The amended bill had just been rushed in from the printer.

Laugh at Dougherty's Protests.

As soon as the reading of the amended bill was finished Dougherty offered the democratic substitute, and was given a chance to talk. He pointed out what democrats consider the defects of the bill, including the provision which bars out parties receiving less than 10 per cent of the total vote of the state, the fact that the vote for United States senator is not binding on anybody, the provision allowing any ten petitioners the right to have a challenger at the polls, and the provision for the appointment of judges.

"Can you go back to your constituents with such a bill?" he shouted to the republicans.

"Sure," they replied, jovially.

"Can you face them?" he shouted again.

"You bet," the republicans yelled back.

"If the people don't punish you for it they are unworthy of the privileges they enjoy," replied Dougherty. "You have slapped the people in the mouth, and have called them idiots who did not know what they were doing when they voted for direct primaries.

Makes Attack on Governor.

"I am told that this bill is the pet measure of a man not connected with the house, of one who has only to approve or disapprove of the actions of this legislature. It is one of the dangers of this country that executive officers endeavor through their patronage to muzzle legislatures."

Dougherty's substitute went into oblivion by a vote of 89 to 54, it being a strict party vote, the socialists and prohibitionists voting with the democrats and McCaskrin, the independent, with the republicans.

Smile Recorded as "Aye."

Allen is recorded as voting with the rest of the republicans to defeat the democratic measure. He took a cigar out of his mouth and smiled. The clerk recorded "aye," saying he caught the sound. Allen says the clerk got the right idea.

Then the democrats started parliamentary tactics to secure amendments to the measure. Gray raised the point that in tabling the democratic substitute the republicans had sent the whole matter with it, and read extensively from various rules of order, after which Speaker Shurtleff called his attention to a special rule of the Illinois legislature which covered the question in point.

McGoorty endeavored to amend by adding the provision that intention to become a candidate should not be declared more than thirty days before the primaries, the provision in the bill being that he had to declare it at least thirty days before. This was ruled out of order and Rinaker explained that nothing could prevent a man from being a candidate five years in advance if he wanted to.

Burke wanted to change the time of opening the polls from 7 o'clock in the morning to 6, but this was voted down. McGoorty wanted to reconsider the vote by which the substitute bill was adopted for the original bill, but he was asked if he had voted for the substitution, and on being reminded that this was a parliamentary requirement he sat down.

Democratic Opposition Settled.

That settled the democratic opposition to the measure. From that side of the house it had been protested that no time had been given for consideration of the measure, but that was ineffective, it being explained that the amended bill is not vastly different from the original which had been before the house for some time.

At the adjournment the speaker called all the committee clerks before him and they were put at work on the amended bill. This makes it almost certain that the bill will be engrossed and ready for third reading tomorrow morning, in which case it is sure of passage.

HOUSE LIKE AN ACROBAT.

POLITICS AND JUSTICE PLAY TAG IN ELECTION CONTESTS.

Representatives Vote to Use Stead Method in Counting Ballots in One Case and Hamlin System in Another—Oust McCluskey, a Democrat, and Try to Drop Bowles—More Trouble in Sight—McCaskrin Fight Is Due Soon.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., March 1.—[Special.]—Politics and justice played tag with each other in the house this afternoon at the session to settle the election contests, and when adjournment was taken in the evening no one knew which one was "it."

The members side stepped and went around in circles and up dark alleys. A fine exhibition of ground and lofty tumbling was given by the democratic members, while the republicans walked a tight rope, it being an even bet as to which side they would fall on.

Opinion of Stead to Be Ignored.

The result thus far is that the Wilson-Bowles contest has been referred back to the election committee with instructions to recount the ballots in accordance with the Chicago method and the opinion of former Attorney General Hamlin, and to ignore the opinion of Attorney General Stead. Lee O'Neill Brown, the contestant in La Salle county, has been given the seat occupied by Representative McCluskey, who goes back to his district. The McCaskrin and Cooke contest of Rock Island will come up soon, possibly tomorrow, although Representative Dailey says it may not be reported out until next week.

Another result is that the republicans are accusing the democrats of having Broken faith, and in this charge there is some hope for McCaskrin. Representative Dailey, a republican and chairman of the election contest committee, who had signed his name to the majority report to unseat McCaskrin, took it off and put it on the minority report tonight after the democratic action in the house this afternoon.

Railroads After McCaskrin.

A display of fireworks is expected when the McCaskrin case comes up for settlement. Additional interest is attached to this case because McCaskrin broke into legislative work as a full fledged railroad reformer, with a 2 cent a mile fare bill and a resolution to investigate the railroad and warehouse commissioners. The railroads have been credited with a desire to make a shining example of the independent member for this reason.

When any one attempts to get into the intricacies of these election cases he immediately becomes lost in a heavy fog, loses his way, and brings up against a dead wall, representing an opinion given by somebody sometime.

Allen Swears an Outsider.

Operating in this fog, the house was lost today. The star feature of the proceedings was when Representative Allen arose and declared he wanted to know the truth in the matter relating to the Wilson-Bowles case. On being informed that a man not a member of the house had some information, he secured permission from the house to administer the oath to him and question him then and there.

"I am a notary public and can administer an oath," said Allen, and he did.

Representative Dailey started the ball rolling at the afternoon session, which was held especially to wind up election contests. He handed in a report recommending that Alonzo E. Wilson, the prohibition candidate for the house in the Will and Dupage county district, be given the seat occupied by Representative Bowles, a democrat of Joliet. The Stead opinion, which reverses the Chicago law in regard to cumulative voting, affected this case little, but the question arose as to whether or not some votes had been thrown out which under the Chicago method would have been counted for Bowles.

Democrats Break a Compact.

A compact had been entered into between the republicans and the democrats that in all cases Stead's opinion should be upheld, and at this point the democrats broke the compact. Bowles made a little talk in which he said he bowed to the will of the house, much as he disliked the report, and pointed out what he considered the injustice of it. Then Representative McGoorty submitted a motion that the case be sent back to the committee with instructions to follow the opinion of former Attorney General Hamlin on cumulative voting, this being along the lines in effect in Chicago.

The democrats thereupon were accused of having broken the promise to stand by Stead's opinion and were told that when the question was between Cooke, a democrat, and McCaskrin, an independent, and when the opinion would seat the democrat they were anxious enough to adopt it. In fact, the opinion had been adopted in the committee by votes of the democrats, but this bit of inconsistency did not embarrass the democrats and they hammered away on the proposition to refer the matter back to the committee.

The eloquent members of the house were aroused and a season of speechmaking followed for two hours. Then it was time to vote on the proposition to put the McGoorty motion on the table.

Protests at Allen's Action.

Representative Allen, the first on the roll call, arose with a question to learn whether enough ballots had been thrown out, following the opinion of Stead, to change the results. No member of the house knew, but it was suggested that Robert Patten, the prohibition candidate for governor and attorney for Wilson, might know, and was in the house.

"Let him get up and I'll swear him," said Allen. "I'm a notary public."

There were protests, but the house consented. Representative Shanahan muttering objections all the time Allen was going through the form of swearing Patten, who testified some votes had been thrown out under the ruling. He did not know how many.

This settled the question with Allen, and he voted with the democrats, as did enough republicans to defeat the motion to table the matter. The vote was 71 to 61.

House Adopts Both Rulings.

Then the motion to refer the contest back to the committee was carried by a rising vote of 71 to 60, and the house had overruled the opinion of Attorney General Stead.

Having taken this action in the Wilson-Bowles case and upset the Stead opinion, the house took up the Brown-McCluskey contest and applied the Stead ruling. In this case the democrats were divided, the Craig following voting for McCluskey, who had voted for the plan in caucus, and the Tippit men voting for Brown, who was seated by a vote of 83 to 43.

FIND BOMB IN PARK PLAN.

DISMAY FOR CHICAGO REAL ESTATE MEN IN SPRINGFIELD.

Dixon and Lundberg Measures Afford Surprising Features to Delegation—Dixon Bill Provides for Issuance of $8,000,000 Bonds for Improvements if South Town Voters Indorse It—Other Scheme Gives Boards Authority to Levy 3 Mill Tax.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., March 1.—[Special.]—Chicago real estate men in Springfield in the interest of the new revenue bill discovered two bombs in their camp today, and found to their dismay that both were about ready to explode. The result has been some of the liveliest scurrying about that has been seen here this session.

They discovered that there is in the hands of the governor the Dixon bill, allowing the park boards to issue bonds up to the amount of $8,000,000 if they care to and can get the sanction of voters in the different park districts. They allege they have discovered that the south park board has the advertisement written asking for bids for $2,500,000 additional bonds as soon as the governor has signed this bill.

They discovered that the Lundberg bill, providing an additional mill park tax, has passed the senate and is on first reading in the house. They discovered by personal conference with Gov. Deneen that he favors both bills and is about to sign them.

They estimate that these two bills will put $475,000 additional taxes on the property owners of the south park district, and their hair nearly turned gray. The best they could do was to tell Gov. Deneen that they would arrange a conference with the south park board for tomorrow and would let him know the result of it by 5 o'clock.

Drop Revenue Talk.

The real estate men here are Charles B. Richards, L. A. Seeberger, W. W. Baird, and W. A. Bond. They came down to talk revenue bills with the charter committees, but they dropped that as soon as they disovered the bond and tax bills in their present condition.

In the first place they found that the bond bill allowing park boards to issue bonds without restriction and without limit, providing they came within the 5 per cent limit, was in the hands of the governor. When they found out what it provided, they charged that it had been passed by trickery and deceit, and declared that the legislature did not know what it was doing when it took favorable action on the matter.

Senator Dixon introduced the bill in the senate and, after it had been passed there and sent to the house, Representative David Shanahan asked that it be advanced without reference, and explained the reasons.

Intended to Remedy Defects.

The bill was represented as legislation intended merely to remedy defects. In this respect the real estate men say deceit was used, as it was not shown that an additional issue of bonds was sought.

They went in haste to Gov. Deneen as soon as they got their bearings to learn what he intended to do about it. On the way they ran into Attorney Hollitt, representing the south park board, who has been working the bills through. They carried him along with them, and the session before the governor was described afterwards as having been a warm one.

The only consolation Gov. Deneen gave them was that while he favored the bill he did not believe that the power to issue bonds should go to such lengths, and that he believed in proper restrictions.

"Don't you admit," the governor said, "that under the law passed two years ago the south park board could issue up to the constitutional limit?"

The real estate men admitted that such was the case.

"Can they do more under this bill?" asked the governor.

They admitted that they could not, but said that the Supreme court might declare the Lundberg law of two years ago unconstitutional.

"Then you want to invalidate the bond issues," commented the governor, "and stop the park extension in which we on the south side are interested."

Shanahan and Dixon were in the governor's office during the conference, and both objected to the remarks which had been made regarding their motives. Shanahan produced a copy of the statement he had made to the house in explaining the bill. The statement that deceit has been used to pass the bill was denied, and the real estate men were asked to withdraw it.

Real estate men admit that their case looks dark, and that there is strong prospect for both bills to become laws.

MAY CUT APPROPRIATIONS

SAD NEWS FOR MANY ILLINOIS INSTITUTIONS.

Representative Trautmann, Chairman of Committee, Sends Out Letter Informing Those Interested That Because of Yates' Vetoes at Last Session There May Have to Be Some Unwarranted Pruning at This Session.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., March 1.—[Special.]—Sad news for appropriation seekers, as well as a bit of politics, is contained in letters which Representative Trautmann, chairman of the appropriations committee, is sending out all over the state. The first batch of 100 have gone, and more are to go.

Because of the fact that ex-Gov. Yates, when in office, according to the Trautmann letter, vetoed $1,000,000 worth of appropriations made by the legislature for necessary state improvements and repairs, it will be necessary for the present legislature to add this sum of $1,000,000 to the omnibus appropriation bill for this year.

To this $1,000,000 increase in appropriations, made necessary by the Yates vetoes, another $1,000,000 will have to be added because of the natural increase in state expenses year by year.

For these two reasons, Trautmann explains to persons and institutions seeking appropriations, Gov. Deneen's administration is confronted with the necessity of exercising the utmost care in handling state money.

Must Take Less Money.

Therefore, Mr. Trautmann informs his correspondents that it will be required of state institutions that they worry along with smaller appropriations than they think they should have. He reminds them that when they find themselves pinched for lack of money and inclined to blame the appropriations committee and the present administration they must not do so but must remember that the last administration forced this condition by its attempts at economy, thus unloading the burden on the shoulders of the one following.

The letters are from Trautmann personally and not understood to carry the ideas of Gov. Deneen on the subject. Mr. Trautmann may have argued that Gov. Deneen will be obliged to any kind friend who makes such an explanation for him, but the governor does not figure in the letter and probably does not know that Trautmann had sent them out.

Mr. Trautmann has not been counted as a friend of ex-Gov. Yates, and is supposed to believe that the influence of the former governor helped to defeat his speakership aspirations. Mr. Yates will be a candidate for United States senator, and Mr. Trautmann's letter is not calculated to help these aspirations along.

Vetoes Are Remembered.

Yates' vetoes of appropriation bills last session are well remembered, especially down state, and the former governor during his primary campaign last spring took credit to himself for the saving he had made for the state, referring particularly to his vetoes of appropriations for repairs on the statehouse and the executive mansion.

The committee is now at work on the omnibus bill. This afternoon the delegation from the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs was before the committee to secure a $5,000 appropriation for traveling libraries. The women were represented by Mrs. Frake, president of the state federation, and Mrs. Everett of Highland Park. Mrs. Everett explained that the state federation had been maintaining traveling libraries for many years, but that the work had reached a condition in which the women should not be asked to carry it along without funds or state aid, and asked the state to take over the plan as it now stands.

Florists also are before the committee endeavoring to get a $30,000 appropriation for experiments in plants. The delegation consisted of Peter Reinberg, P. J. Hansworth, James Hartshorne, W. M. Rudd, George A. Kuhl, and J. Foley. Mr. Rudd explained that horticulture now represents a business producing $300,000 more than the fruit growers of the state. He said that seeds now imported from Germany could be raised by Illinois farmers if the state would experiment with the soil and tell the farmers how and where to raise them. He said farming in the state had about reached its climax, and some departure is necessary if an advance is to continue.

PASS LIE IN CANAL BOARD

DEBATE ARISES OVER POOLROOM IN DOWNER'S GROVE TOWN.

Trustee Smyth Offers Resolution Looking Toward Its Suppression, Braden Vigorously Opposes, and Secures Reference of Subject to Committee for Investigation—Place Said to Be Guarded by Double Stockade 14 Feet High, Dogs, and Armed Thugs.

A resolution that the drainage board take steps to close the big poolroom in Downer's Grove township was opposed vigorously by Trustee Braden yesterday, and as a result was referred to the committee on health and public order for investigation.

Mr. Braden asked Trustee Smyth, who presented the resolution, if he had ever visited the poolroom.

"Yes I did, and your appointee on the sanitary district police force was there to tip me and my men off to the managers of the poolroom," hotly replied Mr. Smyth.

"That is a lie," roared Braden.

"It is the truth, and I can tell you a few more things about the poolroom if you want to hear them," shouted Mr. Smyth.

Resolution Directed to County.

The resolution sets forth the existence of the poolroom since Nov. 25, declares it is visited by 800 to 1,000 persons daily, and asks the Du Page county authorities to suppress it, offering the cooperation of the sanitary district police.

In presenting it Trustee Smyth said:

"I think this board should act without delay. The poolroom is known as the 'Chicago Turf Exchange' and is half a mile from the western line of the sanitary district right of way. Under the law we have police jurisdiction one and a half miles on either side of our right of way, providing we cooperate with the local authorities. Under this provision we can close the room if asked to by either the county officers of Du Page county or the proper state officials.

"The police of the sanitary district have investigated the place and have proof which warrants the authorities in acting. When asked to close the place the Du Page county officials attempted to shift responsibility by declaring that it is located on drainage board property."

If the Du Page county officials decline to act the governor can be appealed to for relief.

Stockade and Pack of Dogs.

The report of Marshal Coen of the sanitary district police was written after an investigation lasting for several weeks. Attached to the report is a plat of the poolroom, showing two stockades fourteen feet high which surround it. In the space between the high fences are eight large dog houses, where thirty bloodhounds are kept to guard the place. Inside the building are the usual poolroom paraphernalia.

The Santa Fé runs three special trains to the poolroom daily and the patrons are admitted to the place through a covered chute which is under the eye of three lookouts every minute it is open. After the arrival of the last train the doors are locked and no person is permitted to leave until the first train returns to the city late in the afternoon.

Profits estimated at $300,000 are said to have been divided among a coterie of Chicago gamblers since the poolroom was opened. It is said that $5,000 a week is spent by the combination in obtaining protection.

GROCERS GIVE BALL TONIGHT.

South Side Retailers Will Dance After a Vaudeville Program in the Coliseum Annex.

The South Side Grocers and Marketmen's association will hold its annual ball tonight in the Coliseum Annex. It is expected that when the grand march forms, after a program of vaudeville specialties, 800 persons will be in line. The march will be led by D. P. Phillips, chairman of the arrangements committee, and Mrs. Phillips. "The annual ball is a welcome relief from routine hubbub of orders for soap, canned corn, and beefsteaks," Mr. Phillips said.

FLESH BUILDER

The liver of the cod fish produces oil that is a wonderful flesh builder. No fat or oil can compare with it in that respect. To get the best out of it, it must be emulsified and made like cream. In Scott's Emulsion it is prepared in the best possible form to produce the best possible results. Thirty years have proven this.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

CITIZENS, ATTENTION!

There is pending before the city council for Monday, March 6th, the new building ordinance, sections 1135 to 1140, regulating storage of gasoline and is dangerous to life and property. It removes the limit as to amount and distance, permits buildings to be erected in residence and business districts within a few inches of your homes without your consent, and to carry thousands of gallons of oil.

See your alderman at once and take your neighbor with you and insist on this being changed. Ordinance now in force compels buildings to be erected 100 feet away from any other building when a larger amount than 5 brls. is stored. The citizen should have something to say.

THE ATTEMPT TO CREATE LIFE.

It is announced from San Francisco that Prof. Jacques Loeb has made another long step forward in his experiments with living matter. As a result of his latest discovery he has arrived, it is said, "just at the threshold of his daring goal—the creation of life itself."

What Prof. Loeb has done is simply this: He has taken the ova, or female eggs, of the sea urchin and so effectively fertilized them by artificial means that they have developed into larvae having as high a degree of vitality as larvae developed from eggs fertilized in the natural way—that is, by the male sperm. He succeeded a few years ago, when at the University of Chicago, in fertilizing a fraction of 1 per cent of the sea urchin ova with which he experimented; but the larvae then developed were abnormal. He has now discovered a method, he says, whereby he can, in 90 cases in 100, develop normal larvae without the use of the male sperm.

It will be seen at once that, remarkable as is Prof. Loeb's discovery, he is far, indeed, from having created life. He had life to begin with. It was present in the ova. He merely caused the life that already existed to develop in a certain way. Before he can create life he must not only be able, by artificial means, to make the living ovum develop normally but he must be able, out of the materials in his laboratory, to make the living ovum itself. Physiologists are as yet far from able to do this. As a matter of fact, if Prof. Loeb took a living sea urchin's egg and ground it up, he could not, with all his attainments as a physiologist, make it what it was before. He could not restore the life he had destroyed, although he would have all the necessary materials to his hand.

But, while neither Prof. Loeb nor anybody else is yet near the solution of the great problem of life, many able scientists believe it is only a matter of time—a long time, doubtless—when this problem will be solved. Chemistry is gradually revealing all the components which enter into vegetable and animal matters and the proportions in which they enter into them. These scientists can see no reason, if all the components of these forms of matter are put together in the laboratory in the proper proportions and relations and under the proper conditions, why living protozoön, or even a living tree or man, should not come into being. Fire breaks out by spontaneous combustion when the conditions are favorable. Why should not life develop by spontaneous generation when all the conditions essential to it have been ascertained and brought to pass?

This is the view of the radical and enthusiastic school of physiologists and biologists. There is a conservative school whose members regard attempts to create life as a vain pursuit.

Investigations such as those of Prof. Loeb are not, however, to be deprecated or contemptuously spoken of because they seem unlikely to attain the great end aimed at. The alchemists did not succeed in making gold, but their experiments can hardly be said to have been barren, since they laid the foundations of modern chemistry.

BOOKLESS ILLINOISANS.

There are thirty-four counties in Illinois where there are no public libraries.

Of course Abraham Lincoln grew up without public libraries. Nicolay and Hay say that the only real books he could find to read were the bible, "Æsop's Fables," "Robinson Crusoe," "The Pilgrim's Progress," a history of the United States, and "Weems' Life of Washington." When he was a little bit older he walked many miles to get an English grammar, which he brought home and read with vivid interest. His intellectual destitution was evidently acute. But if Lincoln was produced without the aid of public libraries, is there any reason why there should be much public interest in the bill now before the state legislature for establishing traveling public libraries under state direction?

Well, Plato was produced without electric cars or telephones or stethoscopes. Great men there have always been and great men there will be always. The legislators who don't see the need of public libraries because they didn't have them when they were boys perhaps have less confidence than they ought to have in themselves. With the help of libraries there is no telling how far they might have developed. And Abraham Lincoln's career is an argument in favor of libraries and not against them. He searched diligently for books and never rested till he found them. He could have made use of a great many more if he could have laid hands on them. An experienced observer of men said of Stephen A. Douglas that there would have been no limit to his powers and no boundary to his political advancement if he had been a "hard student," which he was not. That was one of the many differences between him and Lincoln.

Outside of Chicago Illinois has an exceptionally large percentage of native American inhabitants. Yet many states which are peopled largely by immigrants have done more for the local diffusion of knowledge. Illinois has allowed both Wisconsin and Michigan to pull away from it in the development of great universities, although now under Dr. Edmund J. James the University of Illinois begins to take on the aspect of one of the great universities of the country. Illinois has also allowed twenty-two other states to take precedence of it in making state grants for the support of "libraries on wheels."

The Federation of Woman's Clubs has been maintaining some 300 such libraries, which have been running up and down the state in boxes carrying the opportunity for reading to communities where such an opportunity is rare. The Farmers' alliance has been doing the same kind of work on a smaller scale as far as the number of libraries is concerned. These two organizations are willing to transfer their books to the state provided the state is willing to do what so many other states have done and appropriate a small sum of money annually for a library department.

There is not much danger that many of us here in the west, where we have to work for our livings, will be inveigled by excessive library facilities into the condition of—

> The bookful blockhead, ignorantly read,
> With loads of learned lumber in his head.

We don't want to, and we can't, spend all our time reading books, but we do want to have books where we can get at them when we need them. There is many a young boy growing up in Illinois who hasn't the energy to hunt for knowledge that Lincoln had, but who will read books if they are put in his way. The library bill is a good bill.

BEER TRUST VS. WHISKY TRUST.

The canteen question is dividing all of us up into two parties, according to our relative fondness for beer or for whisky. The beer trust would be glad to have the canteen restored in the army posts. The canteen devotes itself to beer. It doesn't sell whisky. If the canteen were running again the soldiers of the United States would drink more beer. The beer trust therefore gets out and subsidizes a lot of congressmen and a lot of newspapers, including THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, and begins an agitation for repealing the anti-canteen law. This also is perfectly easy. Anybody can see it. The lawyers have a favorite phrase. It is "cui bono?" That is, in general, "For whose benefit is the thing being done?" In this case, clearly for the benefit of the beer trust.

But it is usually impossible to help anybody without injuring somebody else. The restoration of the canteen would help the beer trust. The abolition of the canteen has helped the whisky trust. At the canteen the soldier could drink only beer—not whisky. Now he makes his way to neighboring saloons of a low and vicious kind and is there served mainly with whisky. Army officers are almost unanimous on this point. The cheap resorts which have sprung into existence in the neighborhood of the army posts since the passage of the anti-canteen bill make a specialty of cheap whisky.

For whose benefit therefore was the anti-canteen law enacted? Obviously for the benefit of the whisky trust. And for whose benefit is the restoration of the canteen so vigorously opposed? Obviously, again, for the benefit of the whisky trust. The whisky trust has bought up the W. C. T. U. and the editors of the prohibition papers, notably Mr. Woolley. It's as clear as day. Nobody ever does anything for his health or because he believes in it. Cui bono? The lawyers know human nature. And they know why Mr. Woolley is so zealous for a policy which increases the receipts of the whisky trust.

Let us be frank. It's all a conflict between special interests. We happen to be for the beer trust. Mr. Woolley is for the whisky trust. We hate to talk in this way about the prohibitionists, but when they suggested that the beer trust was behind us we couldn't help seeing how they happened to think of such a thing and who was behind them. Their suggestion is really most valuable. It is a key to all human nature. Consider rural free mail delivery, for instance. It benefits the big mail order houses. And the people who oppose the extension of rural free mail delivery are all of them subsidized by the association of country retail merchants. It's just a conflict between the country merchant and the large city mercantile establishment, and we all line up according to our pay roll.

"We thank thee, Jew, for teaching us that word." Our unsophisticated intellect would never have divined it. We should never have understood why Mr. Woolley was against the canteen if he hadn't helped us out.

SEA LEVEL OR LOCK?

The recommendations which have been laid before the isthmian canal commission by its engineering committee, composed of Commissioners Burr, Parsons, and Davis, differ radically from those which have been made by most engineers who in the past have traversed the same ground. The committee, whose verdict evidently is largely due to the influence of Chief Engineer Wallace, declares for a sea level canal. This is the first time that any body of men who were competent to form an opinion, and who had carefully investigated the subject, have pronounced in favor of a sea level canal at Panama.

The government of Colombia in 1878 granted to Lieut. Lucien N. B. Wyse and others a concession to construct a canal across the isthmus. The next year an international congress composed of 135 delegates, eleven being from the United States, was held at Paris under the auspices of Count Ferdinand de Lesseps, builder of the Suez canal. This congress, without thoroughly looking into the matter, favored the construction at Panama of a sea level canal without locks. Lesseps estimated such a canal could be built in eight years at a cost of $127,000,000. But the work of digging had not progressed far before it was discovered that Lesseps and his congress had enormously underestimated the difficulties to be overcome. In 1887 Lesseps gave up the plan of a sea level canal and decided to construct one above sea level and having locks. Two years later the old French Panama Canal company, after having spent $246,000,000, a large portion of which was used for purposes of corruption, went into the hands of a receiver.

Under the receivership a commission of eleven French and foreign engineers, headed by Gen. Guillemain, investigated conditions at Panama, and in 1890 recommended the construction of a canal with locks. On the formation of the new French Panama Canal company in 1894 another commission of fourteen engineers, including Germans, Englishmen, and Americans, was appointed to make another investigation. This commission made an elaborate report in 1898. It estimated that a canal with locks could be built sixty feet above sea level in ten years for $101,850,000. It recommended that a canal should be constructed at this altitude.

The first American commission to investigate the subject was appointed in 1899, being composed of Admiral Walker, chairman; Cols. Hains and Ernst, army engineers; Messrs. George S. Morrison, William H. Burr, and Alfred Noble, former United States Senator Samuel Pasco, and Profs. Lewis M. Haupt and Emory R. Johnson. This commission, which reported in November, 1901, also favored a canal with locks if built at Panama. It proposed a waterway which, for a long distance, should lie eighty-five feet above sea level. The estimated cost of construction was $144,000,000; the estimated time, ten years.

The engineering committee of the present canal commission concedes that the construction of a sea level canal will be a great deal more expensive than would that of a canal with locks. It estimates that the former, if built according to the plans which it submits, will cost $230,500,000. It thinks, however, the work of construction may be finished in ten or twelve years—almost, if not quite, as speedily as it has been estimated a canal with locks could be built. Regarding this point there are wide variances of opinion. One of the ablest and most widely known engineers in the United States informs THE TRIBUNE that in his judgment—and he has studied the subject thoroughly—a sea level canal cannot be built in less than twenty years. When experts differ thus, untutored laymen, including members of congress, who are the court of dernier resort, are likely to have some difficulty in making up their minds wisely.

DR. LOEB should not be sparing of his chemicals. It has been the opinion of thoughtful persons for a long time that the existing breeds of sea urchins needed improving.

BAT MASTERSON disappointed the New Yorkers. He entered the city quietly, instead of riding up and down Broadway on a wild mustang, whooping, yelling, and shooting. He has surprised them still further by admitting that there are no notches on his gun.

AN eastern college freshman, who was seriously hurt while being hazed, has brought suit against the college for heavy damages. A few strong doses of this kind of medicine will cure the hazing disease.

MISGUIDED philanthropists are trying to secure a pardon for Jesse Pomeroy, the "boy fiend," who is serving a life sentence for murder. Some people are never satisfied with letting well enough alone.

AT last accounts Battling Oyama was in his adversary's corner, and was mixing it up fiercely.

THOSE who are clamoring for the investigation of the tobacco trust should remember that the case of the beef trust has not been disposed of yet. Necessities first, gentlemen; luxuries afterward.

CLOSE observers of Mayor Weaver of Philadelphia report little if any improvement in his spiritual condition.

CONCERNING which, however, it is to be observed that some mayors are past praying for.

THIRSTY voters are taking some encouragement from the report that Capt. Anson has a glass arm.

IF it turns out that there is a difference in sea levels on the two sides of the isthmus of Panama, as has been intimated, what then?

DR. JACQUES LOEB might confer a more lasting favor upon humanity if he could find some chemical agent capable of conveying to the brain of the hen the impression that it is time for her to begin laying.

ONE of the latest stories concerning John D. Rockefeller is that he is about to build a new home. If you do, Mr. Rockefeller, don't move into it. At your age it would be tempting fate.

THE problem is how to get into any sort of relations with Santo Domingo without getting "badly stuck" on the country.

THE czar would give several of the best provinces in Manchuria and Corea to know how to cure that restless feeling in Poland.

IN A MINOR KEY.

Shattering an Illusion.

The elderly passenger in the street car, who was not so well preserved as he thought he was, arose and offered his seat to the young woman who was standing in the aisle.

"O, no, thank you," she said. "I couldn't think of depriving an old gentleman of his seat."

"You mean it kindly, miss," rejoined the elderly passenger, sitting down again, "but I'd rather you had chloroformed me."

Liked the Sound of It.

Investigator—"But when you fellows have succeeded in getting the initiative and referendum, the imperative mandate, government ownership, and all that sort of thing, what will you demand next?"

Reformer—"Well, I see the Russians are demanding the zemski sobor. I don't know exactly what that means, but it sounds good, and we'll probably want it."

Likewise Profitable.

The great contralto sent her private secretary to the bank to deposit another check for $5,000.

"Ah, yes," she mused, toying with the diamonds on her shapely fingers, "a low, soft voice is an excellent thing in woman!"

Omissions of History.

It was shortly before the battle of Trafalgar.

The war correspondent who had been admitted to the presence of the great English admiral could not repress a start of surprise at his diminutive stature.

"I see you are disappointed in my appearance," remarked his lordship, with a smile. "You must remember I am not Battling Nelson. I am only Admiral Nelson."

Struggling to conceal his chagrin, the war correspondent hastened to ask him if there was any late news from Admiral Rojestvensky.

Only a Temporary Failing.

Terwilliger—"How is that nephew of yours turning out?"

Jeroloman—"He does it altogether too much. When he has been running his automobile a little longer he'll learn to keep right on and make the others turn out."

One of the Exceptions.

Teacher—"Tommy, you remember heat expands and cold contracts. Can you give me a familiar example?"

Tommy Tucker—"Paw says it works just the other way with his coal bills, ma'am."

"No; but they seem to vote quite frequently in some sections," commented the practical person.—Houston Chronicle.

LETTER OF MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

Copyright: 1905: By the Marquise de Fontenoy.

It is not Prince Lucien, but Prince Napoleon Murat, who has been wounded while taking part as a Russian cavalry officer in the successful raid of Gen. Rennenkampf near Haicheng, and it is of interest to recall the fact that he has American blood in his veins, being the grandson of that Princess Lucien Murat who, prior to her marriage, was Miss Caroline Fraser of Philadelphia, her marriage to Prince Lucien taking place at Bordentown, N. J.

The Prince Lucien who has just been wounded is, therefore, a great-grandson of that King Joachim Murat who, starting life as the hostler of a village inn, occupied for a time the throne of Naples. The prince served for several years as a lieutenant of French cuirassiers, but was obliged to resign his commission at the time when the law was passed withdrawing from members and relatives of the formerly reigning houses of France the privilege of serving under the French flag.

At the outbreak of the present war between Russia and Japan he tendered his sword to the czar and was appointed captain of the Second regiment of Daghestan cavalry. He speaks Russian without a trace of accent, which is not unnatural, seeing that his mother is a Russian, a member of the princely house of Gadian, and that his entire childhood was spent in Russia, where she has immense estates in the province of Mingrelia. His father bore the Christian name of Achille and in 1869 fought a memorable duel with Gen. the Marquis de Gallifet, which resulted in the latter being placed under arrest and temporarily relegated to the retired list.

Perhaps it may be of interest to add that the Murat family is allied with that of the first president of the United States, King Joachim Murat's eldest son, Achille, who during his father's reign was known as the crown prince of Naples, having married in this country Miss Caroline Dudley, grandniece of George Washington. She died in 1867, and like Princess Lucien Murat (née Fraser) was a Protestant.

Since the divorced Countess Russell, by marrying "en seconde noces" the English groom masquerading as a foreign prince, forfeited her prerogatives and status as a peeress of the realm, there has been no woman of that rank on the English stage. This omission is about to be repaired by the return to the footlights of the wife of Lord Haldon, who prior to becoming his wife spent several years in this country as an actress, part of the time under the name of Miss Miska and afterward as Mrs. D. F. Drew, the latter being the name of an American whom she married over here. It was as his widow that she wedded the present Lord Haldon some eight or nine years ago. Whereas formerly, however, she appeared before the footlights in London at Drury Lane theater under the management of Sir Augustus Harris, and at the Empire, and likewise was for a time a member of Sarah Bernhardt's company, she is now to make her début once more as the only peeress of the realm on the stage in a west end music hall in a comedy interlude by Arthur Branscombe. Lady Halden is compelled to adopt this means of livelihood for the sake of providing for her own support and for that of her boy, the future Lord Haldon, to which the father contributes nothing.

Lord Haldon is a singularly unfortunate member of the peerage. For at the time when he succeeded to his father's honors he was in jail at Pretoria, in South Africa, charged with two disreputable companions with endeavoring to defraud a man of the name of Cowie by offering him a parcel of glass crystals, alleging them to be diamonds. Ultimately he was acquitted on the ground that he was a tool rather than a confederate of the gang of swindlers with which he had associated himself, and that he was not primarily responsible for the attempted fraud.

Lord Haldon when arrested was acting as checker and conductor on the railroad at Pretoria, a position which, though humble, he had been exceedingly glad to get, as he had been literally starving when he received it. In fact, after being mustered out of the imperial yeomanry at the close of the Boer war, he had been for a time in a state of complete destitution at Johannesburg and Pretoria, dependent upon small gifts and loans of money.

Some years before succeeding to the title Lord Haldon placed himself in an unenviable position by raising money in London on a note which he had indorsed with the signature of his mother, who is wealthy in her own right. He wrote to her a letter informing her that, compelled by dire necessity, he had been obliged to put her name thereto. Although the note was for a comparatively small amount, which she could have easily paid, she preferred to produce her son's letter in court and make it public sooner than pay the money. No prosecution followed. But it was because there was a strong presumption in favor of the belief that the usurer who had discounted the note had been well aware at the time of the fact that the Dowager Lady Haldon's signature was fictitious and that he only let her son have the money with a view to being subsequently able to blackmail his family.

Lord Haldon is chief of the ancient Devonshire house of Palk, the members of which are portrayed by Thackeray under the name of "Porkers." The present peer is the third of his line. His father, the second baron, popularly known as "Piggy," spent the greater portion of his life in financial straits and repeatedly appeared in the bankruptcy court. He possessed one strange peculiarity that contributed not a little to his insolvency. Although reluctant to pay his own debts, he was always delighted to pay those of his friends. In fact, he was forever borrowing money, not for the settlement of his own liabilities, but for his friends. He used to be the most overdressed man in London, and at no time during his career was his impecuniosity betrayed by the character of his raiment.

It was while staying at his father's house that Lord Beaconsfield, then Benjamin Disraeli, made the acquaintance of the eccentric Mrs. Brydges Williams, who at her death left to the at that time almost penniless statesman a large legacy—some $400,000—as a token of her admiration. It was in consideration of this, and also in remembrance of a schoolboy promise made by Disraeli to his fellow pupil Palk, that he would make him a peer when he himself became prime minister, that Lord Beaconsfield secured a seat in the house of lords for the then Sir Lawrence Palk.

Lord Morley, whose death has just taken place in London, was deputy speaker of the house of lords, the speaker of that body being the lord high chancellor, and he had also served as lord in waiting to Queen Victoria. He was a most respectable man, head of the old Devonshire house of Parker, founded in the reign of King Henry VIII., and during the closing years of his life was subjected to a considerable amount of annoyance by the action of a London financier of the name of James Roe, manager of an Anglo-American banking company in London, assuming the title and style of "Lord de Morley." Some six or seven years ago James Roe put forward a claim to the long extinct barony of De Morley, and his pretensions were referred in the usual course to the attorney general, Sir Richard Webster, now lord chief justice, who reported so strongly against them that they were never even carried to the committee of privileges of the house of lords. And again in 1901 Mr. Roe appeared before the court of claims, organized by the king in connection with his coronation, asserting that, as "Lord de Morley," he was entitled to figure in some hereditary position at the coronation. But of course his demand was turned down.

It is in the power of the committee of privileges of the house of lords to proceed for contempt of parliament against any one who adopts without warrant the title and dignity of a peer. I cannot, however, recall in modern times the committee ever having taken action in cases such as these, and the house of lords seems content to ignore assumptions of this kind, leaving the criminal courts to deal with them in the event of authorized titles being used for purposes of fraud. It will be well, therefore, for the soidisant "Lord de Morley" to avoid lending his assumed name and title to any financial enterprises that may happen to come to grief. For in that case the investors would be in a position to proceed against him criminally for obtaining money under false pretenses, since they could argue with justice that they had been induced to embark in the venture through the presence as director at the head of the affair of a name and title which they had been given to understand were those of a peer of the realm, but which had been assumed without legal authority.

A LINE-O'-TYPE OR TWO.

SYMPTOMS

Eliza Jane, this mornin', didn't have much appetite—
Her eyes was kind of restless an' they held a fevered light;
I talked about how pretty it is gettin' out o' doors
An' mentioned that there seemed to be big bargains at the stores;
I couldn't interest her an' I can't divert her mind—
House cleanin's on the program, an' I've got to be resigned.

She looked at all the curtains an' she muttered, with a frown,
That they was simply awful an' she'd ought to take them down;
She kicked the parlor carpet an' she raised a little dust,
An' then I heard her whisper to herself: "Well, I just must!"
She went all through her breakfast with a sort o' worried air—
I've got to be a martyr, so I guess I'd best prepare.

She went acrost to Simpkinses an' talked with Mrs. S——
I didn't hear them talkin', but it isn't hard to guess
That they was plannin' trouble—an' the carpets will come up
An' I'll be findin' brads among the coffee in my cup,
An' then my flapjack butter will taste mighty strong o' soap;
She's showin' all the symptoms, an' I've given up all hope.

I s'pose, about tomorrow—if she waits as long as that—
When I go home I'll find her in an old worn out straw hat,
Her sleeves up to her elbows, an' the chairs out in the yard,
An' brooms an' dusters layin' round to catch me off my guard.
She's showin' all the symptoms, an' there's trouble comin', sure—
House cleanin's on the program; I must suffer an' endure.

NEWS OF THE THEATERS.

Faust.

The patrons of the Bush Temple this week are having offered for their entertainment and instruction an ambitious production of "Faust." The first part of the Goethe masterpiece has been done into English prose, and is being presented by the members of the Players' stock company. The version is not remarkable for any particular literary beauty or any great fidelity to the original. It is, in fact, decidedly commonplace, up to date language has been used by the unknown translator, and only occasionally do any of the pregnant thoughts or the deep philosophies of the great German poet come to hearing.

The translator has had the one desire to make an effective play, and as an effective play evidently meant to him a melodrama, he has fashioned the incident of Dr. Faustus' rejuvenation by Mephisto, and the episode of the young gallant's betrayal of Marguerite into a melodramatic play—one which suggests the libretto of Gounod's opera more than the first part of the Goethe poem as its source. It makes an entertaining play, however—entertaining even to the listener who is familiar with the Goethe original—and the audiences at the Bush Temple are having the heartiest of good times laughing at Mephisto and Martha, applauding the students, and enthusing over the love scenes between Faust and Marguerite.

Mr. Power is the Mephisto, and he plays him in a broadly comical vein. There is little of the fiendish or saturnine and nothing of the subtle about the impersonation, but it is frankly amusing and the audience receives it with acclaim. Mr. Alison is the Faust and looks and acts thoroughly uncomfortable in the part. The rôle has been cut down until there is little of value in it for an actor. Miss Montgomery is the Marguerite and plays it sweetly and effectively. Miss Blancke makes a good comedy part of Martha, and Mr. Balsar is attractive looking as Valentine and sings in acceptable fashion a drinking song written for the occasion by Mr. Alison. The production is an elaborate one, and reflects credit on the management of the enterprising little north side house. The scenery is abundant and pictorially pleasing, and the costuming, lighting, and electric effects are worthy of praise.

Steinberg Recital.

Noah Steinberg, a young pianist who is preparing himself for the career of a professional concert player, made his first appearance before the Chicago public last evening in Music hall. An audience of fair size was in attendance and followed the program as presented by the young musician with interest and with frequent expression of enjoyment and approval. It was a program which contained as its more ambitious numbers the B-minor Sonata of Chopin, the "Carnival" of Schumann, the B-minor Rhapsodie of Brahms, and the "Venice and Naples" Tarantelle of Liszt. Associated with these were the A-minor Barcarolle of Rubinstein, the familiar Humoresque of Tschaikowsky, and the "Guitarre" of Moszkowski. It was a program calculated to test the abilities of a pianist and it is no slight commendation of Mr. Steinberg's talents and acquired powers to say that in the performance of his self-imposed task he acquitted himself with distinct credit. To declare that he did not exhaust the emotional and musical contents of the Chopin Sonata or of the Schumann "Carnival" is only to say that he is not yet the matured artist—a criticism which his youth and inexperience render in nowise severe. Youth and inexperience are shortcomings which the years all too quickly remedy.

The chief point is that Mr. Steinberg played these masterworks in a manner which proved him the possessor of powers which promise a bright future for him as a pianist. He has been generously endowed. His nature is clearly a pronouncedly musical one, he has temperamental warmth, has the innate feeling for beauty in tone, phrase, and nuance, has a good sense for rhythm, is not lacking in imaginative qualities, and is unmistakably enthusiastic. These natural gifts he has developed rationally and healthfully along good technical and musical lines. His fingers are fleet, neat, and sure, his octave and heavy passage work is commendably clear, and the tone he wins from the piano is singing and vital in the voicing of a melody or a sustained phrase and is capable of effective variation in more brilliant passages.

The young pianist is already well equipped for his work, but it was evident from what he accomplished that he as yet is by no means at the end of his capabilities both as technician and interpreter. He has yet to ripen along all lines of his art, but he now is able to offer much that is enjoyable and praise meriting. There were moments of distinct musical and poetic beauty in his presentment of the Schumann "Carnival" and portions of the Sonata and of the Rhapsodie were given with admirable insight and with fine technical clarity and finish. It was a recital which afforded a goodly measure of pleasure, and which contained the promise of still more that is desirable and worthy.

PARADE ON INAUGURATION DAY IS TO BE A RECORD BREAKER.

Procession Will Be the Largest Washington Has Seen Since Grant's Heroes Returned from the War and Were Mustered Out: Great Crowd at the Capital.

BY RICHARD WEIGHTMAN.

Washington, D. C., March 1.—[Special.]—At this writing the groundhog sits enthroned as a weather prophet. On the 2d of February, according to the ancient tradition, he emerged from his hole, took a look around, saw his shadow, and promptly returned to winter quarters.

This has always been understood to mean six weeks more of beastly weather and this year the forecast has been justified. There is still a fortnight during which the groundhog may be confuted, but he has made good these last twenty-seven days, and the outlook at the present moment is all for him.

Bad Parade Weather in Prospect.

A nasty, soft snow has been falling for five or six hours, with every suggestion of a set purpose to run on indefinitely. The skies are lowering and gloomy. It may turn to rain with clearing cold weather, high winds, and bright skies in the near future.

On the other hand, it may freeze tonight or tomorrow, and then the prospect for inauguration day will be extremely dismal. Meanwhile the crowd is gathering by every train and boat. Already the streets are thronged with visitors, civil and military, the hotel lobbies are mobbed, and every old nighthawk cab and jingling rattletrap in town has been dragged from retirement and turned loose upon the public under as piratical a flag as ever flew in the days of Zimiuco and Lafitte.

Under favorable climatic conditions we shall have a rousing procession by day and taper off at night in festivities graduated to suit every imaginable taste. From the inaugural ball itself down to the parlor social in Foggy bottom, with craps and razor play on the side, a proud and patriotic people will celebrate the occasion with appropriate enthusiasm.

Big Demonstration Is Prepared.

If the weather be pleasant, overhead and under foot, the sightseeing visitor may look with confidence for a strenuous and picturesque demonstration in Pennsylvania avenue, Seventh street, and other conspicuous thoroughfares after dark. By that time the town will be full of Spanish war veterans, rough riders, cowboys, governors, state militia, civic societies, and assorted organizations.

Naturally "the boys" will want a little relaxation after a hard day's march. I have watched these things for twenty years and have noted nothing in the way of a change, unless it be a gradual increase in the numbers and high spirits of the celebrants.

Let us hope the weather will be on its best behavior. When I consider the thousands upon thousands of "veterans" who didn't see the war at all, I feel like giving them anything they may ask in the way of recompense.

By 9 o'clock on the night of the 4th every one of them ought to be convinced that he charged San Juan hill through a hail of bullets, and so be in a condition of mind to make a really lurid night of it. The material for that innocent hallucination is plentiful in Washington, and almost any Italian fruit stand can be made to look like a hostile citadel when one is feeling hot in the collar.

Gen. Wilson Has His Troubles.

All this is reminiscent. It is a vision of the hallowed and uproarious past. Seriously, and speaking strictly for the present, I am bound to say that the committee of arrangements has done everything possible under the circumstances to make the parades and ceremonies brilliantly successful.

The members have at their head that experienced and resourceful old soldier, Gen. John M. Wilson, formerly chief of the engineer corps of the army, now retired. He is an officer of remarkable executive ability, of inexhaustible tact, and common sense and energy. With the material at his disposal, and within the limitations to which he has necessarily been subjected, he has done everything that was possible.

He has encountered all sorts of influences, more or less powerful, and has had to make many compromises in the interest of harmony; but I think the parade will be as fine and as appropriate as could be expected under the anomalous system that now prevails, and I am quite sure that he will make the most of the spectacular properties at his disposal.

Certainly, it will be the biggest procession Washington has ever seen since that historic day on which Grant's heroes returned from the war of the rebellion and marched down the avenue in their pathetic tatters. But that was real war. That was a mustering out of real warriors. Next Saturday's affair will be a thing of peaceful pageantry. The two events are not to be mentioned as relative or comparable.

Asphalt Trust Greatly "Abused."

The asphalt trust people have added to the gayety of the hour by complaining to the state department that Venezuela has seized their property and shipped it to New York and actually sold it there in open market. They say further that this outrage has been perpetrated repeatedly, and that their losses now aggregate 13,000 tons. Estimating the stuff at $11 a ton, they discover a total injury, not to say spoliation, of $143,000, which includes no appraisement of their sufferings in the domain of emotion.

It does not seem to have occurred to these bleeding martyrs that they could at any time have invoked the protection of the United States courts. Surely the sale of stolen property on this free and glorious soil can be subjected to judicial inquiry. Honest victims have some rights left. The palladium hasn't gone out of business.

And if it be true that the Venezuelan government is despoiling these virtuous and helpless gentlemen with the aid of its own corrupt myrmidons at home, certainly there must be some way of arresting the consummation of that outrage in this country and beneath the shadow of our own enlightened and fearless courts.

The asphalt trust people have complained of oppression at the hands of Castro and his ruthless janizaries. They have called heaven to witness the impossibility of justice for an American patriot in any Venezuelan tribunal. Why, then, do they not seize the opportunity to assert their rights before one or more of our own magistrates and under the protection of domestic institutions?

Want Government to Collect.

Of course, it is inconceivable that they distrust American courts as deeply as they do the Venezuelan article. Of course, they are not afraid of submitting their claims to the inspection of friends and fellow citizens. It cannot be that. I prefer to suppose that, approving the general principle involved in our Santo Domingo overtures, they have concluded to appoint the United States government as their collecting agent and continue in the shelter of that bashful retirement which followed the spoliation of the Philadelphia stockholders and investors.

All the same, this is the key to our alleged quarrel with Venezuela and the explanation of the state department's bluster and menace. There is nothing in the proposed intervention save the alleged wrongs of the asphalt trust people, and by that token you may safely appraise the situation. This government's sole excuse for moving in the premises will be the woes of the New York asphalt trust, and the measure of its martyrdom must be taken in the light of its persistent refusal to exploit the case in an American court.

ILLINOIS SENTIMENT ON DIRECT PRIMARIES.

Nothing in It for the Politicians.

Primary reform which puts a convention between the people and nominations reforms nothing. It is a gold brick wherewith politicians in the legislature would prolong the lives of machine managers in cities and counties and keep from the people their right to name the candidates to be voted for in elections. This bogus primary reform is favored by politicians who know, as THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE said, that they "wouldn't last five minutes in a direct primary."—Rockford Republic.

Direct Primaries.

The governor in every speech made by him last summer pledged himself in favor of the enactment of a law for direct primaries in order that the "democratic rascal" and the "republican scoundrel," as the governor termed the men who manipulated the unfair primaries and conventions, might be done away with. If this legislature adjourns without passing a direct primary law it is perfectly safe to say that many of the members will not be returned, even if it is necessary to elect democrats in their places. If an adjournment is taken without the passage of the direct primary law, it will be evidence that the members who fail to vote for such a law are violators of public pledges made at the time their nominations were made, and prefer that the party should be run by "rascals and scoundrels," as the governor termed them, than that the people should directly announce their choice as to who the party nominees shall be.—Alton Telegraph.

The majority of the people of the state are coming to indorse the current saying that "Illinois has the best governor and the worst legislature in her history." Notwithstanding the fall campaign was fought and won on specific promises made the voters—the principal being an efficient primary law—the old rule politicians are doing all in their power to render the measure of little worth. The clauses of most value are being voted out, and when the poor thing is finally fixed up its own father will scarcely recognize it. It is a great pity that the old machine politicians were ever returned to Springfield.—Elgin Daily News.

Gov. Deneen is growing anxious that the primary bill shall be reported and brought up for action. There are a large number of voters throughout the state who want the same thing. Furthermore, there is almost a unanimous opinion that the majority requirement should be eliminated and a direct primary law enacted.—Galesburg Mail.

CONSOLIDATION OF SCHOOLS.

What It Means and What It Does Not Mean for Country Districts.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 28.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—It does not mean that any district is to be taxed for transportation of pupils unless that district wants to be so taxed, and votes for it.

It does not mean that any district or any township is to be taxed for the benefit of any other district.

It lays no burdens whatever on any district or township that does not of itself voluntarily take up the work of consolidation.

It is permissive legislation for the relief of districts that want to do something.

Schools may consolidate under the present school law, but it is not certain that they have the right to use school funds—their own—to transport pupils to the consolidated school, and this is a necessary feature of consolidation in most places.

This law is simply to give such districts as desire to do so the right to vote their own money for transportation of pupils.

Consolidation of schools means uniting a number of weak, small schools into one larger and better equipped school, and providing wagons and drivers for conveying the pupils who would be at too great a distance to walk.

The Illinois Farmers' institute and the several farm organizations of the state are a unit in desiring the passage of this bill.

The first consolidated school in Illinois is at Seward, Winnebago county, and is a marked success. It has increased the enrollment and average daily attendance and interest, and has added a high school. So far the private families are transporting their children. The new plan is in favor with practically all the people in the three districts consolidated. Other districts of Illinois want to consolidate.

Beginning in Massachusetts in 1874, this plan is now in operation in twenty states in all parts of the union, and with general satisfaction. ILLINOIS FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

Fears Whipping and Runs Away.

EDITH KOENIG

Because she was whipped for taking candy her mother had forbidden her to eat and feared another punishment for getting the mark "poor" for deportment in school, are believed to be the reasons why little Edith Koenig, 10 years old, 1415 South Forty-fifth avenue, ran away from home.

The girl has not been seen by her parents since Tuesday morning, when she went to school. Miss J. Miles, principal of the Bryant school, said the child was excused on a note sent by her mother at 10 o'clock. Afterward she was seen by several children of the neighborhood. She told them she was going to the tea store to make purchases for her mother.

"I gave Edith a severe whipping before she went to school because she had eaten some candy I positively had forbidden her to take," said Mrs. Koenig. "After the whipping I said she could go away and never come back any more because she was such a bad girl. I have said the same thing many times before and I don't believe that could have frightened her."

The theory of kidnaping has been advanced, but neither the police nor the parents believe it possible. A thorough search of Douglas park was made and a house to house inquiry in the neighborhood was begun last evening.

MAIL WAGONS TO REMAIN.

SENATE DECREASES TUBE APPROPRIATION FOR CHICAGO.

Gorman Leads Fight on Floor and Lops Off $22,000 from Item of $172,000 by Agreement of Cullom, Who Hopes for Restoration of Amount in Committee Conference—If This Is Not Done Tunnel Company Will Not Permit Use of Equipment.

Washington, D. C., March 1.—[Special.]—As a result of the fight made in the senate this afternoon by Senator Gorman on the appropriation for transporting mails in Chicago through the tunnels of the Illinois Telegraph and Telephone company the amount of the appropriation was reduced from $172,000 to $150,000.

As the postoffice appropriation bill, in which the item appears, passed the house, the amount was fixed at $172,000 and the senate committee agreed to this amount, but the democrats made a fight against it on the floor of the senate and Senator Cullom agreed to the reduction because he believes the original amount will be restored in conference committee.

If this is not done the postoffice department will be embarrassed and the wagon service may have to be continued in Chicago, as the contract has been made by the department with the Illinois Telegraph and Telephone company for transporting mails, the price agreed upon being $172,000, but of course the contract was made contingent upon the appropriation being provided. The company will not perform the service for a smaller amount.

The senate increased the appropriation for maintaining and extending the postal pneumatic service from $500,000 to $800,000. As the bill passed the house it provided for an appropriation of $500,000, but the senate committee increased this amount to $800,000 and the increase was agreed to as adopted by the senate.

This fund is to be used for maintaining pneumatic service in cities in which it is in operation and for extending the service. Chicago will receive some of the benefits of this appropriation.

TARIFF REVISION IN EXTRA SESSION

President Hints to Congressmen Not to Believe That and Railroad Question Are Abandoned by Him.

haps result in overturning the republican majority in the house of representatives.

Such a political revolution would turn the gavel over to a democrat, and Uncle Joe is naturally averse, both for personal and party reasons, to doing anything at all, or taking up any subject which would be likely to produce a split in the party and ultimately lose enough congressional districts to involve the sacrifice of the control of the house by republicans.

These two classes together constitute a large majority of republicans both in the house and the senate. If the men who oppose revision largely on the grounds of party policy could be won over, the tariff would be revised, if the president should throw into the scale his powerful influence and include this subject among those designated as causes for a special session.

It is the opinion of the oldest heads in congress, including many of those who are opposed to revision, that if the subject is taken up at the special session after having been designated by the president there would be aroused a wave of public sentiment in its favor practically identical with that which has swept the railroad question to the forefront.

Part Played by Three Governors.

Gov. Cummins has been here a few days in advance of the inauguration. He was largely responsible, in conjunction with Gov. La Follette of Wisconsin and Gov. Van Sant of Minnesota, for pushing the railroad question to the front. They came to Washington just at the psychological moment.

The interstate commerce commission was hearing sensational testimony in the Santa Fé case, and the president, who had been interested in the railroad situation for years, had determined on his own account to incorporate a plea for legislation in his message, and the three governors, representing the Interstate Commerce Law association, furnished the necessary medium between the people and the president. All things were combined together, and railroad rate legislation caught the fancy of people, and today some real reform practically is certain within a year from this date.

There is no organization back of the demand for tariff revision. It is a conglomeration of separate selfish interests. Gov. Cummins, however, is not the man to conceal his point of view, and in his calls at the White house he has undoubtedly gone over the tariff situation. That the president is in a receptive mood on this subject is evident from the reports of conversations made by congressmen who come out of the White house.

Leaders Advise Waiting Policy.

Just prior to the opening of congress in December almost every representative and senator who called on the president was asked by Mr. Roosevelt what the sentiment was at home on tariff revision. The leaders generally advised against bringing up the tariff at all at a short session. They argued, and with great propriety, that the time was too short to accomplish anything and that the only result would be a disturbance of business conditions without any possible gain in the direction of more equitable schedules.

Thereupon the president stopped talking tariff with his callers and began to discuss the railroad question. Recently, however, he has returned to the tariff, and his congressional advisers are much impressed by this fact and by his frank intimation that, while he was willing to concede the uselessness of bringing up the subject at the short session of congress, he has not changed his personal point of view as to the desirability of revising the tariff in plenty of time to get new rates into working order before the next congressional election.

Inaugural Address Is Short.

President Roosevelt has written an inaugural address which is a model of brevity. It will be one of the shortest on record, and he cannot discuss the great public questions as exhaustively as he would if he were taking the oath for the first time and outlining an initial administration policy.

Probably he will take the summer to decide just what subjects should be included in the call for an extra session. When the new congress meets at his call he can be depended upon to send in a special message which will stir up the animals, and the chances are that tariff revision and the railroad question will have an equal place in that important state paper.

ILLINOIS SHARES IN RIVER BILL.

Appropriation Measure Providing $200,000 for Chicago Stream Expected to Become a Law.

Washington, D. C., March 1.—[Special.]—Appropriations for improving Illinois harbors and waterways, provided for in the rivers and harbors bill, which passed the senate this afternoon, are as follows:

For improving the Chicago river, $200,000. It is provided this money shall not be expended until the work of removing and reconstructing the center pier of the bridges and lowering or removing the tunnels, has been completed without expense to the United States government. For improving the Calumet river, $100,000 is appropriated, and for continuing the contract, $176,000 authorized. For improving the harbor at Waukegan an appropriation of $50,000 is provided. For continuing the improvement of the Illinois and Mississippi canal an appropriation of $300,000 is made, and authority granted to make contracts for further work and material to the amount of $200,000.

For improving the harbor at Michigan City an appropriation of $45,000 is authorized. The secretary of war is authorized to use $25,000 of this sum for the construction of a turning basin in the inner harbor. He also is directed to construct a fixed dam with a movable crest, at or near Sterling, Ill., in place of a lock dam already authorized. For improving the Mississippi river at Moline, an appropriation of $100,000 is provided, and authority is granted the secretary of war to enter into contracts for further improvement to the amount of $286,000.

The following surveys are authorized on the west fork of the south branch of the Chicago river, with a view to securing a twenty-one foot channel; the Ohio river, at and near Metropolis, Ill.; the Mississippi river, at Hamburg bay, with a view to preventing the formation of a bar at the mouth of the bay, and a survey of Indiana harbor, with a view to ascertaining what improvements are required in the channels, affording access to the harbor, and for the protection of the channel and harbor.

Practically all appropriations for rivers and harbors in the middle west, provided for by the house, were agreed to by the senate. The bill now goes to a conference, and its prospects of becoming a law are good.

URGES DOMINGO TREATY ACTION

President Is Framing Another Message to Senate Showing European Possibilities.

Washington, D. C., March 1.—The president is framing another message to the senate urging speedy action on the pending Dominican treaty. He is led to supplement the strong representations contained in his first communication by important developments, which, it is understood, relate to the possible action of European powers peculiarly interested in Santo Domingo, in the event of the failure of the treaty to secure approval before the adjournment of the extra session of the senate.

MRS. CODY AGAIN DENIES.

INSISTS THAT REPORTS AFFECTING HER ARE FALSE.

Makes Admissions Which Counsel on Opposing Side Says Will Weaken Her Case—Hearing at North Platte Closes with Cross Examination—Demands That Col. Cody Make Public Retraction of All Charges—To Call Plaintiff at Omaha Monday.

North Platte, Neb., March 1.—[Special.]—The hearing in the Cody divorce case closed here this evening with the cross examination of Mrs. Cody. All day she submitted to a fire of questions from Chief Counsel Ridgley for the plaintiff, and only twice lost control of herself, and then she made admissions that will weaken her case materially, in the opinion of counsel for Col. Cody.

On direct examination yesterday she steadfastly denied all charges made by Cody against her. He and she never had quarreled, she said. He was kind and she treated him in a like manner. He was poor during the first few years of their married life and had not provided well for her, she said.

Today, smarting under the examination, she admitted that Cody had provided for her in the early days as best he could; that when he went away orders were left with the post quartermaster to give her plenty of provisions, and the sutler was instructed to see that she wanted for nothing. Mrs. Cody admitted also that she quarreled with Cody during the early days over the saloon and tavern business because he did not make enough money.

Dogs Poisoned; Then Quarrel.

Again, while living near North Platte, the colonel's dogs were poisoned, and he took her to task for it, and they had a serious quarrel, which ended by Mrs. Cody leaving the ranch to walk to town.

"I told Cody," she said, "that I would not take that talk from Bill Cody or any other man."

Mrs. Cody was asked if she and Cody had not separated at Hays City, Kas., in 1867, at Leavenworth in 1869, in Denver in 1879, and at North Platte in 1885.

"No, sir. We never separated until Cody brought this suit for divorce," she said.

Mrs. Cody denied she had said Cody lived five years longer than he should, or that she had said she would go back to Coney Island and bring Cody home in a box. She never consulted mediums, except for fun, and never said she would rule or ruin Cody. She denied that she gave the colonel "dragon's blood" or any other drug. She said she didn't know what "dragon's blood" is.

She denied that, in order to spite the colonel, she had combed a boy's hair at the table where he was entertaining guests, and also denied that she insulted Richard Bennett and other members of a theatrical company who were being entertained at the Cody home.

Demands Retraction of Charges.

The examination came to a termination with the sensational and unexpected statement by Mrs. Cody that she now demanded that Cody make retraction in the press of all the charges he had made against her. Yesterday she said if he would withdraw the poisoning charge she would become reconciled and welcome him home, but today she said he would have to withdraw all the charges publicly, and she would then consider the proposition of a reconciliation, but could not say as to her verdict.

Col. Cody will give his testimony in rebuttal in Omaha on Monday and then the case goes to Sheridan, Wyo., for argument and final decision.

MRS. CHADWICK PAID BONUSES.

Two Loan Agents Testify in Cleveland Bankruptcy Proceedings They Charged High for Money.

Cleveland, O., March 1.—[Special.]—Two men who had loaned Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick large sums on collateral and had charged her stiff bonuses were examined before referee in bankruptcy today. They were W. V. Coons, a loan broker of Cleveland, and Henry Wuerst of Elyria, O.

Coon's testimony, which was developed by much refreshing of his memory by the attorneys, was that in 1903 he made Mrs. Chadwick loans aggregating from $60,000 to $75,000. He was given a certificate by Iri Reynolds, the face value of which was $150,000, and a pearl necklace valued at from $20,000 to $30,000. His bonus, he admitted, was to be about $12,000, besides the regular interest.

"Wasn't this transaction of yours with Mrs. Chadwick a trifle extraordinary?" asked Referee Remington of the witness.

"Well, it was in this," conceded Coons, "that Mrs. Chadwick wanted nothing known about it, or her affairs."

Wuerst testified that for one loan of $2,500 he had charged a bonus to Mrs. Shadwick of $500 in addition to 6 or 7 per cent interest.

"This was pretty high. Things looked cloudy," said Wuerst, "and I charged her higher than usual."

The witness said Mrs. Chadwick owes him $16,500, for which he holds notes for $22,500. For this he held as collateral jewelry sufficient to cover the face of the claim and more, but Collector of Customs Leach has the jewels now.

RULING ON FLOUR DRAWBACK.

Attorney General Moody Holds Amount Should Be Computed According to Value at Time of Manufacture.

Washington, D. C., March 1.—Attorney General Moody, in an opinion received by the secretary of the treasury today, holds, in effect, that the drawback on the export of flour made from imported wheat should be computed according to the relative values of the flour and other products at the time and place of manufacture. It also is held that where only a part of the products made from imported wheat are exported it is proper to determine the proportionate value of the same for drawback purposes without allowing anything for the increased price such part would bring in the domestic markets, because of the privilege of exportation with right of drawback.

LOOK INTO USE OF $1,000,000.

Missouri Legislators Order Appointment of Committee to Investigate Expenditure of Exposition Funds.

Jefferson City, Mo., March 1.—[Special.]—The appointment of a committee to investigate the use of the $1,000,000 appropriation, made for Missouri's participation in the St. Louis exposition, was ordered today by the lower branch of the legislature. The vote was unanimous.

COLTS END LONG JOURNEY SAFELY

Selee's Men Ready to Begin Practice Work Today at Santa Monica.

TACKLE PACIFIC FROTH.

Weimer and Chance on Hand to Welcome Teammates to the Land of Sunshine.

Santa Monica, Cal., March 1.—[Special.]—Bright and early tomorrow morning Manager Selee will have his squad of Colts out on the diamond here for their first practice of the year. The men would have had a chance to romp about the diamond today if the trunks carrying the uniforms, cleated brogans, and other accessories to the game had arrived as per schedule.

The twenty players reached Los Angeles after 2 o'clock this morning, three hours behind time. Manager Selee met the team at the train and led the way to the trolley car which brought the ball tossers to this little berg by the sea. There is no mistake about the Arcadia hotel, at which the baseball men are stopping, being close to the ocean. All one has to do to get a sudden bath is to fall out of a window.

The Chicagoans were given the afternoon to themselves to rest after their long journey. Most of them took advantage of the chance to start conditioning themselves. Some one suggested a plunge in the surf, and, it being learned that the bathing season had opened, the players were soon wrestling with the froth on the Pacific.

Jake Weimer, who reached here last Friday, met his team mates at the hotel and extended the gladsome mitt. Capt. Chance did not put in an appearance until tonight, as he has been working at Ascot park. Kling is expected to reach Santa Monica tomorrow.

Manager Selee and Capt. Chance laid out the diamond yesterday on the grounds where the Colts will put in their early season practice. All that is necessary are the bases and home plate, which were shipped along with the other baggage from Chicago.

The park is in the old bicycle racetrack, just across a wide street from the hotel. Like all the diamonds in these parts, it is bald, but the earth is not so hard as that of the Los Angeles diamond, on which the Chicagoans practiced a year ago. This is a distinct advantage, as it will not be so productive of "charley horses."

Every man on the team is delighted with this resort as a training place, and there will be no excuses for poor condition when the season opens if the men work as they anticipate they will. Most of them declared as soon as they got into the hot sunshine that they were ready to play a double header.

Mitchell's hand is much better, but he has an ugly wound which is apt to split open afresh if he takes a chance with it. All the players are in fine shape.

DECIDE IN FAVOR OF LUCAS.

Secretary Farrell and Other Minor Leaguers Hold Meeting at Auditorium and Settle Pacific Coast Troubles.

Secretary J. H. Farrell of the minor league board of arbitration and George Tebeau, chairman of the board, met at the Auditorium Annex yesterday, listened to the troubles of the old and new Pacific National leagues as presented by C. H. Williams and Walter Wilmot, representing the defunct organization, and W. H. Lucas, representing the new circuit, and reaffirmed the decision which the board made at Cincinnati in favor of Lucas.

The meeting was scheduled originally for today, but word was received from Judge Kavanagh of Little Rock and T. H. Murnane of Boston that they could not attend, and assigned their proxies to Mr. Farrell, to make up a quorum of the board, consequently it was decided to advance the meeting one day.

The dispute is over the territorial rights to cities in the northwest, which are claimed by both disputants. The minor league board decided in January that the old Pacific National league had "evaporated," as Boise, one of the four clubs left at the end of last season, had recalled its $50, which is the fee for protection. No league of less than four clubs can be recognized in baseball law. Immediately after Lucas applied for and paid protection for the cities declared vacant by the board. He was awarded the territory.

The decision produced a warm session in New York last month, when Williams appeared before the minor board to secure a reopening of the case. As Lucas was not present in New York, a meeting was called here to hear both sides of the case simultaneously. No evidence was submitted which would lead for a reversal of the first decision, and, in consequence, Lucas retains the upper hand, with Williams' only chance depending upon a compromise with his opponent.

MANY SPRING GAMES FOR REDS.

Cincinnati Team to Be Split Up for a Double Itinerary Beginning at Jacksonville, Fla.

Cincinnati, O., March 1.—The itinerary of the Cincinnati National League baseball club through the south was announced today. The team will number twenty-four when the men leave here on March 8 for Jacksonville, Fla., where they will remain three weeks, the fourth week of the tour being played in other cities.

The playing schedule at Jacksonville opens with games between the veterans and youngsters. On March 17, 18, and 19 games will be played with the Detroit American league club. On March 25, 26, and 27 with Jacksonville. On March 31 and April 1 and 2 with the Boston American league club.

On the returning trip the team will be divided into two divisions; that under Frank Bancroft playing at Montgomery, Ala., on March 28 and 29; at Birmingham, Ala., on March 30 and 31; at Memphis, Tenn., on April 1 and 2; at Paducah, Ky., on April 3; at Evansville, Ind., on April 4; at Louisville, Ky., on April 5 and 6, and at Lexington, Ky., on April 7.

The division under Kelley will stay a week longer at Jacksonville, and will play on April 3 and 4 at Birmingham, Ala.; on April 5 at Atlanta, Ga.; and on April 6 and 7 at Knoxville, Tenn.

The regular team on reaching Cincinnati will play the Cleveland American league club on April 10 and 11, and the Boston Americans on April 12. The regular season will open on April 14 with Pittsburg.

OWEN BALKS ON HIS CONTRACT.

White Sox Pitcher Says Hitch Is Over Salary, but President Comiskey Denies the Report.

Ypsilanti, Mich., March 1.—[Special.]—Frank Owen, the Chicago Americans' pitcher, has been getting in shape by assisting Catcher McAllister coach the University of Michigan baseball team. He received a registered letter from President Comiskey today, inclosing a contract for 1905.

The salary was unsatisfactory, and Owen said: "It's all off. I'll never throw another ball at the salary offered." He is making arrangements to stay with the Michigan team.

President Comiskey last night denied that there was any difference between himself and Owen over the salary proposition. "Owen received his contract a week ago," said the master of the White Sox, "and is satisfied with the salary offered him. I expect no difficulty in signing him."

It is probable, from the foregoing dispatch, that Owen wants to remain at Michigan instead of making the southern training trip, and that Owner Comiskey insists on his going south to get in condition.

Athletics Start for the South.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 1.—Manager Mack with all but three of the players of the Philadelphia American league club left here today for New Orleans for spring practice. The team will spend a portion of the time at New Orleans and Shreveport, and, on the way north, will make several stops to play exhibition games. The club will return April 1 for the spring series with the local National league club.

FIGHT RECEIPTS ARE BIG.

NELSON AND CORBETT DRAW $15,000 HOUSE ON COAST.

Dane Received More than $4,000 as His Share of the Purse, While Loser Gets $2,841—Denverite Is Downcast Over Defeat and Says That He Was Beaten by a Lucky Blow—Wants Third Battle with Chicago Pugilist —Ralston Bill Is Downed.

San Francisco, Cal., March 1.—[Special.]—Considering the prices charged, the returns received from last night's fight between Corbett and Nelson were phenomenal, almost $15,000 being taken in at the box office. The total receipts were $14,208, the club's share being $7,104, Nelson's $4,262.40, and Corbett's $2,841.60.

It was a disappointing battle after the first four rounds because it was one sided. Corbett continued to fade under the rough jolting he received, and there never was a time after the fourth period when the result was in doubt. Corbett was much downcast today. In talking about the fight, he said:

"I thought I was the winner until one of Nelson's swings caught me on the chin. I was strong when the gong sounded for the ninth round, but he got one of those lucky punches to the mark and it stopped me. I do not regard myself as a back number yet. If I ever get him in a third fight it is likely I will have the luck and put home the finishing blow. I lost all I could raise in bets I made on myself. I even staked some of the loser's share on my chance to beat the Dane. A bookmaker holds my marker for $1,500."

Nelson already has his eye on the future. Today he said: "Britt knows I have posted money for a meeting with him. Let Jimmy put up his coin and get in the ring with me and he will be sent into the 'has been' class."

If San Francisco boxing managers behave themselves the pugilistic game is good for two more years. The Ralston bill was brought to a vote at Sacramento in the senate last night and was beaten by a decisive vote of 18 to 10. This was really a larger vote than the friends of the pugilists counted on.

Senator Ralston made a plea for his pet measure on the ground many of the fights were "fakes" and that the public was being swindled. Undoubtedly there have been fixed fights, but the percentage has been small, since open betting was prohibited.

The vote was too decisive for friends of the Ralston bill to hope to enact any sort of a reform measure this session.

RYAN AND CLANCY IN BATTLE.

"Buddy" Stacks Up Against a Hard Proposition at Philadelphia—Ruse Defeats Tony Bender.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 1.—[Special.]—"Buddy" Ryan of Chicago had nothing on Jack Clancy at the National Athletic club tonight. Clancy surprised the crowd by doing some clever work, and in some rounds outpointed Ryan. Had the bout gone longer of course there might have been another story to tell.

Ryan did not show in the best of condition. He looked fat and did not seem to have made much preparation for the bout. He was slow, and it was not until the last round that he woke up and went after Clancy in professional manner. Clancy, on the other hand, started right out and fought under the advice of Jack O'Brien. For the first three rounds Clancy outpointed Ryan with his jabs and hooks. In the fourth round Clancy showed that he could take a punch. Ryan succeeded in getting two or three over on his face, but Clancy shook them off and was right back at Ryan again. Buddy had to take several hard punches that he did not like.

In the fifth round Clancy kept right at Ryan and rushed him to the ropes, making him break ground. At the close of the round Ryan fought back hard and Clancy did not look so good. It was not until the last minute of the sixth round that Ryan cut loose. He went at Clancy savagely and pounded him all over the ring, but Clancy always had a punch in hand and Ryan did not get off easily.

The semi-windup between Johnny Ruse of Chicago and Tony Bender of Elizabeth was a great show. In the first two rounds Bender kept plugging away at Ruse's face and had him beaten up. Johnny's aim was at the body, and in the second round he landed a couple of drives that took most of the steam out of Tony. After that it was Ruse's fight. He easily bested Bender, who had to forget some of his work on the face to save his bread receiver.

JOHN L. SCORES A KNOCKOUT.

Beats Jack McCormick in Two Rounds—"Puffs Some" at Finish, Although "in Fine Condition."

[VIA GRAND RAPIDS "PIPE" LINE.]

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 1.—[Special.]—John L. Sullivan, ex-champion heavyweight, knocked out Jack McCormick in the second round of what was to have been a four round go at Smith's opera house tonight. It required ten minutes to revive McCormick, who hails from Galveston, Tex.

Both men were in fine condition* when they entered the ring. In the first round Sullivan† chased the Texan around, landing several heavy blows, but McCormick stood up under them fairly well. In the second round Sullivan landed on McCormick's jaw after a clinch, and the Texan was out for good. Sullivan fought well for one who has not been in the ring for years, and has gained so much in weight, but he was puffing‡ at the end of the fight.

After the fight Sullivan issued a signed statement in which he said he was ready to meet any of them, and that he believed he could last with Jeffries, Fitzsimmons, or any of the topnotchers for eight or ten rounds.

*John L. especially. He's always in some sort of "fine condition." †Like a fireproof safe. ‡A good cigar.

TOM LOFTUS BUYS HALF A CLUB.

Secures Lennon's Share of Toledo Franchise, Which Strobel Claims to Have Bought Previously.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 1.—Thomas McDermott, attorney for George E. Lennon of St. Paul, today sold Lennon's half interest in the Toledo American association club to Tom Loftus for $10,500. Charles E. Strobel, who owns the other half of the club, acting for Ed Grillo, former president of the American association, offered $11,500 for Mr. Lennon's share, but was turned down by the St. Paul man. The deal between Lennon and Loftus was closed tonight.

Tangle Grows Thicker.

Toledo, O., March 1.—[Special.]—It now looks as if Charles J. Strobel was again absolute master of the Toledo baseball muddle, although matters are in such a tangle that it is believed the courts will be called upon again to solve the problem. Since last Thursday an agreement has existed between Lennon of St. Paul and Strobel to the effect that Lennon would dispose of his half interest in the Toledo club to Strobel on the payment of $10,500.

This option was duly attested and entered into by Strobel and Thomas E. McDermott of St. Paul, who represented himself as being in possession of a power of attorney for Lennon. The option stipulated that the money was to be paid to George P. Kirby, the local representative of Lennon, before the close of business hours on Feb. 28. Strobel, Ed Grillo of Cincinnati, and several attorneys met, and the money was offered and refused.

When Mike Kelly and his lawyer came here from St. Paul each faction began bidding back and forth until Strobel's bid of $10,500 was made and accepted. Grillo was the man for whom the money was bid. Finn will remain as field manager, and a stock company will be organized.

THREE TEAMS TIE FOR LEAD.

North Division, Lake View, and Medill High Schools to Play for Indoor Baseball Honors.

North Division won the last of the preliminary games in the high school indoor baseball series yesterday, defeating the McKinley High school nine by a score of 18 to 4, in five innings. The game, which was played in the McKinley gymnasium, was onesided throughout, the north siders outbatting and outplaying the home team. The victory puts North Division in a three cornered tie for the first place in the league, Lake View and Medill being the other successful teams, and a round robin will be played to settle the championship. The managers of the three teams will meet today to draw up a schedule for the remaining games. Score:

HAYMAN'S COLT HOME IN FRONT.

Leonard Joe Captures Third Special at Fair Grounds in Easy Fashion.

FILATORY RUNS SECOND.

Rawhide, the "Good Thing" in the Opening Race, Is Beaten by Baggerly.

New Orleans, La., March 1.—[Special.]—Morris Hayman certainly has a race horse in the Linden-Crochet colt, Leonard Joe Hayman, winner of the third special, run at the fair grounds today. It was a late closing stake for 2 year olds, at half a mile, with $1,000 added, and the Hayman colt was always favorite.

He went up in the betting in sympathy with the heavy play on Beachwood, a colt from the Bennett barn, making his first start, but heralded as a wonder. Proteus came in for a lot of support, being about as well fancied as the Hayman colt, but when it came to the running of the race it was a one horse affair.

Filatory essayed to make the running, but Leonard Joe Hayman went after him like a shot, passed him in a dozen strides, and, after stepping the first quarter around the turn in :23 3-5, the rest was easy. He won, pulling up, in :48 2-5, with Filatory, driving, second over Jim McGinnis.

Baggerly Is a Winner.

The tight finishes of the day began in the opening race. It was a cheap sort of scramble, with Rawhide a heavily played "good thing." He made most of the running, but Diplomat and Baggerly went after him in the stretch, and the three went past the judges inches apart, Baggerly winning.

Panic, unbacked by Trainer Hildreth, who played the favorite, won the second race by about the thickness of a visiting card from Blue Grass Lad. Simplicity took the lead at the eighth pole in the third race and won easily. Canyon was favorite in the fifth and won. Had the race been a jump farther he would have been third, so close was it between the first three. Arch Oldham made the running to within a few yards of the finish in the last event when Vic Ziegler, the favorite, breezed by him after getting off badly.

FEATURE RACE TO LUCY YOUNG.

Wins Closing Event at City Park Track from Brushup, with Esterre Third —Two Winners for Sloan.

New Orleans, La., March 1.—[Special.]—A crowd of 3,500 persons saw the racing at City park today. The card was only a fair one, the feature of which turned out to be the final event, in which Lucy Young, Brushup, and a number of other speedy 3 year old fillies were named to go over the five furlong route. Civil's Esterre was the favorite, and well played at 9 to 5, while Lucy Young was 4, Brushup at 8, and Lidwina, on which Sloan had the mount, at 4.

A pronounced paddock tip was circulated about Lidwina, and because Sloan previously had ridden two winners, she attracted support. Lucy Young, ridden by Shea, was returned the winner, finishing two lengths in front of Brushup in the fast time of 1:00 4-5. Esterre was a close third. But for the fact that the favorite was crowded almost to the extent of a foul on the upper turn she certainly would have been second.

Sloan appears to be getting back into his best form. His two successes were achieved with Judge Traynor in the first event, for maiden 3 year olds and upward, at seven furlongs, and with Reticent in the fifth, a condition affair at six furlongs. He rode the best horses in both races, but displayed no little judgment and skill nevertheless. He got away none too well with Judge Traynor, the favorite, at 11 to 5, but early worked into a forward position and assumed the lead on the stretch turn, and won going away by three lengths from Miss Marconi.

The judges disqualified Golden Flower from the purse she won at City park on Feb. 27, giving first money to Precious Band, which finished second. Summaries:

First race, ⅞ mile—Judge Traynor, 109 pounds [T. Sloan], 11 to 5, won; Padre, 16 to 5, second; Miss Marconi, 16 to 1, third.

Second race, ½ mile—Mathis, 114 pounds [Troxler], 5 to 2, won; Hostility, 9 to 10, second; Dick Brown, 10 to 1, third.

Third race, 1 mile—Florizel, 104 pounds [Foy], 8 to 5, won; Cardinal Wolsey, 5 to 1, second; Red Thistle, 7 to 1, third.

Fourth race, 1 1-16 miles—Demurrer, 109 pounds [B. Miller], 12 to 1, won; Noweta, 13 to 20, second; Dr. Kier, 8 to 1, third.

Fifth race, ¾ mile—Reticent, 110 pounds [T. Sloan], 11 to 5, won; Mr. Barnaby, 100 to 1, second; Bon Mot, 13 to 1, third.

Sixth race, ⅝ mile—Lucy Young, 109 pounds [Shea], 4 to 1, won; Brushup, 8 to 1, second; Esterree, 2 to 1, third.

CLOSE RACE TO QUINN BRADY.

Captures the Feature Event at Oaklawn Track in a Rousing Finish with Wes.

Hot Springs, Ark., March 1.—[Special.]—A rousing finish in the fifth race between Quinn Brady and O. C. Parke was the only spectacular feature to Oaklawn's racing this afternoon. The pair of youngsters hooked up in the last furlong of the half mile journey and fought it out desperately. Henry, on Brady, through superior jockeyship, landed his mount winner in the final stride by a nose. Wes, under Wonderly's good guidance, ran a good race and finished a close third. The Texas contingent attempted a "killing" with Parke and backed him nearly off the boards.

Jockey Winkfield left here tonight for New York, where, after a brief stay, he will go to Russia. Summaries:

First race, 1 mile—Madoc, 100 pounds [Huseman], 30 to 1, won; Foxy, 5 to 2, second; Pete Dailey, 20 to 1, third.

Second race, ¾ mile—Comic Opera, 92 pounds [J. J. Walsh], 6 to 1, won; Massa, even, second; Orchestra, 4 to 1, third.

Fourth race, 1¼ miles—Never Such, 108 pounds [Wonderly], even, won; Falkland, 4 to 1, second; Excentral, 3 to 1, third.

Fifth race, ½ mile—Quinn Brady, 112 pounds [Henry], 3 to 5, won; O. C. Parke, 2 to 1, second; Wes, 5 to 1, third.

Sixth race, 1 mile—Ivernia, 105 pounds [Foley], 9 to 2, won; Nannan, 8 to 1, second; Eclectic, 10 to 1, third.

GOLFERS TO MEET TODAY.

WOMAN'S WESTERN ASSOCIATION TO HOLD ANNUAL SESSION.

Ticket Headed by Mrs. A. T. H. Brower of Evanston Is Expected to Be Elected Without Opposition—Amendment to Abolish Requirement That Clubs Must Belong to U. S. G. A. to Be a Feature of the Conference—Issue Call for Oak Park Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Western Golf association will be held today at the Auditorium Annex. It is expected the regular ticket, headed by Mrs. A. T. H. Brower of the Evanston Golf club, will be elected without opposition. Apart from the election of officers the important feature will be the proposed amendment to the constitution abolishing the present requirement that clubs must be members of the United States Golf association in order to be eligible to join the W. W. G. A.

President C. H. Wells of the Westward Ho Golf club has issued a call for a special meeting at the Oak Park club on Saturday night to consider consolidation with the River Forest club. The nine hole course of the latter organization is on subdivided ground, and buildings on part of the course already are projected. Should the matter be voted upon favorably the entire membership of the River Forest club will be taken over by the Westward Ho.

The Jackson Park Golf club has been admitted to membership in the Western Golf association, bringing the list of clubs to sixty-three.

Willie Smith, formerly of the Midlothian Country club, who recently defeated Willie Anderson, Gilbert Nicholls, and Alec Smith at the San Pedro Golf club of Mexico, will remain there as instructor for the balance of the season.

GAMES IN BOWLING LEAGUES.

Bensingers Shut Out Athletes and Are in First Place in Chicago Tournament—Hofmanns Defeat Halls.

Bensingers took the lead in the Chicago league last night by winning three straight games from the Athletes and averaging 986 1-3. A poor opening game by the Hofmanns caused the side the loss of a tie for first place with the Bensingers. The Halls won the first game, but Brill's men took the others. Brill again rolled a fine series, averaging 227 2-3, and can hardly lose the individual championship. Other good averages were 228 2-3 by Schneider of the Racines and 217 by Getzler of the Schotts. Notes of the Bowlers.

Checks were mailed by the Milwaukee tournament officials yesterday to the prize winners in the two men and individual events.

Most of the side issues in connection with the national tournament made money, $7,000 being taken at the bar. The work of tearing out the alleys is nearly completed.

ANANIAS WINNER OF HANDICAP.

Takes the $1,000 Event at Oakland Track, Beating Tigretto by Two Lengths—Horatius Is Third.

San Francisco, Cal., March 1.—[Special.]—The main event at Oakland this afternoon was the $1,000 handicap, at one and one-eighth miles. The starters were Ananias, Horatius, Nigrette, Padua, and Barrack, and they were liked in the order named by the betting public. Ananias, ridden by Birkenruth, was at once taken to the front, followed by Nigrette and Horatius.

Birkenruth cleverly rated Ananias in front and he won by a couple of lengths in the fast time of 1:52¾, while Nigrette beat Horatius a neck for the place. Too much early use was made of Horatius or he would have been second. McBride, Miller's new jockey, piloted Gallant Cassie and Ethel Abbott to victory in succession. Cassie was heavily backed by the stable. Summaries:

Chicago Basketball Team Beats Lewis Institute Five in Second Half 38 to 25.

FOULS PROVE COSTLY.

Owens Stars for the Collegians, While Falls Does Best Work for West Siders.

After being outplayed by a ratio of two to one in the first half, the University of Chicago basketball team last night made a fast finish in the second period of play, and defeated the strong five from Lewis institute by a score of 38 to 25. The game was hotly contested throughout, and it was not until near the end of the game that the maroons made the victory safe.

In the first half Lewis started the scoring by counting two points on free throws. Chicago, in the this period played a ragged game, leaving the men on the opposing team uncovered much of the time, and losing many opportunities through poor team work. The Lewis five, however, played splendid basketball, missing few opportunities. Six of the points scored in this half were from free throws, granted by the repeated calling of fouls by Umpire Glere. Two points were awarded by this official, and at the end of the half the score stood 20 to 10 in favor of the west side team.

In the second half the collegians played a superior game. The scoring began with a basket by Owens, who later repeated his performance six times. His work throughout the second period was high class. Baskets by Hunt and McKeag soon placed the maroons even with their opponents, who became wilder toward the end of the game, and missed the basket repeatedly. During the entire half the only basket made by the institute boys was one near the finish by Capt. Falls.

The best work of the game was that of the guards on the teams. Each covered his man well. The greater part of the scoring of the maroons was done by the guards, while the forwards were much hampered by the Lewis guards, Watson and Page. Lineup:

McKeag	Right forward	Becker

Owens	Right guard	Watson

WEST SIDE TEAM IS WINNER

Physical Directors Defeat Central Y. M. C. A. Training School Five at Basketball by Score of 27 to 24.

In a professional basketball game last night at the West Side Y. M. C. A. the West Side physical directors beat the Central Training school team by a score of 27 to 24. From the first blast of the referee's whistle at the start of the contest until nearly two minutes later the game was replete in superb passing and excellent team work.

Although the game was ludicrous at times, it was extremely interesting, and the crowd seemed to enjoy the sport. Hagenbuch and Morgan, the two "strong men" in the contest, varied the general run of things by holding impromptu wrestling matches at different points. Lineup:

West Side [27].		Central [24].
Allen	Right forward	Lewis
Hagenbuch	Left forward	Apple
Oliphant	Center	Steaples
Miller	Right guard	Morgan

STERN BULLS KE WHEAT BACK

of Buying by the Gates ique on a Severe Break Force Sharp Reaction.

DAHY GIVES SUPPORT.

wheat broke another cent yesterday, miscellaneous liquidation and short to $1.12½, a decline of nearly 9c from point of the recent bulge. But on the selling pressure seemed to exitself. The absorption of wheat commission houses during the last two of the decline began to assert fluence, rumors that the Gates clique taking up its May line began to have weight, and the market rallied a cent under the spur of heavy buying by bulls, who secured the bulk of the offerings.

market was so firm on this upturn that who had been selling short in the there would be no end to the decline constrained to cover. The northwest bullish news on the country movement buying orders and the market reacted here, closing at $1.15 bid at about the price of the day and at a net gain of 1⅝c. largest buying on the extreme dip was brokers acting for John Cudahy, a leader the local bulls.

reaction had not gone far before there evidence also of buying by Armour, as largely of July as of May, presumably covering shorts. The feeling that Wall street bulls might be picking up and the belief that the headlong break taken out all weak holders encouraged general sentiment that the market should a good rally. Brosseau and other local took profits and the market showed strength than it has done since May 1.18.

Big Selling of July.

break was accelerated by the selling line of 1,000,000 bu or more of July wheat Eneeland which had been taken on a or two before at a higher price, the consequent weakness of July starting selling May. The July showed relative weakness throughout, breaking as much as the May ⅝c and not recovering as well, closing ⅝c, a net gain of ½c. September gained to 91⅛c. There was more or less buying of July for the northwest, and northwest houses were generally more bullish on the possibility of a sharp falling off in the movement. There were only 201 cars at Minneapolis and Duluth, compared with 372 a year and elevator interests generally reporting extremely light sales in the country, foreseeing a further falling off in terminal receipts.

While Minneapolis stocks decreased only bu for four days, it was reported had taken 38 cars of No. 1 northern elevators, suggesting an increased demand for choice wheats. Local millers reported flour buyers holding off waiting for market to settle, but there was some improvement in the milling demand for cash with sales of 55,000 bu. Minneapolis also reported a good cash demand. Primary receipts were only 385,000 bu, compared with 626,000 bu a year ago. Export clearances were 91,000 bu wheat flour. Foreign news by cable had little effect on the market. Liverpool was ⅛d to lower, but Paris was unchanged. Other Continental markets were easier, Antwerp ½c, Berlin ¼c, and Buda-Pesth ⅝c.

Sharp Bulge in Oats.

stubborn resistance of May oats to all efforts to break the price under 31c, the country sales, and the decreasing stocks apparently combined to create a more friendly sentiment to the market. Shorts become uneasy at the still continued failure of receipts to increase as expected, under covering on a large scale and investment buying there was an advance of ⅝c in the market, with the close at top at 31⅝c bid. There was an equal advance in March, with the July and September up ½c.

good deal of the buying was supposed be for local and northwestern hedging accounts, although through commission houses. buying was led by Buckley, Press, Kidd, McReynolds, Requa, and Updike. There heavy selling of May by Ware-Leland, there had been for several days, and fair of September by Pringle-Fitch-Rankin. Receipts were only 130 cars, and but estimated for today. Country acceptances were reported light. Cash prices were up to ¼c higher, the shipping demand moderate, with sales of 50,000 bu. Seaboard clearances were 15,000 bu.

Corn Lags Behind.

showed less strength than any of the important grains, off about ⅝c early wheat was weak and closing with gains only ⅜c to ⅝c, May advancing the least stopping at 47⅝c bid after selling from to 47⅜c. Trade was fair in volume, but dumping of a line of over 1,000,000 bu May Wall street house, which had been bought over at 48c the day before, kept the market from responding more actively to the strength in other pits. A considerable line corn was sold out also for the estate of a deceased speculator, and this, too, had a depressing effect. There was selling by Kneeland, Pringle-Fitch-Rankin, Harris-Scotten, Logan-Bryan, and Love. Bartlett was the buyer of May, while Kidston took a big of July.

There were only 282 cars in, but the estimate today was more liberal, 411 cars. Country acceptances were light, partly because houses were not anxious bidders. Cash were steady to ¼c higher, shipping 125,000 bu, mostly for export. Clearances were 403,000 bu. Export sales at seaboard 200,000 bu. Primary receipts were bu, compared with 704,000 bu last year. were reports from this state and Iowa country roads were breaking up, suggesting a small movement. INTERESTING TRADE GOSSIP ON 'CHANGE.

Although Duluth wheat has been on a shipping basis to this market before on this crop the first talk that actual shipment of No. 1 northern wheat to this market for delivery on contracts was contemplated was heard yesterday. The Armour house was said to have bought over 250,000 bu of that grade at Duluth, presumably to be headed this way. The ruling difference between cash there and May here allows the shipment of this wheat when navigation opens at a profit ranging from ¼c to ⅜c, the spread being 4⅞c at the close yesterday, cash at Duluth being $1.10⅜, and the discount 4½c Monday and 4⅛c Tuesday, when part of the business was done. Boat room can secured from Duluth here at about 2¼c, possibly at 2⅛c, the elevation charge in that market is 1c and the elevation here when delivered ⅜c, or an outside total of 4c. Duluth advices said possibly 250,000 bu had aready been sold and apparently more was being figured on. The only barrier to a profit would be the turning down of the wheat by the local inspectors, as the Duluth wheat runs slightly lighter than the local inspection department requires. A slight deficiency would be gotten over, however, by mixing. The contract stock in Duluth is 1,357,436 bu No. 1 northern and 4,067 bu No. 1 hard, and there are 3,292,697 bu in special bins, the grade of which can only be surmised. When Chicago May was $1.21 Duluth was 5c under this market.

Minneapolis authorities were claiming smaller sales of wheat by the country, and several of the interests in that market which have been selling all the way up from $1.18 and down to the present level turned to the bull side yesterday. Woodworth and Watson were reported to have taken the bulk of the wheat in that market. Of the prospective movement, J. R. Marfield in a message to Pringle-Fitch-Rankin says: "Our advices of shipments of wheat show heavy falling off the last three days. Our country receipts are almost nothing, and our cars in this market will run lighter, and after March 10 will run much under last year, is my guess." Logan-Bryan's Minneapolis house wired: "Country receipts falling off rapidly. Thirty houses on Great Northern in northern Minnesota and North Dakota the last four days averaged one car a day. They practically are cleaned up and all their wheat will be in here and sold Saturday. Houses will be compelled to close unless receipts pick up, which is unlikely."

Acting President Walter S. Fitch, B. A. Eckhart, James Pettit, James Patten, and Henry S. Robbins, the attorney of the board, returned yesterday from Springfield, where they went to confer with the senate committee on judiciary, before which are pending the several bills in the passage of which the board of trade is deeply interested. The reasons for the adoption of the measures and their importance to the different interests of the board were set forth by Mr. Eckhart for the millers, Mr. Pettit for the cash grain handlers, and Mr. Patten for the speculators. Mr. Robbins went over the legal phases of the bills and the litigated questions which it is important to clear up, while Mr. Fitch wound up the presentation with a careful and thorough survey of the whole question. The committee gave nearly three hours to the representatives of the board of trade, all of whom expressed themselves as gratified by the courteous and attentive consideration given the matter by the legislators.

Demand for cash wheat showed symptoms of improvement. There was a sale of 15,000 bu No. 3 to millers, and 40,000 bu mixed lots in addition. Minneapolis and Duluth called demand better, millers at the former market said to be buying No. 1 northern at May price to ½c over. The price in store at Minneapolis was $1.12⅝ and at Duluth $1.10⅜, 1⅛c and ⅝c higher respectively. St. Louis reported business slow, No. 2 red in store $1.11½. There was a fairly good demand for corn for prompt shipment, possibly to replace corn arriving out of condition, but shippers were having some difficulty in getting cars on the eastern roads. Sales were 125,000 bu No. 3 and No. 3 yellow, 75,000 bu of it for export. Sales of oats were 50,000 bu white clipped.

A good lot of lard was said to have been worked by a western Iowa packer to Trieste, Austria, the first trade of the sort known of. A sale of 100,000 lbs of meats was also reported sold to the German government. A local broker said foreign demand here showed no improvement either for meats or lard, and that rates from the Missouri river to Hamburg via the gulf were 87c, against 46c from here. Larger shipments from this country were said to be due to product being consigned abroad, and that it was meeting a good demand, Cumberland cut bacon selling in Liverpool under the price of ribs here.

According to the N. K. Fairbank estimate world's stocks of lard increased 32,514 tcs during February and were 332,450 tcs on March 1, against 239,953 last year and 151,011 in March, 1903. The total in Europe and afloat was 181,600 tcs, against 121,500 last year. The Hately estimate makes the increase for the month 31,985 tcs, against an increase of 57,325 tcs last year, the total 324,264 tcs, compared with 306,279 tcs on Feb. 1 and 246,286 a year ago.

Liverpool wheat stocks decreased 616,000 bu for the month and are 2,576,000 bu. Broomhall's cable said the decrease was smaller than expected. Flour stocks decreased 11,000 brls and corn decreased 242,000 bu. Stocks of bacon increased nearly 7,000 boxes and hams increased 3,300 boxes. The stock of lard increased about 8,700 tcs.

The death of James Bradburn, who was long about 2,000,000 lbs of ribs and 2,000,000 bu corn, was a depressing influence in those markets early, the holdings being liquidated for the estate. Mr. Bradburn had been a cattle buyer for Allerton and later for Armour since 1881, and incidentally had speculated successfully in provisions and corn.

It seemed to be the popular opinion among wheat traders that there had been some reinstatement of the Wall street holdings of May on the extreme break of the last few days. Commission houses generally took the position the short side had been pressed too far, and there was enough buying for a reaction to force one of 2½c.

A St. Louis bear wired: "This shows how poor cash demand for wheat has been in this market. During last month 942,000 bu were received and private and public stocks decreased 449,000 bu, indicating 1,391,000 bu going out of sight. During February, 1904, 3,214,000 bu went out of sight.

"There has been no urgent demand for flour on the break in wheat," said President Johnson of the Star and Crescent mills. "Our agents wire us that buyers are, as usual, holding off, waiting for the market to settle."

"I feel friendly to provisions," said J. C. Wood. "The bulk of the hogs are behind and the period of consumption is at hand. Stocks, of course, show up large, but I think there is no doubt that they will be used up."

"If the present fine weather continues for another week or two," said a letter from G. H. Daggett of Minneapolis, "seeding will be general up here the early part of next month."

The average weight of local hog receipts for February was 209 lbs, compared with 205 lbs the month before and 213 lbs last year and 209 lbs in 1903.

Estimated receipts for today are: Wheat, 7 cars; corn, 411 cars; oats, 128 cars; rye, 2 cars; barley, 46 cars; hogs, 35,000 head.

Winnipeg wheat closed 1⅛c higher at 99⅝c and July gained a like amount, closing at $1.00⅝.

STOCK MARKET IMPROVES

ABSENCE OF BEAR PRESSURE RELIEVES NEW YORK TRADE.

Lifting Effect, However, Is Slight and Attempts to Force Prices Up to Any Extent Fail Because of Selling by Those Who Would Make Quick Turn—Trading Is Quieter and Volume of Business Less than for Several Days.

[BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

NEW YORK, March 1.—[Special.]—The stock market showed some revival of strength today, but not much. Attempts to lift prices were frustrated by an outpouring of selling orders at the high levels. There was a decided falling off also in the buying demand at the higher level. But the bear party showed no signs of the aggressive disposition manifested in the fierce raids upon prices in yesterday's trading. The trading was much quieter than for several days past, and there was a decided shrinkage in the volume of the day's dealings. The most conspicuous in the recovery was the southern group of railroad stocks. The movement was commonly attributed to one of the strong speculative parties which has been prominent in that group of stocks on previous occasions. There was more substantial basis for the buying of the Eries found in the excellent showing of net earnings contained in the January report. Other anthracite carriers reporting for January bore out the evidence offered by the Erie and the Reading reports of the strong condition in the anthracite trade. Amalgamated Copper was a figure of strength in spite of the reduced exports of copper for February.

Money was easier, and the rate for call loans was lower. The speculative liquidation was assigned as the cause of the easier tone of money in part, and the passing of the temporary effect of the Southern Pacific bond transaction was also a factor. Foreign exchange hardened to some extent in response to the money conditions. As the day progressed without the dreaded renewal of pressure of speculative liquidation sentiment showed a growth of confidence, and the whole tone of the market gained in strength. Belated shorts added to the volume of the buying, and the closing was strong at the best of the day and a substantial gain over last night.

Bonds were steady. Total sales, par value, $3,425,000. United States 2s, coupon, advanced ⅛, the 3s ¼, and the new 4s ½ per cent on call.

Close: Money on call firm, 2¼@2¾ per cent; closing bid, 2½; offered at 2½. Time loans steady; 60 days and 90 days, 3 per cent; six months, 3½. Close: Prime mercantile paper, 3½@4½ per cent. Sterling exchange firmer, with actual business in bankers' bills at 486.55@486.60 for demand and at 484.50@484.55 for 60 day bills. Posted rates, 485½ and 487½@488. Commercial bills, 484⅜. Bar silver, 60. Mexican dollars, 46½. Government bonds strong. Railroad bonds steady.

BUYS THE OGDEN BLOCK.

CONRAD FURST ACQUIRES PROPERTY FOR $300,000.

Building Is Eight Story Structure Occupying 80x80 Feet at Southwest Corner of Clark and Lake Streets—Deal Negotiated by the Chicago Real Estate Trustees—A. F. Chapman Purchases All Except Two Lots of Price's River Park Subdivision.

The eight story office building and site at the southwest corner of Clark and Lake streets, the Ogden block, has been sold by the Chicago Real Estate trustees for $300,000. The deal was closed late last night, Conrad Furst being the purchaser.

The building, 80x80 feet, was completely remodeled several years ago at considerable cost. The property originally belonged to the Ogden estate, but has been held for several years by the trustees. The deeds will be recorded this morning.

Big Sale of Vacant Property Is Made.

A sale of vacant property comprising all except two lots of Price's River Park subdivision, has been closed, the price paid being $120,000. The grantor is Vincent C. Price and the purchaser Arthur F. Chapman. The property comprises 400 by 126 feet at the northwest corner of Argyle avenue and North Forty-second avenue; 375 by 126 feet at the southeast corner of Carmen avenue and North Forty-second avenue; and 238 lots between Foster and Argyle avenues, North Forty-second court, and North Forty-fourth avenue. The purchaser secured $100,000 of the purchase money by a trust deed to the Chicago Title and Trust company, trustee, running three years at 5 per cent.

Charles B. McDonald has purchased from Sylvia Thompson and others the flat property in La Salle street, 399 feet north of Fifty-seventh place, with 99 by 127¼ feet of ground, for $32,000.

The apartment house property in Fifty-first street, west of the Edelweiss garden at Cottage Grove avenue, has been sold by Norman P. Cummings to Brice Worley for $80,000, subject to an incumbrance of $30,000. The ground fronts 125 feet and the building contains eighteen apartments. In part exchange the purchaser conveyed what is known as the old Sherman homestead, 150 by 200 feet, in Lake avenue, 200 feet north of Forty-seventh street, valued at $39,500, with incumbrance of $9,000; also the three story brick residence at 4319 Ellis avenue, valued at $8,000, with incumbrance of $4,000.

Bernard Taken Buys Flat Property.

Bernard Taken has bought from William H. Giesecke the flat property at the northeast corner of Humboldt boulevard and Humboldt street, with 49x125 feet of ground, for $23,000. The seller took in part exchange property valued at $12,000.

The property in Ontario street, 148 feet east of St. Clair, 30x100 feet, with brick improvements, has been sold by Cornelius E. Siebs to Charles F. Weber for $20,000, subject to an incumbrance of $10,000.

The conveyance by the village of La Grange to the La Grange Service company of the village water and electric plant was filed for record yesterday. A nominal consideration was named in the deed, which was subject to a trust deed given to the Northern Trust company in 1901 to secure a bond issue of $260,000; also to a mortgage of $60,000 given to the American Trust and Savings bank.

FOR WOMEN AND WOMEN ONLY

Much That Every Woman Desires to Know About Sanative, Antiseptic Cleansing and the Care of the Skin, Scalp, Hair, and Hands.

WHAT CUTICURA DOES FOR WOMEN

Too much stress cannot be placed on the great value of Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Pills in the antiseptic cleansing of the mucous surfaces, and of the blood and circulating fluids, thus affording pure, sweet, and economical local and constitutional treatment for weakening ulcerations, inflammations, itchings, irritations, relaxations, displacements, pains, and irregularities peculiar to females. Hence the Cuticura remedies have a wonderful influence in restoring health, strength, and beauty to weary women, who have been prematurely aged and invalided by these distressing ailments, as well as such sympathetic afflictions as anaemia, chlorosis, hysteria, and nervousness.

Women from the very first have fully appreciated the purity and sweetness, the power to afford immediate relief, the certainty of speedy and permanent cure, the absolute safety and great economy which have made Cuticura the standard humour remedy of the civilized world

TORTURING HUMOR

Cured by Cuticura.

"I suffered five years with a terrible itching eczema, my body and face being covered with sores. Never in my life did I experience such awful suffering, and I longed for death, which I felt was near. I had tried doctors and medicines without success, but my mother insisted that I try Cuticura. I felt better after the first application of Cuticura Ointment, and was soon entirely well. Mrs. A. Etson, Bellevue, Mich.

Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Pills are sold throughout the world. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Boston, Sole Props. Send for "A Book for Women."

RADIATOR'S BIG PROFITS.

NET EARNINGS LARGEST IN COMPANY'S HISTORY.

Equal to More than 10 Per Cent on Common After All Other Charges Were Paid—Traffic of Northwestern and Metropolitan Elevated Roads Shows Fair Increase for February—South Side Falls Behind — Street's Stable Car Develops Weakness.

Net profits of the American Radiator company for its fiscal year ended Jan. 31, 1905, were the largest in the six years' existence of the company. They were $703,930, against $701,094 in 1903, the previous high record. In the year dividends at the rate of 4 per cent began on the common stock, one distribution being made, though the earnings applicable to that issue, or surplus, were equal to 10.09 per cent. The fact of these large excess earnings accounts for the sale of the common stock above 70, being the highest of any 4 per cent industrial common stock quoted. The annual meeting was held yesterday at East Orange, N. J. The following financial statements were issued:

President Woolley's Remarks.

In his address to the shareholders President C. M. Woolley called attention to the unusual business conditions existing at the opening of the company's fiscal year. There had been, he said, an immense shrinkage in the market value of commodities following a protracted era of abnormally high prices. Meanwhile, however, money was in great abundance and interest rates were low. These conditions were exceptionally favorable for the resumption of building activity, and as the year progressed liberal increases were recorded in the number of building permits issued in the principal cities of the country. In consequence the volume of business transacted by the American Radiator company was the largest in its history. Mr. Woolley added:

"We entered the present fiscal year with our inventories adjusted on the basis of prices then existing, which imposed a heavy burden on the earnings of the preceding fiscal year in absorbing the great shrinkage in values which had occurred. The profits, therefore, for the fiscal year just closed are quite consistent with the volume of business secured, and express the earning capacity of the company under more favorable conditions than were recorded the preceding year."

The company is devoting considerable attention to the introduction of its product into old buildings, a field which is considered almost unlimited. The year's results were the best experienced. Credit is given to the value of advertising in connection with the company's business. President Woolley predicts lower prices for the company's output and a consequent increase in the popularity of the latter. He says a new manufacturing plant has been completed and is in partial operation at Litchfield, Ill.

The foreign business, he adds, continues to grow, and the factory which was built in Germany to supply the greater demand there has more than met the company's expectations and is being enlarged to meet the urgent requirements for a larger supply. It is true also, he says, of the plant which was built in France, where the line of industry is developing quite as rapidly as was anticipated.

Directors Elected.

The retiring directors—Henry Bond, James B. Forgan, and James B. Dill—were reëlected, making the full board, including these names, as follows:

John B. Pierce, Edward A. Sumner, Clarence Carpenter, John Fertig, Ralph M. Dyar, George W. Parker, Charles Stinchfield, Clarence M. Woolley, Charles H. Hodges, John L. McKinney, Frank O. Lowden, Walter S. Russell.

Metropolitan "L" Proxies.

The dissatisfied element among the stockholders of the Metropolitan Elevated are desirous of making further changes in the board of directors. With this object in view a committee, consisting of Moses J. Wentworth, John Cudahy, Joseph Winterbotham, Edward S. Adams, W. B. Re Qua, and George H. High have issued a circular to shareholders, inviting proxies for the annual meeting, which will be held on April 5. The committee suggests that proxies run to F. A. Delano, Charles H. Re Qua, and Charles C. Adsit. The circular says in part:

"It is the belief of a large number of our stockholders that it is necessary to have a change in the policy of our company, and the undersigned deem it for the best interests of all concerned that four new directors be elected at the coming annual meeting whose efforts will be to make it the most satisfactory elevated railroad in the country for its patrons and stockholders."

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKETS.

The cattle market at the stockyards was active yesterday and, although the supply was liberal, prices generally were steady. Choice steers especially were in demand. The improved car conditions brought shippers freely into the market.

Hogs opened strong, but the market showed a weaker tone toward the close. The top was $5.12½, the same figure as on Tuesday.

Steadiness was apparent in sheep and lambs. Sales were made of choice ewes and wethers at a 10c advance. Lambs sold at $7.85, an advance of 5c over Tuesday's top.

Instructions for making bed, copy of U. S. government report, and illustrated booklet will be sent free to any one on request. No other industry offers such great opportunities for making money. It does not interfere in any way with one's daily employment. Write today to the U. S. MUSHROOM CO., Dept. 5, St. Louis.

CLAIRVOYANTS.

WONDERFUL GIFTS.
READING REDUCED TO $1 FOR 7 DAYS.
PROF. C. J. ROMAINE'S extraordinary clairvoyant powers, combined with his superior knowledge of occult forces, enable him to read human life with unerring accuracy from infancy to old age. His powers are indisputable, his advice is reliable, his information clear, concise, and to the point in love, courtship, marriage, divorce suits, wills, patents, journeys, pensions, investments, speculation, property, insurance, mortgages, etc.
WITHOUT ASKING A QUESTION, without any previous knowledge, and having no natural means of knowing who you are, whence or for what you came, he tells your name, age, occupation, where you live, the number of your house, and the street you live on. He tells you names of your friends and enemies, who is true and who is false. Tells whom and when you will marry, giving names, dates, facts, and localities, taking no fee in advance, accepting none unless satisfaction is given.
SPECULATION AND INVESTMENTS.
His advice is much sought for by those contemplating investing and speculating. The dollar properly invested today has seldom failed to make the poor man rich.
$500 FORFEIT.
I will forfeit $500 where I fail to teach you how to fascinate any one you desire, how to make your enemies your friends, cause a speedy marriage with the one of your choice, give you good luck, remove evil influences, unite the separated, give lucky numbers, locate the earth's buried treasures, settle the old estate that time has placed beyond the lawyer's shrewdness, make you successful in your business, and positively complete your business in twenty-three days.

INSPECTS PLANTS OF CITY RAILWAY.

Thomas E. Mitten, New Head of the System, Takes Up Work in Chicago.

SALARY $50,000 A YEAR.

Immediate Bettering of Service the Task Set Before Him by Directors.

Thomas E. Mitten, the new head of the Chicago City railway, spent a good part of his first working day in Chicago in a large red automobile. He and General Manager Starring inspected the various power plants of the company yesterday and the automobile offered a quicker and easier way of getting to them than did the street cars.

The inspection was made as a start toward gathering information as to what can be done and what must be done in the way of improving the service of the south side lines. The new board of directors has ordered an immediate bettering of conditions, and it is Mr. Mitten's task to do the work. He came here from Buffalo with an enviable reputation as a practical railway man.

Incidentally, he is one of the highest salaried men in Chicago. He was paid $40,000 a year in the position he left to accept this one and while the actual figures are not given out, gossip has it he was offered $10,000 a year more to come to Chicago. That the sum was considerable is a fair inference from the known fact that St. Louis was bidding for his services when Mr. Spoor, representing the financial management of the reorganized Chicago City company, secured him.

Big Problem, Says Mitten.

After he had spent his first day in his new job he said plainly that he was not yet in a condition to talk about what he could do or hoped to do in the way of changing the service.

"There are too many things to be taken into consideration and too many things to do," said Mr. Mitten, "to pass an opinion now. All I can hope to do for some time is to get acquainted with the physical conditions of the lines and after that it will be possible to prepare some comprehensive plan. One formed after a day's investigation would hardly be worth considering.

"I hope to get matters into good condition in what the people of the territory will consider a reasonable time. There will be no unnecessary delay, and as soon as a definite plan is formed it will be given to the public at once."

The inspection of the power houses showed that the south side company is short of power, not so short, perhaps, as the Union Traction, but yet enough to make the power house service both unreliable and anything but economical.

New Central Power House.

It is planned to build a great central power house with a river frontage, so as to cut down the cost of hauling coal. This station will furnish the motive power for practically all the cars of the company.

If built on a large enough scale this plant would have surplus power to sell, and out of this has grown the story that a plan is on foot to unite the street car company and the Edison Electric company on a working agreement at least if not an actual consolidation. The union of street car and electric light companies has proved an economical one in all cities where it has been tried, as it utilizes the plant for the entire twenty-four hours, and at the same time saves in cost of operation.

Mr. Mitten had a talk in the afternoon with Col. E. R. Bliss, the general counsel of the road, regarding franchise questions. It was not that the settlement of these disputes is a part of Mr. Mitten's duties, his business being with the operating of the road, but the franchise question enters materially into the question of improving the car service.

VERACITY OF PHYSICIAN IS ISSUE IN SUIT FOR DAMAGES.

Rival Witnesses Called to Give Opinions of Honesty of Dr. John Leeming in Case Against "L" Road.

A jury in Judge Chytraus' court is to pass on the question of the veracity of Dr. John Leeming, 3545 Indiana avenue. Dr. Leeming was a witness in the suit for $20,000 brought against the Chicago and Oak Park Elevated railroad by Mrs. Nellie Kelly, 305 Park avenue.

Mrs. Kelly declared she was injured while passing through a turnstile at the Campbell avenue station Feb. 17, 1902. Then Dr. Leeming testified that injuries of the nature described by Mrs. Kelly could not have resulted from the accident.

John F. Waters, counsel for the plaintiff, caused a sensation in the court by placing five attorneys on the stand, who testified they would not believe the physician under oath. The attorneys were S. P. Douthart, David K. Tone, M. Ives, Patrick O'Neil, and J. Warren Pease.

The attack upon Dr. Leeming was replied to yesterday when the company placed lawyers and men in public life upon the stand to prove that Dr. Leeming has an unblemished reputation. Among those who testified to the physician's veracity were Judge John Gibbons, Dr. McFatrick, Dr. E. C. Dudley, Dr. John Mason, Dr. George W. Webster, Health Commissioner Reynolds, and Joseph Bruden, a sanitary commissioner. Judge Gibbons declared he was surprised at hearing Dr. Leeming's word questioned.

BOY MURDERER TELLS ALL

DESCRIBES KILLING WOMAN IN HIS FIRST ROBBERY.

Seventeen Year Old James A. Logan Delivered Up to Authorities by His Father, a White Haired Negro—Lad Looks Unmoved at Body of Mrs. Delia Tracy, the Victim—Declares Pulling of Trigger Accidental, Caused by Nervousness.

Eager to make a clean breast of his crime, James A. Logan Jr., the 17 year old negro boy who shot and killed Mrs. Delia Howe Tracy in Monroe avenue, near Fifty-sixth street, at 11 o'clock Tuesday night, yesterday told the coroner's jury the story of his maiden effort as a holdup man. He was held to the grand jury.

"You know, I suppose," said Coroner Hoffman, "that what you say here will be used against you in a criminal trial?"

"Yas, sah," replied the boy.

"And that you need say nothing, except of your own free will?"

"Yas, sah. An' all Ise got to say is that I done it."

Witnesses, jurymen, policemen, and the friends of the slain woman gathered in the courtroom of the Hyde Park police station listened to the strangest confession they ever had heard. There was none of the characteristic criminal doggedness about the prisoner. He spoke in a clear voice, unmoved by the sobs of the murdered woman's sisters, or the interruptions of his own father, who hovered about him.

Except for these dramatic features, the jury might have been listening to the story of a snowball fight or of the robbing of an apple woman. Before the negro, on the table, gleamed the revolver which he had used in his first attempt at highway robbery the night before. As he took up the weapon to demonstrate how he had pulled the trigger "accidentally" the sisters, who were dressed in black, shuddered involuntarily.

The need of a pair of shoes evidently had been the sole motive of the wanton crime. The boy seemed to realize what he had done.

"It's ten to one I hang for this," he said.

Unmoved at Sight of Victim.

It was after making a complete confession to the police that the boy, who had looked unmoved upon his victim's body in the morgue, again told the story in all its details to the coroner and the jury.

"I stole the gun," he said. "It belonged to Leroy Shaw. He owns the house we all live in at 4311 Forrestville avenue. His stepson, Clinton Partridge, done told me that his father kept a gun. I went into his room an' found it under the mattress.

"Last night my father gave me four bits to pay a bill with and I left the house a little after 7 o'clock. I loaded the gun and stuck it in my pocket, for I thought: 'Now I'll hold somebody up and make enough to buy a pair of shoes.'

"I hung around till about half past 10 and then walked up to Fifty-fifth street and Monroe avenue. There wasn't nobody 'round and so I came near passin' the job up. But just's I was going home I saw a woman. She was carrying a bag and it looked like easy goods for me. So I ran up, and sticking the gun up to her said: 'Woman, give me that purse.'

"With that she gave a low, melancholy cry."

"How did you know it was a 'melancholy' cry?" inquired the coroner.

"Clutches Gun Tighter."

"It sounded ghostlike and melancholy—like she seen death coming on. It scared me so that I clutched the gun tighter, and it went off accidentally."

"Are yo' sho' that it was accident, mah boy?"

Rising from his seat, though two policemen tried to hold him, the gray headed negro, father of the prisoner, strove to chastise his son. He was wrought up with righteous indignation, and his demeanor was severe, as it had been when he had declared his son a murderer at the police station earlier in the day.

"O, let me get my hands on him," said Annie Howe, one of the two sisters of Mrs. Tracy.

"Why did you aim at her head and pull the trigger?" asked the coroner.

"I was jist trying to scare her," said the boy. "I thought if she saw the gun she would give up the bag and run."

"Would you have tried to scare a man that way?"

Looking for a Lady to Rob.

"No, sah; a man would have been too quick-like. It was a lady I was looking for." The prisoner added that he had been accused of stealing some coal on a previous occasion, but that otherwise his record was clear.

Before the inquest a crowd of curious school children had gathered before the undertaking rooms in Fifty-fifth street, where the body of the murdered woman lay. With the hope of awakening within him some emotion, the prisoner's father took the boy into the presence of the dead. Opposite the cold form stood the woman's husband, Thomas R. Tracy. In life the two had quarreled, but the husband later had admitted that she had been a good wife to him. He glowered at the two negroes as they were ushered in.

"Yes, that's her," declared the boy, as the veil was lifted from the face.

"Ain't it a shame, Jim?" said the gray haired negro.

"Yes, papa; it's a shame, all right."

Father Solves the Mystery.

The mystery attending the woman's death, which at first had baffled the police, had been solved by the man who now led his defiant son out of the morgue. He had gone to the police station early in the morning with the question as to whether a holdup had occurred in Monroe avenue. He was told a murder had been committed.

"Then my son is a murderer," he cried. Asked later if he should engage counsel for the boy, he replied that he would not. "Let him be punished for his crime," he said, "just as the law provides."

The arrest followed shortly after the identification of the woman by R. W. Wilder as a domestic employed at the home of Dr. W. H. Wilder, 5811 Monroe avenue. She had been married to Tracy in 1902. A daughter, Mary, 19 months old, is living with relatives of Mr. Tracy.

RAILROADS RENEW FIGHT TO CRUSH TICKET SCALPERS.

Combined Effort to Drive Their Offices from That Part of Clark Street Occupied by City Passenger Offices.

The fight against ticket "scalpers" has taken a new turn, and there is to be a concerted movement among railroads to drive them out of the territory in Clark street between Monroe and Jackson boulevard. It is stated on authority that a fund has been raised to buy out the unexpired leases of the "scalpers" in these two blocks, and that in making new leases ticket agents are making specific contracts not to allow brokers' offices in the same building with them. In renewing the lease for the northeast corner of Clark and Adams streets, the Burlington exacted a provision that no room in the entire building should be leased to a "scalper."

There are to be several changes in city ticket offices in the next few weeks. The Union and Southern Pacific will move their freight and passenger offices to the room now occupied by Thompson's restaurant in Jackson boulevard. The Chicago and Alton will go to the Rector building, and the Missouri Pacific will go to the addition of the Fort Dearborn building.

The Chicago and Alton is extending its telephone service to connect its lines and terminals in East St. Louis with the St. Louis terminals. A contract for this construction work has been let to the Bell Telephone company. The Alton uses the telephone almost exclusively for dispatching and for giving and receiving orders from block towers to switch tracks and sidings.

POLICEMEN PASS FOR PROMOTION.

NINETY-FIVE ABOVE 70.

Chief O'Neill Much Pleased with Result of the Recent Examination.

The eligible list for police lieutenants, the result of the recent civil service examination, was posted last night. Detective Sergeant James O'Toole's name heads the list. Of the 150 candidates who entered the examination ninety-five obtained the mark of 70 or over and are on the list.

O'Toole's mark is 90.12. The next man on the list, Desk Sergeant Eugene F. Daly, has 88.09. Sergeant John J. Ryan is third with 83.52. Sergeant James L. Mooney of the Harrison street station is fourth with 83.41.

Chief of Police O'Neill was pleased with the result of the examination.

"Every one of the men at and near the top of the list is capable and deserving of the advancement," he said.

Sergeant O'Toole was formerly a lieutenant at Central station, but failed in a previous examination and was reduced in rank. He is now stationed at the detective headquarters and his superiors speak highly of his efficiency. Sergeant Daly is declared to be the best athlete at the Stockyards station. Sergeant Mooney is described by Chief O'Neill as the best thief catcher in the department.

ORDERS DETECTIVE ON RACK.

Chief O'Neill Directs Investigation of Charges That William Egan Offered to "Fix" Case.

Chief O'Neill yesterday ordered Inspector Wheeler to investigate the charges made in Judge Dunne's court on Tuesday against Detective William Egan. The accusation made by Mrs. Emily Hoffman under oath was that Egan had offered to "fix" a case, in which her son was charged with the embezzlement of $23, for $300. She also testified that the detective was "very drunk."

Before he heard from the chief Inspector Wheeler declared:

"No investigation is necessary. Egan is one of the soberest men and the best thief catcher I ever had detailed under me. As for him getting drunk, why, it's all a lie."

The salient features of the detective's record are as follows:

July 5, 1892—Appointed as policeman.
July 20, 1896—Suspended because of charges of conduct unbecoming a police officer and maltreatment of a citizen.
July 25, 1896—Given a hearing by trial board and discharged from police force.
Oct. 29, 1897—Reappointed for some reason that does not appear in records.
Sept. 1, 1902—Charged with conduct unbecoming an officer and intoxication while on duty. Fined five days' pay.

Ex-Ald. "Johnny" Rogers, who made the original charge of larceny against Mrs. Hoffman's son and who is credited with enormous "influence" at the Desplaines street station, operated his gambling houses as usual during the day.

As to Justice Chott's connection with the case, the justice declared that he not only had acted legally in granting a week's continuance but that the prisoner had been discharged illegally by Judge Dunne.

"Judge Dunne's action in discharging a man who really is guilty of embezzlement merely because he thought I had granted too long a continuance was illegal. It also was ill advised, as he is a candidate for an office," said the justice.

Sergeant Charles L. Burlingame has been summoned before the police trial board to explain why he changed his mind after arresting H. C. Niemann on Feb. 18 and released the prisoner on the way to the station.

Patrolman Henry Hoppe was suspended five days for entering a saloon. He was caught playing cards.

WOOLDRIDGE IN OWN DEFENSE.

Accused Detective Tells Police Trial Board Duty Is to "Do What Is Right."

Detective Clifton R. Wooldridge, charged with misusing his official powers, continued his testimony in his own defense yesterday before the police trial board.

The detective's attorneys objected to questions referring to raids on bucket shops, and the commissioner, who finally was appealed to by both sides, decided all interrogation must pertain to the one case involved.

"Do you know your duty as a police officer?" asked Attorney Walker.

"I will state as accurately as possible what I conceive to be my duty," replied the witness. "In the first place I will say that if the justice at the Harrison street station who heard this original case knew his duty as I know mine, Mr. Campbell would not be here tonight.

"My motto is, 'Do right and you harm no one,' and when I am satisfied I am right, I am not afraid to let the chips fall."

COUNTY RUIN IMPERILS LIFE IS THE OFFICIAL REPORT.

Pedestrians Advised to Use Opposite Side of Street from Courthouse and Use the City Hall Entrance.

"Any Chicagoan who values his life should remain at a safe distance from the county building. It will be better to walk on the opposite side of the street, or, if he chooses to enter the building, go in at the city hall entrance."

This advice was given yesterday by a prominent county official. He said it hardly is possible that the entire building will tumble down, but large pieces of it are expected to fall to the street at any moment. Within the last few weeks several copings have fallen, endangering pedestrians.

COUNCIL HAS A MYSTERY.

JUGGLING WITH BUILDING ORDINANCE CHARGED.

Advertisement Calls Attention to Less Stringent Regulation for Storage of Gasoline, to Come Before Meeting of Next Monday—Subcommittee Accused of Framing This When a Stricter Rule Had Been Asked—Big Dealers Suspected.

There is likely to be a public inquiry at the meeting of the city council next Monday night into the mystery of a building ordinance. The mystery surrounds the framing of an amendment to the law regulating the storing of explosive and inflammable oils. The attention of the public was called to the matter yesterday by this advertisement which appeared in the newspapers:

CITIZENS, ATTENTION!

There is pending before the city council for Monday, March 6, the new building ordinance, sections 1135 to 1140, regulating storage of gasoline, and is dangerous to life and property. It removes the limit as to amount and distance, permits buildings to be erected in residence and business districts within a few inches of your homes without your consent, and to carry thousands of gallons of oil.

See your alderman at once, and take your neighbor with you, and insist on this being changed. Ordinance now in force compels buildings to be erected 100 feet away from any other building when a larger amount than 5 barrels is stored. The citizens should have something to say.

Inquiry brought to light the story of a piece of alleged juggling in the committee work on the amendment. The building committee has been engaged for some time in the revision of the building ordinances. In the sections relating to the storing of oils the fire department thought the regulations too lax, Chief Musham recommending that the council consider a stringent amendment. This was turned over to the building committee along with other suggestions.

Found by Judiciary Committee.

The mystery developed in connection with the share of the revision which fell to the judiciary committee. The latter body reviewed the work of the building committee and coöperated on amendments, as is the custom. The amendment on the storing of oils was thought of such importance that Chairman Werno appointed a subcommittee to report on the proposed new regulations. The subcommittee was about to get to work when it was informed that the oil amendment had been taken care of by a special subcommittee of the building committee and that interference would be considered superfluous.

It then came out that the special committee had drawn an amendment in some respects less strict than the present law. It permits the storing of oil in quantities of less than five barrels in a specially constructed room in any building and in greater quantities in a specially constructed building, with no restriction as to distance from other property.

Said to Be Tentative Draft.

Members of the building committee assert, however, that the amendment has not been put in final form for presentation to the council. The modification as shown in the advertisement is they say only a tentative draft, and the matter will come up for a final decision at a meeting of the committee this afternoon.

"The matter has not gone to the judiciary committee because the building committee is not through with it," explained Ald. James McCormick. "There is no cause for alarm."

Big Dealers Oppose It.

The identity of the person who inserted the advertisement of warning is another mystery. It is hinted that selfish interests are behind it, a number of aldermen having been approached by a lawyer whose clients are big oil dealers. It was inferred that his opposition to the amendment was based on the idea that it would permit small dealers to store oil and cut in on the trade of the larger concerns.

ORDERS MANY NEW PAVEMENTS.

Board of Local Improvements Authorizes Expenditure of $400,000 on Needy Streets.

The board of local improvements authorized the expenditure of $400,000 for street paving after a public hearing yesterday. The most important improvement will be the paving with asphalt of West Twenty-second street, from Western avenue to Homan, at a cost of $64,000. North Marshfield avenue will be paved with asphalt from Chicago avenue to Division street, at a cost of $29,500.

TAKEN FROM SCHOOL BY DEATH

Corydon G. Stowell, Principal of the Newberry Thirty-four Years, at Work Till Last Friday.

Corydon G. Stowell, principal of the Newberry school and one of the oldest educators in Chicago, died at his residence, 459 Dayton street, yesterday afternoon. He had been ill for a year, but attended to his duties at the school almost continuously up to last Friday. He took charge of the Newberry school in 1871, just before the great fire. After the fire the school was closed for several weeks to house scores of homeless persons. Mr. Stowell resumed the principalship when it reopened and continued in that position till his death. He was a member of the Presbyterian Church of the Covenant.

He was a graduate of Yale, class of '65. He married Bertha J. Coss in 1872. Five children survive him.

Mr. Stowell's indomitable will alone kept him alive in the last days of his illness. Last Friday he arose from the bed, where he had been several days, and went to school to arrange his affairs. A few hours later his son was called to take him home.

AGED 60 AND WANTS TO DIE.

Man in Letter Says He Believes Dr. Osler Is Right and Offers Himself to Skeleton Dealer.

Dr. Osler's teachings seem to have been taken seriously by at least one Chicagoan, who, in a letter addressed to a dealer in skeletons, yesterday attempted to make arrangements by which his life was to be taken and his body sold to "some institution where his skeleton could be used." The man wrote that he was over 60 years old and tired of living.

The letter was addressed to John H. Drake, 299 Ogden avenue. Mr. Drake answered with a "personal" in an afternoon newspaper, as he was directed by the sender, saying the body could not be used. "Anxious" was the only signature or clew to the identity of the writer.

"I really believe in the truth of the sayings of this doctor, who says a man has the right to take his life," ran the letter. "I also believe with Dr. Osler, that a man over 60 years old should be put to death in some painless manner."
